CLEVELAND AS FIGHTER

Biography Proves War Was Near

Suppressed Message Sent to Congress Printed for First Time

Called Bismarck Liar; Book Describes Dramatic Political Rows

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The authorized biography of Grover Cleveland in two volumes by Robert McElroy Edwards, professor of American history in Princeton University, will be published tomorrow.

Two details of this work stand out in the advance copies. There is a foreword by Elihu Root, chief exponent of orthodox Republicanism to Cleveland, who in the eyes of his biographer shines forth as one of the greatest and most fearless leaders of the Democratic party since that party's inception.

The other, to which Prof. McElroy devotes a chapter, is the Samoan incident, considered by the writer from the standpoint of Cleveland's stand against American imperialism and his gift to this country of the ideal of self-determination of nations. In this chapter Prof. McElroy, for the first time, gives publication to Cleveland's suppressed message to Congress relative to German usurpation of Samoa, a message, which, if delievered in 1889, might have involved this country in war with the German Empire and have changed the history of 1914.

INCIDENT OF IMPORT

The Samoan incident, which occupied columns in the newspapers during the first Cleveland administration, and was inherited by President Harrison, also took into it Robert Louis Stevenson, who fought for Samoan independence against the German, British and American encroachments, even writing a volume, "A Footnote to History," which was a bitter attack upon the designs of the powers.

In the suppressed message Cleveland showed a determination not to mince words on the subject, and was on the point of throwing diplomatic nuances to the winds.

Almost in so many words Cleveland called the German Chancellor, Prince Bismarck, a liar. He wrote:

"This dispatch is sent to Congress as containing an unequivocal statement of the manner in which the recent conflict between the native Samoans and a force from the German vessel stationed in Samoan waters was carried on, and an authoritative declaration of the attitude of the German government toward that part of the Samoan natives alleged to be guilty of the attack upon the Germans.

"The correctness of the narrative of this affair and the causes leading to it cannot, in the light

University to Find Out if Bright Apparel is Worn to Attract Male Friends

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Experiments which are expected to determine just why women wear bright colors and whether they dress to please themselves or to please the aesthetic tastes of their male friends, are now being conducted at the University of California. Does it matter whether a girl wears an orange sweater and a green skirt, or should one color predominate or harmonize with the others?

These and other questions as to color preferences of university students are the subjects of tests being made by the psychology department of the university, under the direction of J. M. Sutherland, teaching fellow in psychology.

According to Sutherland there are many individual discrepancies in the choice of colors, although there seems to be a marked preference for green, orange, red and dark brown. As far as the experiments have gone, he reports that there were no notable differences between the choices of men and women.

LETTER OF GRATITUDE SINKS DEEP

Nameless Tokio Woman Thanks Americans for Earthquake Relief

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — A nameless woman of Japan has thanked, "My Dear People of America," in a letter received today by Secretary Hughes, for the relief work administered by Americans in Japan during the period following the recent fire and earthquake disaster in Tokio and Yokohama.

"How we all Japanese thank you for your great kindness in this time," the letter said. "You gave us all. You sent us much necessary things and you all are very kind to us. Our thanks are beyond measure. We all will never forget them hereafter. I am only a nameless woman. But I must write you this, even with such a broken word, as I could not keep secret my thanks. Please excuse my impolite.

"Hoping you are happy and peaceful forever and thanking for your great kindness—"

None of the letters of gratitude, including those received from the Emperor of Japan, the Prime Minister and the Japanese Ambassador here has been more appreciated by the State Department officials than that received from the "nameless."

SEA CRASH PREJUDICE SEEN

Change of Venue Plea at San Diego Navy Trial Comes as Bombshell; Denied

BY CHARLES SLOAN
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 8.—Voicing grave doubts as to the ability of the officers composing the Navy's court-martial to officiate without prejudice at the trial of Lieutenant-Commander Donald T. Hunter, commanding officer of the U.S.S. Delphy when she and six sister ships were wrecked at Honda Bay, Judge-Advocate Leslie E. Bratton, the Navy's prosecutor, threw a bombshell into the session today when he requested that a change of venue be granted.

Prosecutor Bratton was overruled by Vice-Admiral Henry A. Wiley, president of the court, who ordered that the trial be continued.

The prosecutor's move followed a similar motion by Lieutenant-Commander George Weyler, counsel for Commander Hunter. In his motion, as well as that of the judge advocate, it was stated that inasmuch as the court had found Capt. Edward H. Watson guilty on the same charge and specification and on the same evidence as that which would be introduced in the present hearing, exoneration in the present case could hardly be expected.

COURT POLL TAKEN

Following the motion of the defense, the court was polled individually as to the possibility of existent prejudice. In each instance there was a denial.

Naval officers say that under previous rulings that should counsel for Lieutenant-Commander Hunter appeal from the present court, a new trial is certain to be granted. And undoubtedly similar protests will be made at the calling of the trial of Lieut. Lawrence F. Blodgett, third member of the Delphy's personnel who will face the court.

Capt. Watson yesterday expressed himself as very much satisfied with the outcome of his case.

"I had no desire for an acquittal," he said. "Seven ships were lost and twenty-three men met their death at Honda Bay. Some one was at fault, and that fault undoubtedly was mine. I would have pleaded guilty freely on a charge of inefficiency and of allowing naval vessels to run on the rocks. The charge I fought was that of culpable inefficiency.

"I am not seeking to gain freedom from punishment. It is the duty of the Navy to punish me in this case; there would be something wrong were I not punished.

"I have accepted from the first the responsibility for the wreck; I accept it now. But I do not and will not accept the theory or the charge that any wilful act of mine, either of commission or omission, brought about the death of the twenty-three men of my command.

WANTS STANDARD UPHELD

"I want to see Navy standards upheld in the same fashion that I have been upholding them in my thirty-two years of honorable service and as they were upheld in my father's time before me. Just because I am the victim makes no difference. Punishment should be handed out to the responsible party in this case. I am the responsible party. And as I have said, I am satisfied with any verdict which the court may hand down. I don't wish and would not accept an acquittal."

Capt. Watson was the first witness in the trial of Lieutenant-Commander Hunter. He paid high tribute to the navigational abilities of his subordinate. Lieut. Blodgett was the second witness. He was kept busy the greater part of the day in mapping out the courses as they were mapped on the Delphy.

GEORGE W. PERKINS SUED

Son of Late Financier and Five Others Named in Action to Save Defunct Firm

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—George W. Perkins and five other defendants were alleged to be full general partners in the banking house of Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne, and therefore liable for all its debts, in suits filed today in Supreme Court by creditors of the firm.

Besides Mr. Perkins, son of the late financier, the defendants are: His wife, Evelyna B. Perkins; Anne Dupont Peyton, a member of the Dupont family of Wilmington, Del.; her husband, William C. Peyton, California capitalist; Dorothy Perkin Freeman, sister of Mr. Perkins, and her husband, Edward W. Freeman.

The creditors allege that Mr. Perkins and Mr. Peyton and their group entered the firm with capital valued at $2,400,000 nearly two years before its failure and from that date controlled the business in all its details and were, by the terms of certain hitherto unpublished agreements with the recorded partners of the firm, to have received 40 per cent of its profits.

It was said that if the courts should uphold the claims of the creditors and the alleged general partners should be held liable for its debts, the firm not yet adjudicated bankrupt will be solvent. Both Mr. Perkins and Mr. Peyton are said to be sufficiently wealthy to meet all of the liabilities of the firm, for which a receiver was appointed last June.

At the time of the receivership the liabilities of the firm were thought to have been about $12,000,000 and the assets were said to have been almost as much. Based upon an uncompleted audit, the liabilities stand at about $7,000,000 with about $4,000,000 of assets. This latter figure represents $2,500,000 of negotiable values, it is said, and about $1,500,000 of deferred and slow assets.

BAVARIAN MONARCHISTS SET UP DICTATORSHIP OVER GERMANY

Von Kahr Proclaimed Regent With Ludendorff Commander of Army in Spectacular Coup at Munich; Berlin Prepares for Battle

BY JOSEPH SHAPLEN
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
Copyright, 1923, New York Tribune.

MUNICH, Nov. 8.—Dr. Otto Von Kahr and Lieut. Adolph Hittler, Bavarian monarchist leaders, overthrew the von Knilling state government tonight and proclaimed a dictatorship over all Germany. Von Kahr, according to the proclamation, is made regent of the Reich, occupying a post similar to that held by Admiral Horthy in Hungary. Hittler is proclaimed Director of National Policy. Gen. Ludendorff, who is credited with having directed the monarchist plans from behind the scenes, is named supreme army commander. Gen. Von Lossow, renegade Federal commander, who took his troops over to the Bavarian Reichswehr, is made Minister of War, and Von Zeitsner becomes Federal Chief of Police.

Premier Von Knilling and many other prominent Bavarian leaders, who have stood for an amicable adjustment of the conflict with Berlin, are reported to have been arrested by the royalists.

In a speech tonight following proclamation of the dictatorship Hittler, whose troops are massed on the Thuringian frontier, announced his intention of marching on the capital forthwith.

PROCLAIMS "DER TAG"

"'Der Tag' has come," he cried. "It is just five years ago tonight that the German revolution, which has brought shame and destruction on Germany, broke out. Now that revolution is ended."

Tremendous crowds of Hittler and Bavarian troops are filling the streets here tonight cheering for the new dictatorship.

The coup was put into effect at a great meeting of the fatherland unions, which Von Kahr was addressing on the subject of his policies. Hittler suddenly entered the hall, surrounded by a group of his followers. Letting off a volley of revolver shots at the ceiling they proclaimed the new regime in a series of wild shouts.

LUDENDORFF CHEERED

Gen. Ludendorff then mounted the rostrum and to the accompaniment of tremendous cheering both inside and outside the hall, jointly with Dr. Von Kahr, accepted the dictatorship regime.

Hittler thereupon proclaimed the entire Reich government deposed, including President Ebert, and called upon all patriotic Germans to rally to his standard.

"Yes, yes," yelled back the voices of thousands.

BERLIN NAMES VON SEECKT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Nov. 8. — President Ebert, shortly after midnight tonight named Gen. Von Seeckt, commander-in-chief of the Federal army, supreme dictator of the Reich, in face of the dictatorship proclaimed by the Nationalists at Munich.

All communication lines with Bavaria have been blockaded and all relations with the insurrectionist state severed.

"The national government is determined to fight against the proclaimed dictatorship in Bavaria," President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann announced in a proclamation issued at 1 o'clock this morning.

The Chancellor and President branded Herr Hitler as a foreigner, who only recently became a German citizen, and declared his followers were traitors who are bringing Germany to ruin, and called on every true citizen to support the national government.

"All measures have been taken to smash this mutiny," Chancellor Stresemann and President Ebert concluded, "and they will be pursued with the utmost energy."

TEXT OF PROCLAMATION

The full text of the proclamation is:

"In the time of Germany's danger, both from within and without, crazed persons have begun a policy which can only lead to the ruination of Germany. In Munich armed bands have overthrown the Bavarian Cabinet, arrested Premier Von Knilling and established a 'national government.' They have named Gen. Von Ludendorff

NATIONALISTS' COUP MAY MEAN WAR WITH FRANCE

Military Dictatorship Not to be Tolerated, Poincare Informs Berlin Government

BY WILBUR FORREST
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, New York Tribune, Inc.]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Intervening directly in Germany's internal affairs France today warned Berlin that a Nationalist coup d'etat in that country resulting in a military dictatorship hostile to the Treaty of Versailles would mean that France was forced to consider Germany as an enemy. Literally interpreted this action on the part of France, which was taken following a meeting of Premier Poincare with his ministers today, can mean a forerunner of a French declaration of war against the German Nationalists.

France's warning was telegraphed to Ambassador De Margerie at Berlin late today. It will be transmitted to Chancellor Stresemann either late tonight or early tomorrow.

This is perhaps the most important diplomatic step taken in Europe since the tragic flurry of note exchanges and ultimatums that finally cluminated in the various war declarations in 1914.

The real connection of soviet Russia with the German Nationalists is not known at Paris. This perhaps constitutes an important factor in the French attitude.

So far as is known here tonight the warning to Germany represents a purely French move. The Council of Ambassadors, on which the other Allies are represented, met today but did not discuss this subject.

Although the French communication is addressed to Chancellor Stresemann it serves far more directly as a threat to Ludendorff, Hitler, and other fire-eating Bavarians who have openly renounced the Treaty of Versailles.

Although deprecating use of the term ultimatum as a description of today's communication to Berlin, Premier Poincare, discussing the matter tonight, left no doubt of the firmness of the French attitude toward the German Nationalists.

Incidentally, he revealed that requests from the left and center elements of the German Reichstag had played some share in causing dispatch of the note. These elements, he said, had let it be known at Paris that they would appreciate some indication of what the French attitude would be in case of a Nationalist coup d'etat within Germany. Now, the Premier explained, they should know.

Concluding, the Premier declared that if today's warning to Berlin did not prove sufficient, France will consult with the other Allies before proceeding further.

The note today, including the strong terms applied with respect to a Nationalist dictatorship in the Reich, promises Chancellor Stresemann French moral support in his present difficult situation if he shows himself sufficiently energetic in squelching his co-called opponents, the Nationalists.

ALLIES ASK HOLLAND TO HOLD PRINCE

Note to Hague Points Out Kaiser's Son Yet Subject to Arrest for Crimes

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Ex-Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm will not proceed from Holland to the comforts of his Silesian palace at Oels, nor will he enjoy the hospitality and sympathies of his dethroned brother royalists within the friendly borders of Switzerland. Instead, he will remain on the bleak, desolate shores of the Island of Weiringen.

This, in diplomatic language, is the sentence of the Allied nations, reached today at a meeting of the Allied Ambassadors, who decided to request the Dutch government not to permit the ex-Kaiser's son to leave the boundaries of Holland. The former Crown Prince, the note to The Hague will say, is still considered one of Germany's war criminals and subject to arrest as such.

The action of the Allied Council is believed to have been taken in view of the impending Nationalist military movements in Germany. The presence of the Crown Prince in the fatherland, it is said, would give great impetus to such a move on the part of the monarchists

The United States took no part in voting on the decision.

STEEL OPTION IS EXERCISED

Pacific Corporation to Build 600-Ton Blast and By-Products Ovens at Long Beach

T. T. C. Gregory of San Francisco, general counsel for the Pacific Steel Corporation, announced last night that the Pacific steel group had exercised its option of $2,000,000 for the purchase of 230 acres of land at Long Beach upon which it is intended to construct a 600-ton blast furnace and by-products ovens. At the same time a surety company bond was filed with the City of Long Beach in the sum of $250,000 guaranteeing that the first unit of the plant will be constructed within two years at a minimum cost of $5,000,000.

In addition to the bond given the city, Mr. Gregory announced that a trust agreement for an additional $500,000 was given to the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, owners of the property, making a similar guarantee as to the construction of the plant.

As preliminary to its exercising the option, the Pacific steel group has tested by diamond drilling the Vulcan properties, a huge deposit of iron ore in San Bernardino county near the Nevada State line. Tests have also been made of various lime deposits in Southern California.

WILL BUILD AT ONCE

The agreement entered into with the City of Long Beach states that the plant will be built immediately if the Santa Fe Railroad agrees to transport coal from the San Juan Basin. This contemplates that the Santa Fe build an extension of about 100 miles from Gallup, N. M., to Farmington. The only exit the San Juan Basin now has is by a narrow gauge road to Denver.

Mr. Gregory pointed out that the construction of a 600-ton blast furnace will mean that approximately 1,000,000 tons of freight will be moved in and out of the Los Angeles Harbor district as a result of its operation, as the ratio of necessary products to produce the pig iron is about four to one. The production of this product here, Mr. Gregory said, will mean that the company can serve the entire Pacific Coast and also make extensive exportations all over the Pacific.

GOV. WALTON'S TRIAL BEGINS

Smokes Cob Pipe While Testimony is Given

Shows Little Concern Over Impeachment Charge

Personal Chauffeur's Wages Under Fire

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.—T. P. Edwards, alleged personal chauffeur to Gov. Walton, drew State salary warrants during the time he was employed by the executive, witnesses for the prosecution testified today at the opening of the Governor's impeachment trial on charges of corruption in office, neglect of duty, incompetence and moral turpitude.

The testimony set out that after Paul Nesbitt, State Highway Commissioner, had refused to place Edwards on the highway department pay roll, because he thought it would be illegal, Gov. Walton obtained from Dr. A. E. Davenport, State Health Commissioner, his agreement to a plan by which the alleged chauffeur drew $200 a month for five months as an employee of the health department. This was done, it was testified, despite the fact that Edwards rendered no service to the health department.

Later, according to the testimony, Edwards and Homer D. Martin, a guard at the Governor's residence during the stress of the recent State-wide martial law regime, were commissioned as officers in the Oklahoma National Guard on orders of the executive, and drew salaries as such although neither had passed the military examination or subscribed to the required oath.

C. C. Childers, State Auditor, the first witness, identified warrants issued to Edwards and Martin. On cross-examination, Childers said he did not know the signatures of either of the men but that each warrant bore an indorsement in the name of the man to whom it was issued.

Gov. Walton entered the Senate chamber promptly on the opening of the trial, with Mrs. Walton on his arm. They took their places at the defense-counsel table. After a few minutes, the Executive lighted his cob pipe. He smoked throughout the afternoon with apparent little concern over the proceedings.

The Senate galleries were packed, and near-by corridors were filled with persons unable to gain admittance.

PROSECUTION CLOSES IN OIL-FRAUD TRIAL

SHOWS DR. COOK'S LATEST VENTURE BROUGHT IN $465,818

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 8.—The Petroleum Producers' Association, Dr. Frederick A. Cook's last vehicle of promotion before he was indicted for alleged fraud, produced $466,818 from all sources in a period of ten months, according to expert testimony offered today in the trial of Dr. Cook.

It marked the conclusion of the prosecution's case.

H. B. Matheny, expert bank accountant for the Department of Justice, disclosed the inside financial workings of the Cook oil promotion enterprise. He testified that Dr. Cook turned all books and documents over to him and aided him in his investigation in every way possible.

Although Matheny testified that the Producers' Association produced $466,818, he could find only $5660 as a cash balance in bank. Record of expenditures explained the short cash resources of the company at the time of its virtual dissolution.

The period covered by Matheny in his inspection of the books was from March 1, 1922, to January, 1923, he testified.

ROAD BONDS PURCHASED AT PREMIUM

Six Million of Highway Issue Taken by Banks of San Francisco

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 8.—The Anglo-London, Paris National Bank and the Bank of Italy, both of San Francisco, bidding as one, today purchased two blocks of State highway bonds aggregating $6,000,000, paying a premium of $43,500 for the two blocks. The blocks consisted of $3,000,000 of 4 3-4 per cent bonds, advertised to be sold today, and $3,000,000 of 4 1-4 per cent bonds purchased three months ago by the State Board of Control when the State Highway Commission could not sell them because of the condition of the bond market at that time.

Sale of the $3,000,000 in 4 1-4 per cent bonds, it was stated by State officials, will relieve the depleted condition of the general fund of the State Treasury for the time being, at least, or until county settlements begin to come into the State Treasury about December 15.

Administration officials earlier in the day had doubted their ability to dispose of the 4 1-4 per cent bonds.

M'ADOO TO TOSS IN HIS HAT SOON

and the impression created by his guarded utterances is that he has not made up his mind whether to be for or against the League.

On other issues Mr. McAdoo finds no embarrassment. He is a dry—not bigoted of course, but strongly for the Eighteenth Amendment and against what is called the "beer and light wine fallacy." On the prohibition question he appears to be satisfactory to the Bryan following.

FARMER HIS REAL ISSUE

But the real issue in the opinion of Mr. McAdoo is what the country is going to do for the farmer. He is fond of talking about it. Take it from him that neither the Republican party nor the Republican Congress nor the Republican administration is doing anythig to save the farmers from bankruptcy, destitution and destruction. And when it comes to Democratic aspirants who is there, Mr. McAdoo rises to inquire, who has any clear idea of what should be done for the farmer, except Mr. McAdoo.

Then McAdoo will tell you at great length how the government could and should help the farmer to get more for what he produces and to pay less for what he consumes.

SEES CONVENTION MAJORITY

The McAdoo canvass is so far advanced that the candidates already foresee a majority of delegates voting for him on the first ballot. The two-thirds vote necessary to the Democratic nomination Mr. McAdoo is confident then will follow in due course. It is McAdoo against the field and the aspirants who compose the field are equally confident they can block his selection.

The Cox contingent in Ohio is ready to join George Brennan of Illinois and Chief Murphy of Tammany in going into the last ditch against McAdoo. Cox thinks McAdoo deliberately slacked in the 1920 election. These antagonistic elements are aiding and abetting the Underwood, Al Smith and numerous favorite son candidacies. In Pennsylvania the Palmer faction is out for Underwood but Vance McCormick has decreed that Palmer shall not go to the convention if he continues to oppose McAdoo.

The next step in the huge construction program, Mr. Gregory said, will be to make application to the United States government to make the necessary changes in the harbor lines to permit the harbor improvements to be made. This application, he declared, would be made immediately.

The Reasons

The reasons for the past twelve months of record-breaking National Cash Register sales are twofold.

First, conditions have been right.

Second, the N C R institution is built upon a great ideal of service.

14,000 minds and hearts are behind that service in all seriousness.

MONARCHISTS PROCLAIM RULE

commander-in-chief of the so-called National army, and Herr Hitler, who only a short time ago became a German citizen, to become leader of Germany.

"Every one who follows these decisions is a traitor. Instead of helping our brothers who are fighting for freedom in the Rhineland and Ruhr, they threaten all efforts of the government, ruin all hopes of betterment of the economic life and sabotage the currency reforms of the government.

"The success of this crazy mutiny can only bring a new catastrophe to Germany. We ask the people to support the fatherland in this difficult hour, to defend the unity of the Reich, German order and German freedom. All measures are taken to crush the mutiny and they will be fulfilled without regard."

RIOTS FEARED

At 3 o'clock this morning an open car with six Shupo officials, two enormous armored cars with huge searchlights lighting the streets for blocks and ten truckloads of Shupo—every man carrying full riot equipment, passed through Brandenburg gate up Unter den Linden and on into the workers' quarters, there to guard against the possibilities of a Communistic demonstration.

Meanwhile, in the outskirts the Reichswehr are drawn up awaiting dawn. Every highway leading into Berlin is heavily guarded by troops, leaving all the police free to cope with the situation in the center of the city.

Herr Hitler's dramatic coup establishing a national dictatorship left Berlin breathless. Despite the warning that the Nationalists had planned a move for November 8, few members of the government thought that in the face of the reinforcements of Reichswehr in Thuringia Herr Hitler and the other Nationalists would move.

RESISTANCE ORDERED

Chancellor Stresemann, President Ebert and Minister of Defense Gessler after a hasty conference sent orders to the Reichswehr commanders on the Bavarian frontier to stand fast and resist any troops attempting to cross into Thuringia.

Chancellor Stresemann, however, has little hope that the Reichswehr will stand. The entire rank and file is permeated with Nationalists. There is every chance that the entire National Army will flock to the standard of Gen Ludendorff and Herr Hitler and march on Berlin and place Herr Hittler's national government in power there.

The appointment of Gen. Ludendorff as Minister of War brings the new Hitler dictatorship into direct conflict with the French. Berlin is anxious to know whether the French will permit the Hitler dictatorship to sweep over the country without marching their troops into the unoccupied territory. The French government's verbal note to Chancellor Stresemann, received last night, says that the French government cannot permit the establishment of a Nationalist dictatorship by men who have sworn to tear up the Treaty of Versailles.

Gen. Ludendorff's policy in rebuilding the national army is causing the greatest concern in Berlin. Among the cooler heads who know the strength of France, it is deemed the maddest folly to break off relations or to attempt the invasion of occupied territory with armed force.

NO MONEY OR ARMS

Germany has neither money nor arms for its troops, but despite this Gen. Ludendorff and Von Lossow and other Bavarian troops seemed determined to force the matter to an armed issue.

Gen. Von Lossow Wednesday told a Bavarian Deputy that such action was the only course for Germany. While this represents the sentiment of less than 1 per cent of the German people, it is the driving force behind Gen. Ludendorff and Herren Hittler and Von Kahr.

The Foreign Office said tonight that if M. Poincare had really sent a warning against the establishment of a Monarchist distatorship in Germany the Stresemann Cabinet must reply that it could not permit France to interfere in the internal affairs of the nation.

It was intimated at the French Embassy that such a communication more likely would be delivered to Herr Stresemann in the shape of an informal talk by the French Ambassador than as a formal note.

GOVERNMENT HELPLESS

Opposing the 20,000 Bavarian Reichswehr, who have sworn allegiance to Bavaria, and the 15,000 Monarchist storm troops, the national government has 50,000 men in Saxony and 6000 only along the Thuringtian and Bavarian frontier. If Gen. Ludendorff chooses to send his men against Berlin there is little chance that they will meet determined opposition.

The Socialist have only one weapon if the Reichswehr fail to hold against the Bavarians. This is a general strike throughout Germany. The Socialist leaders, however, deem this unlikely tonight.

Berlin anxiously awaits the action of small groups of Monarchist troops which have been mobilized in Mecklenburg, Pomerania, East Prussia and Silesia. The nearest of these troops are only seventy miles from Berlin and ready to strike if the Reichswehr police are with them. Without aid from other Monarchist quarters they are not seriously dangerous, but they are sufficient to overpower any workers' organizations if the Reichswehr refuse to fight. If the Reichswehr are with them they will sweep unhindered into Berlin.

The Communists are meeting late tonight to decide their course of action, but it is not believed here that there will be trouble from them, for their last disastrous attempt at Hamburg utterly has killed their fighting spirit for the moment.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FETE FOR WILSON

Parade of Veterans and Blare of Music to Greet Former President

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Friends of Woodrow Wilson are planning to make their Armistice Day tribute to him the greatest demonstration in his honor that has taken place since he became ill.

Not only will the former President's address on "The Significance of Armistice Day" be distributed by radio throughout the country on Saturday evening, but delegations from several cities and representing a number of organizations are expected to take part in the pilgrimage to his S-street home here on Sunday.

It was announced today that the visit to the Wilson residence will be preceded by a parade through the residential section from Dupont Circle. A band has been engaged to march at the head, and the first organization in line will be composed of disabled veterans of the World War. Those in charge of the arrangements say the delegations from New York, Baltimore and a number of Virginia cities have arranged to be present and take part in the celebration.

Mr. Wilson is expected to speak briefly from the front steps of his house in reply to a greeting extended on behalf of his visitors by Senator Glass of Virginia.

REAPPORTINOMENT OF STATE SENATE AIM

FARM BUREAU TO ASK VOTE ON MOVE DIRECTED AT POPULOUS CENTERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, Nov. 8.—The Farm Bureau Federation voted unanimously today to submit to the voters an amendment to the Constitution limiting the representation of the populous centers in the State Senate.

The amendment suggested would retain representation on the basis of population in the Assembly, but would limit the number of Senators by providing that no county could have more than five. At present two counties exceed this quota, Los Angeles having eight and San Francisco seven.

The committee presenting the amendment to the federation was composed of Senators Frank Boggs of San Joaquin county, Herbert C. Jones of Santa Clara county and Assemblyman Charles Cleary of Tulare county.

It was pointed out that there is a precedent for such action in New York State and that the necessity for the measure so far as California is concerned, lies in the fact that 53 per cent of the population is now centered in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda counties.

RAIL CHIEF PLEADS FOR RAILROADS

Kruttschnitt of Espee Urges Further Trial of Transporation Act

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—All legitimate interests of the shipping public will be adequately protected during a fair trial of the Transportation Act as it now stands, Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific Company, said tonight in an address at the annual dinner of the Railway Business Association.

Discussing the act, he declared himself against amendment and unqualifiedly in favor of giving it a further trial, asserting the first real test of its functioning was the present year. Strikes and labor troubles in 1922 and business depression in 1921, he said, made it impossible to judge by those years.

"The public," he said, "wants adequate service. For such service the railroads must obtain a fair return. This is the hope which the new public attitude brings to railway management. But a restoration of confidence in the railroads and stabilization of their credit must be of slow growth. This will be the result of a long period of experience and the consistent following of a fair, equitable and definite policy."

The owners, he said, had very little more to lose than what already had been taken from them, if the railroads were forced into government ownership by failure to get an opportunity to function properly under the terms of the Transportaton Act. The public losses, however, he added, would be inadequate service, increased operating expenses with deficits to be paid from the United States Treasury, $300,000,000 taxes and decreasing morale of employees.

of dispatches received at the State Department, be conceded."

FOREWORD PRAISES

Elihu Root's foreword to the volume is virtually an exordium of Grover Cleveland as a man and as Chief Executive. Mr. Root credits Grover Cleveland with being one of the most important forces in the effecting of an equable compromise between the harried South and the reconstructing North in the days following the Civil War.

CLEVELAND AS FIGHTER

"He had strong common sense, simplicity and directness without subtlety," writes Root, "instinctive and immovable integrity, perfect courage, a kindly nature with great capacity for friendship, and with great capacity also for wrath which made him a dangerous man to trifle with. No thoughtful and patriotic American, to whatever party he may belong and however much his opinions may differ from those of Mr. Cleveland, can read the story of those administrations without admiration and sympathy, or without a sense of satisfaction that this country can on occasion produce and honor such a man as Grover Cleveland."

The biography of Prof. McElroy shows Cleveland as a man of high bravery, almost unceasingly indignant and fighting like the protagonist of a tragic novel. Mr. McElroy has preserved a tone of the drama throughout the books of Cleveland's constant clashings in the field of foreign and domestic affairs, in the disputes with Great Britain, and in the defiance of Tammany Hall and Richard Croker.

FAMOUS PHRASE USED

Writing to his partner, Wilson Bissel, during his campaign for election, Cleveland uses the phrase which has since been attributed to Henry Watterson because Watterson paraphrased it ironically to apply to certain Republican leaders. Cleveland was writing of Tammany treachery.

"I believe," he wrote, "there is a lot of lying and cheating going on, and unless the complexion changes we shall wake up, I think, the morning after election and find that we have been fooled by as base a set of cutthroats as ever scuttled a ship."

There is the dramatic interview between Cleveland and Croker, Murphy and Sheehan, when he pounded his fist on the table and shouted:

"I will not go into the White House pledged to you or anyone else. I will make no secret promises; I'll be damned if I will."

Prof. McElroy ends his narrative with "sunset days." His picture is of Cleveland in the twilight of life and dying with these words on his lips: "I have tried hard to do right."

By his bedside they found Whittier's poem "At Last" with these lines:

"I hear far voices out of darkness calling

STOKES LAWYER SUMS UP CASE

Wife's Defense is Attacked by Max Steuer

Says Her Diary Not Shown Would Reveal All

Jury is Expected to Retire at Noon Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Final attacks on Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes's defense in the retrial of W. E. D. Stokes's suit for divorce were half completed this afternoon by Max D. Steuer, counsel for the wealthy hotel owner. Attorneys predicted the case would go to the jury about noon tomorrow.

Mr. Steuer concluded two hours of summing up his case after Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, had consumed six hours in his summation. Mrs. Stokes put her fingers in her ears as Mr. Steuer's high-pitched voice characterized Mr. Untermyer's address to the jury as a "downright plea to passion, prejudice and anger—an iteration and reiteration of nothing but attempt to inflame you with hatred, passion and antagonism against Stokes, with nothing but sympathy, amid a veil of tears, for a concededly guilty defendant."

Mr. Steuer criticised his legal adversary for telling the jury a verdict against Mrs. Stokes would brand her children, injure the social position of her sister or send her white-haired mother to a premature grave. After those statements, he said, he felt he did not possess the ability to bring the jurymen back to a determination of the case on the evidence. He said the defense's case was built upon villification of Mr. Stokes and sympathy.

TELLS OF DIARY

Recalling the denials of Mrs. Stokes's witnesses that she had been in the East Thirty-fifth-street apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent, Mr. Steuer continued:

"I'll show you out of the mouth of Mr. Untermyer that the defense is a recent concoction. If Mrs. Stokes has been outrageously treated she had it in her power to give evidence of a conclusive character. Mr. Untermyer told you at the beginning of the trial that she had kept a diary from childhood all through her married life.

"You men of New York, where is that diary? If that diary wasn't plastered with references to 13 East Thirty-fifth street you would have had it here to read."

Mr. Steuer demanded to know why Wallace, on the stand for Mrs. Stokes, had not named the woman he said he might have been with at the time witnesses said they had seen him with the defendant. He said if he were defending Mrs. Stokes he would have torn Wallace's tongue from his head if he didn't reveal the name of the red-haired woman, strands of whose hair, witnesses testified, were found in a comb in his bedroom.

THREAT OF QUIZ

Mr. Untermyer, Mr. Steuer said, was offering an entirely new defense in his villification of the plaintiff, although he told the jury that the laws of New York offered a divorce to any man, even though a criminal, if he could prove his wife had illicit relations with another man.

"But the most conspicuous thing I want to call to your attention," said Mr. Steuer, "is that no outcry has been made here as witness after witness looked at Mrs. Stokes and identified her as the woman they had seen at the Wallace apartment and at other places with him. There was no outcry because they knew she was guilty. Instead of coming here and admitting she had been there, and giving a reasonable excuse for it, they were forced to adopt the alternative of calling every witness who accused her a perjurer. They had no other course."

FEDERAL SHIPS ADVISED SOLD

Resolutions Adopted by Marine Conferees

Shipping Board Closing Decided Against

Antiquated and Wornout Vessels Condemned

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The American Marine Conference today passed resolutions calling upon the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation to retire without delay from the business of operating ships and to place the operation in private hands.

Another resolution submitted to the conference by the resolutions committee for abolition of the Shipping Board and transfer of its functions and duties to the Department of Commerce, met with considerable opposition and after a lengthy discussion was tabled.

Other resolutions passed by the conference called for immediate scrapping by the Shipping Board of all vessels of inferior design; selling of remaining vessels to American citizens without description; scrapping of the vessels not sold under this plan and delegation to private hands for operation until either sold or proved impracticable of all those freight and passenger lines which might be considered essential to national interests.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Other resolutions adopted were:

That the rail and ocean transportation media be drawn together and made to function as one transportation system to all parts of the world and that permission be granted American railroads and steamship lines to enter into agreements to divide their joint rates with rates on domestic traffic and traffic with Canada.

That the administration make an earnest effort to amend existing treaties with a view to the establishment of preferential customs duties on goods carried by American ships for money dues paid by American ships.

Another proposal which called upon American citizens to use American ships whenever possible when going abroad was tabled. A proposed resolution calling upon Congress to take action against ratification of the proposed twelve-mile limit treaty with Great Britain was referred to committee.

ENROLLMENT URGED

The conference also passed a resolution favoring enrollment under suitable regulations of officers and men of the mercantile marine in the naval reserve of the United States. It was said the resolution was intended as an indorsement of a bill along similar lines which will be presented to Congress this winter.

Other resolutions adopted by the conference urged a system of preferential rates for goods in passage carried in American ships; adoption of a policy to allow railroads to apply export rates on materials used in the construction of American ships, and supplies for them, carrying of cargoes, properly loaded and safely delivered by means of a uniform load line law; classification of all American vessels in the American Bureau of Shipping; insurance of such vessels in the American insurance syndicate; inspection of loading of cargoes by the American Board of Underwriters, and the permanent maintenance of the American mercantile marine "properly built, manned, equipped and operated."

BRITISH EVADE COLONY ISSUE

Imperial Conference at Climax of Labors

Relation of Dominions is Ignored at Caucus

Majority of Findings to Remain Secret

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The imperial conference is expected to complete its labors tomorrow. It has evaded again, however, one important question, namely, the constitutional question of the relations of the dominions and colonies to the motherland and to each other. Hence there will still be no central body maintained in London to represent the conference permanently or carry out its political or economic recommendations.

Presumably the conference will meet as heretofore in London at stated intervals in a purely advisory capacity. All its decisions and recommendations will need to be submitted to the various parliaments concerned.

Some of its resolutions will be kept secret, and the proceedings will be printed in two volumes, one confidential for the governments concerned, the other for the public.

The details of the British government's new proposals relative to preference on wines were presented at the economic section today. The first doubles the existing preference of 2 shillings on a duty of 6 shillings per gallon on wines exceeding 30 per cent in strength. Thus the empire rate will be 2, instead of 6 shillings. The second proposes an increase from 30 to 50 per cent in the preference on the surtax of 12 shillings, 6 pence on sparkling wines. Thus the empire surtax will be 6 shillings, 3 pence, instead of 12 shillings, 6 pence.

The Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, testifying before the conference to the home government's gratitude for the help received, expressed the view that the "unseen" work of the conference had been extraordinarily useful.

WOULD HAVE EVERY FARM A FACTORY

PROF. FLETCHER SUGGESTS WAY TO BETTER LOT OF AGRICULTURIST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Every farm a factory, was a motto urged today before the American Society of Agricultural Engineers as one to improve the lot of the farmer, and incidentally, to check the migration of needed farm workers to urban centers.

The recommendation was made in a committee report submitted by Prof. L. J. Fletcher of the University of California, following a year's study of the problems involved in the preparation of farm products for the consumer by the individual producers.

"Manufacturing on the farm is not a new idea," the report said. "It was commonly practiced 2000 years ago throughout the Roman Empire. Today the majority of the farmers of the United States are selling their products as raw material, while the manufacturing is carried on by separate highly specialized organizations.

"Cato recommended in his works that the man who cultivates olives should have five sets of oil making implements; the early farmers, equipment consisted of devices to manufacture as well as produce. In many European countries today the motto is 'every farm a factory.'"

S. H. McCrory of the Federal Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Public Roads, has been named the new president of the society for the coming year.

Prof. Fletcher and Prof. F. R. Jones of the University of Wisconsin, are the new vice-presidents.

INCOME TAX LAW RESULT IN DOUBT

OFFICIAL COUNT NEEDED TO DECIDE FATE OF PROPOSAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND, (Or.) Nov. 8.—It was apparent tonight that an official count will be necessary to determine whether the voters at last Tuesday's election passed or rejected the State income tax law submitted under the referendum. A tabulation early tonight gave an adverse majority against the bill of 144. This was based on complete official figures from eleven counties; complete unofficial figures from seventeen counties and partial returns from the remaining eight counties. Seventy-one precincts out of the 1767 in the State were yet to be heard from.

All day as returns came in and tabulations were made the issue swayed from one side to the other, now appearing to carry the measure and again appearing to defeat it.

STATE DRY POWER WIDENED

Pinchot's Plea for Privilege to Inspect Federal Permits to Liquor Dealers Granted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A new regulation requiring holders of Federal permits to handle liquor to submit them to inspection of State as well as Federal officers was announced today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

This step to increase the powers of State authorities in prohibition enforcement was suggested by Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, in his recent correspondence with Secretary Mellon of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon promising in reply that Pennsylvania officers would be given such inspection powers. Instead of limiting the authority to Pennsylvania officers, the new regulation, which will become effective on the 15th inst., will be given nation-wide application.

Commissioner Haynes said that under the regulation there would be inserted in all Federal permits of breweries, alcoholic manufacturers, wholesale dealers, druggists and all other permittees, a stipulation that permits are granted on the express condition that the business in operation as well as the Federal permits may at any time be inspected by sheriffs, policemen or any other State officers, as well as Federal revenue and prohibition agents. Refusal of inspection, Mr. Haynes said, would be deemed grounds for citation of permittees for revocation of their licenses.

Commissioner Haynes said the new policy was indicative of an "earnest desire of the Federal department to co-operate in every way with State and local agencies in the enforcement of prohibition laws, national and State."

FOUR DIE IN EXPLOSION; EIGHT HURT

Residents Near Fort in Italy Flee When Huge Shell Blows Up

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENOA (Italy) Nov. 8.—Four persons were killed and eight seriously injured today at Fort Guano at Carnigliano, by the bursting of a shell which soldiers were unloading from a cannon. The detonation set off other shells and fires were started outside the fort.

Firemen were rushed to the scene from Genoa and were engaged throughout the day in preventing the spread of the flames to the fort proper.

The detonations of the exploding shells could be heard intermittently throughout the day many miles from the fort. The population of neighboring villages fled from their homes fearing the main magazine of the fort would blow up. This evening it was thought the fire had been brought under control.

GOLDEN GAINS IN ELECTION RECOUNT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—A recount of votes cast Tuesday for one of two San Francisco police judgeships today increased the lead of Joseph M. Golden from 303 votes to 613 over Judge Sylvester J. Matee, the incumbent he displaces. A recheck of the ballots conducted by Registrar J. Harry Zemansky gives Golden, 54,180 and McAtee, 53,567.

WASHINGTON, Nbre. 8.—William G. McAdoo, en su próximo regreso a California, va a anunciar su candidatura para la designación presidencial democrática.

Los funcionarios de la administración lamentan la tendencia del consejo económico imperial de Londres, de aplicar a los efectos americanos tarifas desventajosas en el arancel; pero dicen que las preferencias imperiales constituyen una cuestión doméstica.

El discurso que por radio lanzará el sábado el ex-President Wilson, se toma aquí como la señal de una nueva campaña en pro de la sociedad de naciones.

Los investigadores de la oficina de veteranos están caminando más despacio en sus averiguaciones de peculados, a fin de concentrar su atención en la mejora del servicio existente.

La comisión de arancel ha aprobado la solicitud de que se investiguen los derechos sobre trigo.

Enérgico Telegrama de los Diputados Mejicanos a Obregón

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Noviembre 8.—Hoy se le arrojó más combustible a la ardiente hoguera política formada por los odios que crecen entre los varios aspirantes a la presidencia y entre sus respectivos simpatizadores, con un extenso telegrama dirigido en esta fecha al Presidente Obregón por la mayoría de los miembros de la Cámara de Diputados. El telegrama es la secuela de la acusación formulada por los mismos, de que se había fraguado un complot para asesinar a aquellos de los diputados que se oponen a la elección de Calles, a quien se dice que la administración y el Presidente Obregón están apoyando para la presidencia. El telegrama está redactado en el más enérgico lenguaje, y dice que el Presidente Obregón se ha negado a dar a los diputados las garantías a que tienen derecho como ciudadanos y como representantes del pueblo. Aquí se interpreta el referido mensaje como un incidente más, aunque muy importante, en la cadena de sucesos que han venido empujando a las facciones a estrangularse una a la otra.

El tantas veces citado mensaje fue redactado en contestación al que dirigió el Presidente Obregón a los diputados cooperatistas que denunciaban un complot por el que se les quería asesinar. Les manifiesta el Presidente que se cuidaría de su seguridad personal, y que había en todo momento tropas disponibles para protegerlos contra la violencia.

NOTAS LOCALES

Se Identifica a la Suicida de Ayer

Se hizo ya la identificación de la joven y hermosa mujer que, poco antes del mediodía de ayer, saltó a la calle desde el duodécimo piso del edificio Story, ubicado en la esquina de la Sexta y Broadway, causando terrible impresión a centenares de horrorizados transeuntes. Es la señora Herta Feller, de 28 años, y madre de un bebé de tres semanas, según reveló el patético relato de su viudo, A. M. Feller, joven arquitecto, que luchó contra el deseo de matarse que manifestó la infeliz desde el nacimiento de su criatura. El Sr. Feller descubrió la tragedia, cuando, alarmado por la ausencia de su joven esposa, que no llegaba a casa, visitó la Casa de Socorro, y dio allí la descripción de su mujer. Los ayudantes le dijeron que una persona de esas señas había sido llevada allí.

Esos hombres, habituados ya a incontables escenas de dolor, se volvieron de espaldas, sin embargo, cuando el joven marido contempló la forma sin vida de la que fue su esposa, y dijo: "Dios mío. Me temí que aconteciera esto". Declaró Feller que, desde el nacimiento de su bebé, le daban accesos de melancolía a su mujer, y que el viernes había atentado contra su vida, cortándose las muñeces con un cuchillo; pero fue salvada por un médico a quien el marido llamó. Desde ese momento, dijo Feller, he estado constantemente con el temor de que cumpliera su amenaza de suicidarse. Para observarla, cada hora iba yo a casa. Como a las doce de hoy llamé por teléfono, y no me contestó. Temí que hubiera tratado otra vez de matarse y vine al hospital para ver si había sido traída aquí.

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

"Atropellar" significa pasar precipitadamente por encima de una persona; derribarla o empujarla violentamente para abrirse paso. Con este verbo castellano se traduce pues la expresión inglesa, "run over someone". "Derribar" es echar por tierra personas o cosas (knock down). Así, la frase "my friend was run over by a motor car", se traduce por "mi amigo fue atropellado por un automóvil"; "a street car knocked me down", por "un tranvía me derribó" (también puede decirse "me atropelló"); y "she was struck by a lorry", por "un camión le (la) dio un golpe" (también puede decirse la "atropello" o "le (la) dio un encontrón"). Cuando la persona o cosa atropellada es literalmente arrebatada, o doblada y envuelta sobre sí misma por el agente que da contra ella, se usa el verbo "arrollar", y así decimos que "Fulano fue arrollado por la locomotora", que "la creciente arrolló árboles y casas", y que "el ciclón arrolló cuanto encontró a su paso" (swept everything before it).

En sentido figurado dícese que una persona "atropella las leyes", cuando no hace caso y pasa por encima de ellas: "Pedro atropelló mis derechos" (trespassed on my rights). Usase también en este sentido con la preposicion "por": "Fulano atropelló por todos los respetos y consideraciones, y se salió con la suya" (had his way). Empléase asimismo como verbo activo en la acepción de ultrajar de palabra o faltar a la consideración que se debe a una persona, v.g., "este agente de policía me ha atropellado (has abused me) del modo más injustificado"; "¡Señor mío, eso es un atropello (outrage), y no puedo consentirlo!"

Se da el nombre el "paseo" a una vía pública, generalmente ancha y con filas de árboles a ambos lados, por donde suele la gente pasear en coche, a caballo o a pie. En Madrid son muy conocidos los paseos de Recoletos y de la Castellana; en Méjico, el de la Reforma. La voz inglesa "drive" traduce aproximadamente la española que nos ocupa. Por supuesto que "paseo" es también el acto de pasearse: "vamos a dar un paseo" (let us take a walk or stroll). Muy probablemente conocen mis lectores la expresión castellana, "enviar o mandar a paseo a una persona", o sea, despedirla, porque desaprueba uno lo que propone, dice o hace: "Fulano me pedía diez mil dólares por su casa, y le mandé a paseo" (told him to go along; sent him packing). Cuando una persona le propone a uno cosas absurdas o lo está molestando en alguna forma, le dice uno, "vete o vaya usted a paseo"; "anda o ande usted a paseo") go along; go packing). Por tratarse de algo muy español, no puedo menos de explicar a mis lectores lo que se llama "paseo" en las corridas de toros. Es palabra con que se topa a menudo al leer las crónicas o reseñas de la fiesta nacional española, hermosa y viril. Cuando, desde el palco presidencial, se da la señal para que comience el espectáculo de toros, suena el clarín, y por una puerta especial salen las cuadrillas a hacer "el paseo" por el redondel. Marchan al compás de la música, y precedidas de los alguaciles, en dirección del palco presidencial, formando en primera línea los matadores, y tras de ellos, los banderilleros, picadores, monos sabios, areneros y carpinteros, cerrando el desfile el o los tiros de mulas para el arrastre (se les llama "mulillas" por ser lustrosas y de pocos años; y a los que las conducen se les dice "mulilleros"). El primer espada ocupa el puesto de la derecha, el segundo, el de la izquierda, y el tercero, si lo hay, el del centro. Al llegar debajo del balcón de la presidencia, se paran todos y saludan descubiertos, yendo luego cada cual a ocupar el lugar que tiene designado en la lidia.

Bandits Hold Citizens at Bay and Rob Bank

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OGDEN (Kan.) Nov. 8.—Holding the townsmen at bay for two hours early today, bandits blew the safe of the Ogden State Bank and escaped with an unknown amount of cash, Liberty bonds and other valuables. The robbers numbered from eight to ten men. Before the robbery all telephone and telegraph wires leading into the town were cut.

Ray McChesney, cashier of the bank, estimates the loss at $2000 in cash, and an undetermined amount in Liberty bonds and securities.

BUILD PUMPING STATIONS

CALIFORNIA IN GREAT SHAPE

Tie Game With Nevada Makes Bears Mad

Will Take Light Practice at Coliseum Today

Trojan Cripples Come to Life for Big Game

BY BILL HENRY

A large furry quadruped, said to faintly resemble the ferocious Golden Bear of years gone by, will unload himself from a southbound rattler this morning seeking to reinstate himself in the eyes of the pop-eyed populace by swallowing the U.S.C. Trojan at one big gulp. Andy Smith claims that this is the same old Bear, while a vociferous number of local citizens claim that it's just a nice old poodle dog all dolled up in the Bearskin that made Andy famous.

At that, the California Golden Bear which will appear before 70,000 cash customers at the Coliseum tomorrow, is a distinguished animal. This is the only Bear in existence that ever let a cactus-fed Jackrabbitt from Nevada back him up in a corner and spit in his eye. Whether he'll let the Trojans do it or not is probably a different matter.

DANGEROUS

History tells us that there's nothing quite so unhealthy as to step into a cage with a large hungry he-bear which has been humiliated in public and is just beginning to get annoyed about it. The general suspicion is that California has come south with the sole and single purpose of not simply playfully nipping the Trojan, but of tearing him up into little pieces resembling hamburger steak.

Smith is bringing south, and will use, the entire strength of his team. Capt. Don Nichols, nationally famous for his open-field running, will be there to guide his team and with him will be "Stew" Beam, the pride of Whittier, Don Perry, Jack Spaulding and a whole flock of other young men who were elsewhere when the aforesaid Nevade Jackrabbit was performing the act of expectoration which made him famous.

ANNOYED

The California team is annoyed beyond words. Only action—violent action—can express the feeling of the team which was held to a tie score and was almost beaten after an unblemished record of victory extending over nearly four years. Andy Smith has tongue-lashed his men until their feelings are raw in the extreme and they are out to massacre Henderson's Trojans if they have it in their power to do it.

A light workout will be all that

ONLY TWO VETS ON OREGON MAT SQUAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CORVALLIS (Or.) Nov. 8.—Richard Nixon and Robin Reed are the only letter men back in college to turn out for the varsity wrestling squad this year. Practice for the varsity is being held every afternoon. Matches have been scheduled with University of Oregon, University of Washington and Washington State College. D. O. Ferrell, for five years physical director of the Y.M.C.A. in Spokane, Wash., is coach this year.

TROJAN PREXY READS "THE TIMES"

"With the fullback duties falling on my shoulders and Dr. Dixon filling in at tackle I am sure that the Trojans will give a good account of themselves against the California team Saturday," said Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, at a luncheon given yesterday afternoon at the Elite in honor of Coach Elmer Henderson and his football players.

Other speakers on the program were Chet Dolley, captain of the Trojan varsity, Secretary Stoner and Coach Henderson, who was even more gloomy than usual. Mike McCann led those present in a few choice yells. Holly Adams, sterling U.S.C. center, was introduced and drew thunderous applause.

Miss Cameron and Mrs. Midgeley Finalists at Wilshire

FAVORITES WIN AT HOLLYWOOD

Campbell and Barber Expected to Reach Finals

Margaret Cameron Wins From Mrs. Jones, 4 and 3

Mrs. Midgeley Triumphs Over Mrs. Guy Cochran

BY CHARLES WEST

Miss Margaret Cameron and Mrs. G. M. Midgeley will meet in the final round of the Wilshire Country Club's invitational tournament for women this morning, having successfully weathered the semifinal round yesterday. Miss Cameron defeated Mrs. Dan Jones, Jr., 4 and 3, while Mrs. Midgeley won from Mrs. Guy Cochran on the home green, 2 up.

After a poor start, Miss Cameron seems to have hit her stride, and is playing in such form that a victory for her in the finals today is generally expected. Mrs. Jones is playing splendid golf, and the fact that Miss Cameron eliminated her by a 4 and 3 margin indicates that the little Annandale player is on her game.

Mrs. Cochran carried Mrs. Midgeley to the eighteenth green before she would submit to defeat, the match being anybody's until the last putt was sunk.

It was announced erroneously yesterday that Mrs. H. Grossman had defeated Mrs. H. T. Cartwright in the second round. Mrs. Cartwright won from Mrs. Gordon Williams in the second round, but was eliminated by Mrs. Grossman today.

Following are the results of the semifinal rounds in all flights:

Mrs. K. Riddell defeated Mrs. A. J. Sharer, 4 and 3.
Mrs. G. Lounsberry defeated W. Blackburn, 1 up.

First rounds in the Hollywood Country Club's annual invitational tournament were played yesterday, unaccompanied by upsets of any description, and the favorites are still in the running for the title won by Fred Wright last year. Bill Campbell of the Virginia Country Club and Fred Barber, two of the strongest golfers in the tournament, disposed of their opponents without overexerting, while Arnold Statz, runner-up last year; W. M. Armstrong, Max Behr, Neal Burns and Dr. T. E. Steddom all survived the first test of match play.

Campbell defeated E. K. Brown of the Los Angeles Country Club, 2 up and 1 to go, Brown putting up a stubborn battle, but one which was futile against the accurate game of his accomplished opponent. Freddie Barber had a much easier match, winning from P. J. Walsh, 5 and 4, while W. M. Armstrong won the right to meet Campbell in the second round today by trimming W. M. White of the Western-avenue club, 5 and 4.

Fred Barber has a tough match ahead of him for today in Max Behr, while Arnold Statz gets a bye, neither H. C. Humes nor H. D. Bullock putting in an appearance for their match yesterday.

It was announced yesterday that all matches Saturday will be played in the morning, so that nothing will interfere with the California-U.S.C. football fracas in the afternoon.

Yesterday's results follow:

Hollywood flight, starting time today 12:40 p.m.—W. W. Campbell defeated E. K. Brown, 2 and 1; W. M. Armstrong defeated W. M. White, 5 and 4; Arnold Statz defeated J. M. Armeill, 4 and 3; Fred Barber defeated P. J. Welch, 5 and 4; Max Behr defeated L. M. Thomas, 3 and 1; Neal Burns defeated A. B. McGaffey, 6 and 5; Dr. T. E. Steddom defeated L. F. Kinsler, 2 up; H. D. Bullock vs. H. C. Humes, bye.

Second flight, starting time today 12 m.—R. A. Burton defeated Frank Delost, 3 and 1; Joe Kelly defeated Russ Fawcett, 20 holes; D. L. Darsie defeated S. Coombs, 1 up; Dr. Bishop defeated H. S. POLY AND MANUAL MEET

Undefeated Elevens Tangle at Bovard Field This Afternoon; Pioneers Play Jefferson

Either Sid Foster or Voyle Brennan will feel as if he has been pulled through a knot hole this evening, for this afternoon the Manual Arts and Polytechnic football teams tangle at Bovard Field in a game which has a very direct bearing on the 1923 City League championship and after the dust of the battle has cleared away one of the two undefeated elevens will be rather definitely out of the running. Chances are that Brennan will suffer the above-mentioned sensation, while it is not altogether impossible that the Mechanics may be able to scare Foster bad enough to make his dinner taste like so much sawdust. The other game of the day will see Los Angeles High in action against Jefferson at Housh Field.

After the Toilers had exhibited their wares to the public for the first time this season fans sat back and were content to concede the 1923 pennant to Foster's charges, so impressive did they look. Practically the only thing that has happened to change this viewpoint has been the rather unexpected and phenomenal rise of the Poly gridders. Losing most of his men from last year, Brennan faced this season with nothing but a makeshift line-up. In their first game, however, the Mechanics threw a large-sized monkey wrench into the championship hopes of Frank Malette's Lincoln crew, downing the Railsplitters, 13 to 5, after a thrilling encounter. The week following the lads had little trouble thumping Jefferson.

The Mechanics are heavy and when properly aroused are capable of playing great football. If Brennan and Leahy can instill into their charges some of that great fight for which they were both noted on the gridiron Foster and Company may experience something of a surprise this afternoon. Unless the Poly team can take the measure of the Toilers it looks as if Manual would sail straight through to a championship, for the Pioneers, who tangle with the Artisans next week, haven't sufficient polish right now to bowl over Foster's proteges.

Poly supporters will pin their hopes on Louie Burman, hard-charging back, who has starred in every game this year. Burman is a shining example of what the Blue and Gold artists can do when keyed up. In the game with Lincoln he fooled around until the last quarter and then cut loose with two of the best runs we have ever seen a prep player execute. If Burman gets well oiled this afternoon fans are due for a treat.

If the heavy Poly line has improved sufficiently to hold the bull-like charges of Orsatti, Hanford, Ruitmann and Oberlin, then the game should be a corker. Otherwise it looks as if the Manual backfield would be able to plow through the Mechanic line for at least three touchdowns.

The Pioneers should not have much trouble with Jefferson, the Presidents having dropped all of their games this season. Herb White's aggregation impresses one as having a world of power which will wreck somebody's championship hopes if properly directed. Janicki is the driving kind of quarter, rather than a field general, and frequently has his team going at top speed without much attention being paid as to the point to be arrived at. However, drive and lots of it will undoubtedly be more than enough to subdue the down-trodden Jefferson lads.

Branch Rickey Having Hard Time Disposing of St. Louis Star; Price Too High

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Peddling the services of Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, may prove far more difficult than Sam Breader and Branch Rickey, president and manager respectively, of the Cardinals anticipate. They are likely to find the market a bit bullish.

Spurning an offer of cash and players made by President William Veeck, of the Cubs, the two St. Louis dignitaries hopped an eastbound train with the intention of eventually reaching New York and endeavoring to interest McGraw of the Giants in their star performer. Now it is whispered about that the Giant pilot has only a passing interest in the acquisi-

Occidental and Caltech Clash in Holiday Grid Battle Monday

ELEVENS ARE WELL MATCHED

Conference Title Hinges on Game at Rose Bowl

Huge Crowd Expected to See Teams Struggle

Redlands and S.B.U.G. Meet; Pomona Faces Poets

Although the original Armistice Day five years ago brought with it a complete cessation of hostilities Monday's celebration, in which the various Southern California Conference teams will take part, has no such aspect for the rival elevens, it being a day of genuine gridiron warfare with six aggregations of tanbark athletes out for blood. From all advance reports they'll probably get just that, for the games carded are real he-man affairs.

CALTECH ENTERTAINS

California Tech, a rather superb gathering of large and rangy young men, plays host at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, to Coach Joseph Pipal and a score or so of his choicest Occidental representatives, and with what correct social etiquette the Engineers entertain the Tigers all depends on how nicely the Bengals behave when they are away from home. If the visiting eleven starts in to make the afternoon a rough one they are apt to find that two can play at the same game, and it would not surprise us a bit to see the big and willing Engineers muss up the nice Oxy Tiger considerably. On the other hand, should the Bengals behave a bit sluggish, from the effects of a large meal or perhaps a bit of over-confidence then "Fox" Stanton's men will be the first to take advantage of the golden opportunity, even as they did against the sleeping Sagehens not so long ago.

The Oxy-Caltech game is to be played at the Rose Stadium, Pasadena, under the management of the American Legion. There will be a regular Armistice Day program in connection. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

LOCK HORNS

Pomona and Whittier, each with one defeat and a brace of wins, locks horns or head-guards out at Claremont, and it is a cinch that this battle will in no sense be an Armsitice Day affair, for past games between the two institutions have been given much atmosphere by the fierceness of play and resultng injuries. Two seasons ago the Quakers romped all over the Sagehens at Claremont, the score of the conflict being 42 to 9. Blue and White players were knocked out right and left and Nixon's subs were kept busy carrying the mortally wounded off the field of combat. Last year the scene of action was laid at Whittier and what the Pomona team didn't do to the Poets is hard to imagine. In addition to running up a score of 40 to 0, the Claremonters trampled on the Quaker team rather unmercifully, even Joe Buckmaster, the original Whittier iron man, feeling his share of the Sagehen attack considerably.

Coach Nixon has built up a strong team out at Pomona, even though he had only three vets from last year's championship eleven as a nucleus. The Sagehen backfield is on a par with any in the conference and if he can get his line functioning properly there is every hope for a Blue and White victory over the Poets Monday. Big Ed Suggett, ace of the Whittier backs, hasn't had a crack at the Claremonters since 1921 and in all probability will relish a little action against the lads who pounded his playmates so soundly while he had to sit on the bench last year.

GLAD OF REST

In one way it will be a genuine Armistcie Day for Southern Branch and Redlands, who play at Moore Field. The Cubs have been up against two of the best teams in the loop, Pomona and Whittier, while the poor Bulldogs have been forced to take three defeats in a row from Oxy, Pomona and Caltech. For these two teams the afternoon will at least be a surcease from championship contending teams, and more than likely a game worth watching will ensue. The Cubs have a good line, while the Baptists probably possess the best backfield of the two, although Loren Peake is a better line plunger than anything the Redlands team can offer.

Energy released by the disintegration of one gram of gold would yield enough electric power to light more than 20,000 homes for 365 days.

Prexy of the International Gives His Views

Says Ball League Will Not Take Initiative

Declares He is Satisfied With Existing Conditions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—John Conway Toole, president of the International League, declared today that club owners of his circuit would not take any initiative in seeking a restoration of draft relations between the majors and big minor leagues at the forthcoming baseball sessions in Chicago.

"We are satisfied with conditions as they exist now," said Mr. Toole, "and will start no discussion leading to a renewal of the selective system's operation so far as it affects our league. We are ready, however, to listen to any suggestions others may have to make."

President Toole's statement was made in connection with the invitation of President Hickey, of the American Association for a joint session of his body, the International, and Pacific Coast leagues December 10 at Chicago.

Mr. Toole said he had not definitely accepted the invitation in view of the fact that the International League's annual meeting, the time of which is fixed by its constitution, is scheduled on that date.

"However, I have no doubt a conference may be arranged," he said, "inasmuch as all of the club owners will be there at that time. But, as my call already has gone out, our meeting must take precedence over any joint gathering."

PRINT STATIONERY FOR YACHT CLUB

Stationery of the Pacific Coast Yachting Association has been printed and is of a neat and attractive design. At the top in small type are the names of the Pacific International Yachting Association of Seattle, Pacific Interclub Yacht Association of San Francisco and the Southern California Yachting Association which comprise the Pacific Coast Association.

Dr. Albert Soiland is admiral of the Pacific organization, Lester Stone is vice-admiral, James W. Griffiths, rear-admiral and Clifford A. Smith, secretary-treasurer. Other members on the board of control are Daniel S. Pratt of Seattle, Edwin S. Smith of San Francisco, Shirley E. Meserve of Los Angeles and Thomas C. Hammond of San Diego.

A SWAT STICK FULL OF HOME RUNS

Here's Inventor of Famous Plugged Bat

Charles T. Held

Last season's heated controversy centering around plugged bats used by Babe Ruth, Ken Williams and various other big league sluggers began twenty years ago when Charles T. Held, now a peaceful resident of Santa Monica, patented the type of bludgeon known in modern baseball circles as the Sam Crawford bat. Considerable excitement was caused when Ruth's pet home-run smasher was taken away from him, and Ken Williams's long list of circuit swats stopped suddenly when Ban Johnson ruled against a three-piece bat last summer.

But for a long time Charlie Held's invention supplied home runs and thrills for fans at bush league and major league games. Patent was secured May 5, 1903, and Held made bats until 1915, when he left St. Louis in favor of Santa Monica.

The bat is constructed with two longitudinally bored holes, in which plugs are inserted at the end. When struck on the side close to the holes, the blow is deadened, and a perfect bunt is the result. But when the batter swings on the ball with the solid wood section, the tremendous resiliency of the bat gives the ball a long ride, resulting in uncounted triples, homers and doubles.

Bobby Wallace, former St. Louis Brown shortstop, was the first major leaguer to use Held's bat. Held made an emergency bat at a game for Wallace, who protested that it was too heavy. Held lightened the stick by boring a couple of holes in it, with the result that Wallace embarked on a heavy-hitting streak.

The bat shown in the picture was made in 1904, and was used in a sand-lot game in St. Louis in the same year by two colored teams, a total of twenty-two home runs being scored by it in a single game.

LaBarba Wins Over Mullens by a Knockout

Plenty of thrilling action was on tap at the L.A.A.C. last night during the semimonthly amateur boxing bouts. In the main event Joe Salas knocked out Sailor Natilo in the middle of the first round. Salas had it on his man all the way. In the semi-wind-up, Eddie Gleason won over Sailor Bass. Gleason simply outclassed Bass. Fidel LaBarba knocked out Sailor Mullens near the end of the second round with a punch to the stomach. Johnny Perry beat Eugene Henry.

Al Leonard proved too much for Sailor Mayer, knocking him out in the first round. The second bout was easy for Joe St. George, who took an easy decision over Joe Comby. Joe McLaughlin proved the winner over Archie Woolman in the third set-to. In the next scrap, Sailor Huffman was awarded the verdict over Ad Allegrini. This decision was very unpopular, many of the spectators voicing their disapproval. It was the opinion of many that an extra round should have been called. Jackie Fields beat Jimmy Piela. The first three rounds were even, but Fields showed his superiority in the fourth, making Piela look sick.

Charley Keppen did the announcing and Ernie Clark acted as referee. Good house on hand.

McMullin Is Given K.O. at C.P.O. Bouts

The C.P.O. boxing bouts at Los Angeles Harbor last night were thrillers throughout. A capacity house was on hand and the decisions were just in all set-tos. In the main event Frankie Grandetta, Beau Brummel flyweight of the universe, boxed a draw with Jockey Joe Dillon. The lads gave a clever exhibition of fisticuffs. Grandetta is a favorite at the club. Sammy Santos knocked out Packey McMullin near the end of the fourth round with a right to the chin.

In the special event Jack Thompson of San Pedro drew with Sailor Lee. Sailor Demarzio of the U.S.S. Pennsylvania drew wtih Fred Ellis of Los Angeles. Kid Dunfor was knocked out by Pico Ramies in the fourth round by a left to the solar plexus. Sailor Cooper of the U.S.S. Maryland lost to Hall Duarte of Los Angeles. K. O. Montoyo of Santa Ana won the decision over Kid Auger. Dutch Weidenmann refereed and did good work.

MIKE McTIGUE IN BAD IN NEW YORK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion of the world, has cancelled his fight with Gene Tunney, the American champion, split with his manager, Joe Jacobs, and created an opportunity for his worst enemy, Young Stribling, the Georgia high-school boy, to fight Tunney in Madison Garden.

McTigue said the bruised knuckle, which was his reason for trying to cancel his fight with Stribling in Columbus, Ga., several weeks ago, had begun to bother him again. For that reason he decided not to keep his engagement with Tunney on December 10. If Tex Rickard can procure a waiver of the six-round limit on juvenile fighters, he will give Stribling the date with Tunney.

PRICE TOO HIGH FOR HORNSBY

tion of Hornsby and that the St. Louis Club will have to reopen negotiations with the Cubs. Other clubs in the league are not going to bid.

McGraw is credited with a statement that he is through laying out exorbitant sums for men with a major league past. Further he claims to know that Hornsby's legs are already beginning to bother him. Then to fit in with McGraw's declaration about spending money recklessly is a general belief that the Giants are about to be sold. The present owners naturally aren't going to toss away a fortune for the benefit of some magnate-to-be.

The St. Louis club gave President Veeck of the Cubs reason to believe that cash wouldn't be considered for the star player. McGraw, however, seems to know differently. He issued his ultimatum about keeping the bank roll intact after one of his agents had been in the Mound City for the purpose of ascertaining just what the Cardinals demand in return for the great Hornsby. The agent didn't report back that money couldn't swing the deal.

There is one angle to the National League situation that makes it possible for the Giants to acquire Hornsby without a cash consideration of any great amount. It seems that the Giants can do about as they please with the Boston Braves.

With the privilege of drawing on the Braves in a pinch, McGraw may be able to draft such men as Pitcher Jess Barnes and Catcher Mickey O'Neil, toss in a few Giant players and present St. Louis with a layout of talent that would look good on paper, at least. McGraw probably would attempt to include Heinie Groh or Dave Bancroft, or both, in such a swap but the Cardinals might refuse them as too old.

If the negotiations with the Giants should fall flat there isn't any doubt but that the Cubs' offer, made last week, will be renewed. Veeck is said to have named four Cubs in his bid and intended to include a bunch of coin but the deal never reached the stage where it was necessary to discuss cash. The Cards wanted players Veeck would not part with, among them Catcher Bob O'Farrell.

TAYLOR APPOINTED COACH FOR SKATERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—William Taylor of New York has been appointed manager and coach of the American Olympic speed skating team, the International Skating Union announced tonight.

Taylor will have full control over the team, together with authority to replace, if necessary, any members chosen at the recent annual meeting of the union in event they are prevented from going abroad by unforeseen reasons, or fail to measure up to Olympic standards in preliminary tests.

The 1924 Olympics will mark the first time America has prepared to send its best talent for the speed skating events. Those chosen by the union include: Harry Kasky, national and Canadian outdoor title-holder, and William Steinmetz, former international outdoor champion, both of Chicago, and Joe Moore of New York, former indoor champion.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR FULL HOUSE

Unless it rains tomorrow the Coliseum will be full for the California-U.S.C. grid clash. That is the opinion of those handling the ticket sale for the big Bear-Trojan clash. It was announced yesterday that 57,500 tickets had been sold and that there were 25,500 tickets still to be sold. Of the number to be sold 15,000 are general admission ducats and will not be placed before the public until a few hours before the game. All seats except on the ends have been sold.

the Californians will have to prepare them for tomorrow's big game at the Coliseum. A little warming up to get accustomed to the turf and the surroundings, a good night's rest at the Ambassador and they will be all set for the combat.

ON THE JOB

Meanwhile out at U.S.C., Coach Henderson has been burning the midnight oil devising ways and means of springing his Bear trap. His team is capable of licking pretty nearly anybody and they can't see why that doesn't include California. The Trojans, with a few exceptions, are in fine shape for the fray and are worked up to a great pitch of enthusiasm. The Trojan student body, 10,000 strong, will be there to cheer them on and a lot of folks think they can win.

On the face of things California ought to win. The Bears have a big, fast team which is well balanced. Smith has a machine which can buck the line, run the ends, forward pass, punt and, if necessary, score by means of drop-kicks from the field. U.S.C. has a team which is probably as good defensively as the Bears, but has been weak all year on the offense. If the Trojans have a punch to equal their known ability to fight, they have an even chance. Tomorrow we'll find out.

Big Three Swing Into Action on Gridiron

HARVARD TAKES ON PRINCETON

Annual Clash Takes Place at Tigers' Lair

Crimson Determined to Wipe Out Recent Insults

Both Teams Far From Average of Past Few Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—It's always a great football game when old rivals with years of tradition behind them meet on the gridiron. Perhaps for that reason more than for marked football ability, it will be a great game Saturday afternoon at Princeton when the Tigers and Harvard combat in their annual struggle.

As both teams have been beaten this fall it can't be said that eastern honors will be at stake, but this is the first contest among the so-called big three.

Harvard has been out-fought and out-lucked by Princeton for something like six or seven years and will come to the Princeton field this year with a feeling of revenge such as it never felt before. There was a time when Harvard considered the game with Yale the big event but in recent years the Princeton game has become the important one.

Apparently it is something of an off year at both Harvard and Princeton. Coaches Fisher and Roper have been compelled to work overtime to build up their teams with much new material. Harvard has not shown as strong an attack as its Jersey rivals in the games played so far. The Harvard line was pretty well punctured by the Dartmouth offense. Notre Dame simply ripped the Tigers to pieces in an early season game, but Roper's men displayed decided improvement a bit later in their game against the Navy.

It would be an agreeable surprise to many of followers of Princeton and Harvard to see them break away from the old safety methods of play and open up the attack in this contest.

The forward pass in football is a much greater means of attack than most eastern coaches figure. By threatening with it even a team may scatter the defense of its opponent and thus make it possible to crash for big advances off tackle. Undoubtedly one reason for the score of the Notre Dame game is deceptive attack.

Seems as if this would be a grand time for Harvard and Princeton to open up and see what happens. Maybe they will.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WOMEN ATHLETES TO MEET AT BERKELEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, Nov. 8.—Five hundred colleges throughout the United States have been invited to send representatives to the triennial convention of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, to be held at the University of California here in the spring of 1924. The organization, composed of college women interested in athletics, held its last convention at Bloomington, Ind., in 1921, when fifty-two colleges were represented. Between the national conventions sectional meetings are held. Delegates from the wester section met last April at Stanford University.

SOULES TO BOX WITH SALVADORE

Lightweights to Furnish Feature Bout at Hollywood Stadium Tonight

A great main event, backed by an unusually strong supporting card, is sure to pack to overflowing the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight. Phil Salvadore, the local lightweight, who has been taking the call over all his recent opponents at Vernon, is slated to tackle tough Buddy Soules in the feature go. Salvadore boxed a draw with Joe Benjamin at the opening of Jack Doyle's arena, and since that time has met several good boys without dropping a decision. His most recent triumph was over Vincent (Pepper) Martin, classy New York lightweight.

Soules has appeared at Hollywood before. He proved a big card in several fights for the Legion, and boxed several tough opponents served him there.

Willie O'Brien and Young Carpentier are programmed for the semi-wind-up and promise to unfurl a great scrap. Carpentier knocked O'Brien out several months ago, and the Pasadena boy is out to reverse the tables tonight.

Speedy Sparks, a favorite in his first start here and every start thereafter, meets Sailor Ritter, an aggressive middleweight in the special event. Willie Hope, who has been going great at both Hollywood and Vernon, hooks up with the toughest opponent he has met since his first appearance here, Joe Schlocker. Schlocker is a local boy, who has been in the East for some time.

Young Bello takes on Joe Gomez at 130 pounds; Harry Ritzer and Alfred Ells get together at 145 pounds, and Pico Ramies shares the opener with Bobby Herman at 118.

AERIAL HUNTERS ARE CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD

A party of Los Angeles duck hunters who invaded Bear Valley by airplane Wednesday, returned yesterday somewhat the worse for wear, but glad that they didn't have to spend the winter up there, as it looked as if they might. Just as they were ready to start back on Wednesday afternoon a regular young blizzard full of sleet and snow came up and they had to stay overnight, but succeeded in getting out during a lull in the storm Thursday morning. Vic Fleming and Byron Morgan, in Fleming's plane, represented the motion-picture colony; L. C. Brand and E. L. Remelin were in Mr. Brand's Fokker; Ed Bellande had R. J. Burke's plane, and Doc Whitney was there with his ancient and efficient L-6 standard.

EXTERMINATOR TO COME WEST

Gallant Campaigner Will Race at Tijuana

Wonder Horse to Travel in Grand Style

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIJUANA RACE TRACK (Mex.) Nov. 8.—A reception fitting a royal visitor in which many well-known sportsmen of this section and race fans will take part, will welcome the greatest horse ever planting foot on Mexican soil within the next two weeks. This is the gallant Exterminator, known as the champion distance gelding of the American turf, who will be raced at the Tijuana meeting opening Thanksgiving Day under the silks of Willis Sharpe Kilmer, his owner, and master of the famed Sunbriar court at Binghampton, N. Y.

Following closely on the heels of Mr. Kilmer's recent announcement that Exterminator, who has already won $248,456 in stakes and purses, would be shipped westward and pointed for the $40,000 Coffroth Handicap, the $10,000 Tijuana cup and other rich stakes, plans were formulated to give this champion thoroughbred a real welcome on his arrival here.

IN ROYAL STYLE

Exterminator will be shipped in royal style from the East. He will travel in a special express car with a number of attendants. The car will arrive over the San Diego and Arizona Railway and it is the plan now to have a committee meet the train at a point in Imperial Valley and accompany it to Tijuana.

At Tijuana the car will be met by a big crowd and as Exterminator is led from it and plants his feet for the first time on Mexican soil, his neck will be draped with a wreath of garlands by Mrs. U. S. Grant, Jr., who is an ardent admirer of the thoroughbred and well-known society woman of Southern California. It was Mrs. Grant who crowned Mulciber, the winner of the Coffroth Handicap in 1922.

Exterminator will be trained by Henry McDaniels, who will also train the big string which Commander J. K. L. Ross will race here. It was McDaniels who discovered Exterminator and urged Mr. Kilmer to purchase him. Under the watchful eye of McDaniels, Exterminator won the 1918 Kentucky Derby for Mr. Kilmer.

"THE TIMES" PANORAMA OF BASEBALL

A Pictorial Highlight History of the National Game

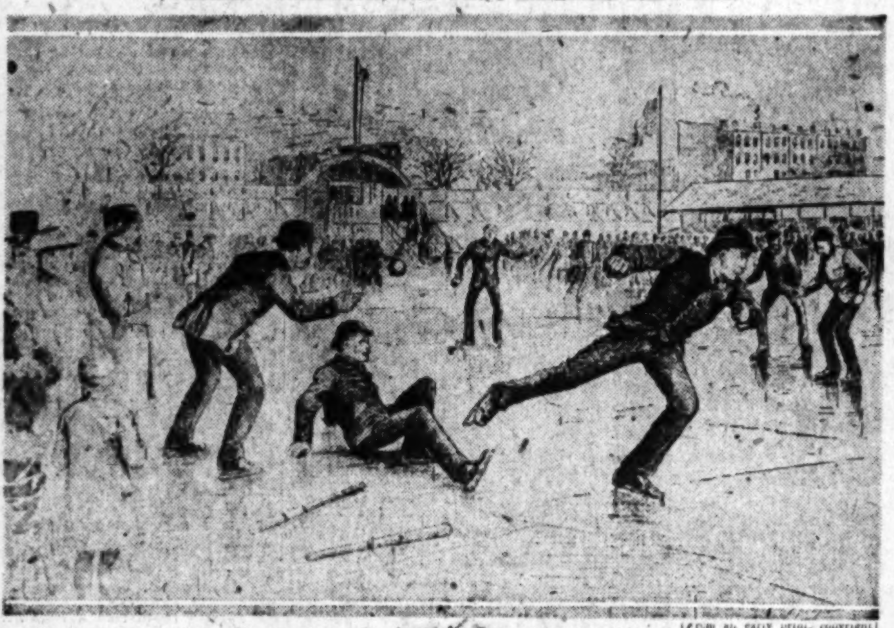
Article III.

"FATHER" CHADWICK, THE FIRST BASEBALL REPORTER



(From an early print, copyright)

A baseball game on ice. None of the fans had to yell "Slide!" This freak game was arranged in Brooklyn by "Father" Chadwick.

Henry Chadwick has been called the father of baseball. He was the game's first reporter; he was the first authoritative writer on the subject, and he knew all the early players famed to baseball history. It was through his ingenuity that the record of the early games were kept and from him came the first systematic method of scoring. Through his knowledge of the game he was instrumental in formulating many of the rules which helped to make the game closer, more tense, more scientific. He was an excellent writer and had a passion for statistics. His manuscript notes, now in the New York Public Library as part of the Spalding collection, show this. He had an even stronger passion to see baseball lifted from the slough into which it was dragged for a time in the early days when gambling threatened it.

Chadwick was on various committees for framing rules. In April, 1909, his connection with baseball was fittingly marked by the unveiling of a monument in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Of English extraction, Chadwick came of a Brooklyn family. His name is associated as sporting writer with all the leading New York papers, and in 1860 his name is to be found in the New York Clipper. He retired from this kind of journalism in 1886 and became one of the editors of Outing, besides contributing to Sporting Life. He compiled and wrote many small books descriptive of the game.

Nearly every one of our games has had in its history some odd tricks practiced on it. In early days, when kings and queens played chess, there used to be chess tournaments and a huge chess board laid on a vast field, where the pawns and the knights and the castles and the bishops and the kings and queens were courtiers on horseback, moving from one square to another. There is indoor golf and parlor croquet and golf played in the snow with colored balls. Henry Chadwick, in the winter of 1883-84, hit upon a brilliant idea—to have a game of baseball on the ice. Washington Park, in Brooklyn, was the site selected, and the results are clearly demonstrated by a contemporary sketch of the scene. You remember in Dickens's "Pickwick Papers" the remark of Mr. Winkle when he found himself on skates and Sam Weller essayed to pilot him. "How slippery it is Sam," said Mr. Winkle. "Not an uncommon thing upon ice, sir," replied Mr. Weller. Mr. Chadwick's men found there were other places that one could slide to than bases. The ice game may be put down as one of the freaks of baseball history.

Cue Giants to Play Off Tie December 17

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The final match for the world's championship 18.2 balk line billiards championship between Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran, will be held at Orchestra Hall here December 17, 18 and 19, according to announcement made by President B. E. Bensinger of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, who directed the New York tournament.

The match will be for 1500 points and will be played in blocks of 500, it was stated.

Cochran, whose performance in the New York matches astonished billiard fans, passed through Chicago yesterday en route to his home in Hollywood. He said he would spend most of the time intervening before the matches here practicing and conditioning himself for his chance for the title.

Hoppe is planning a tour through eastern and middle western cities until the time of the play-off.

Illinois and Wisconsin Struggle in Big Ten Contest

ZUPPKE'S MEN FAVORED

Gerber Declared Ineligible for Badger Eleven on Eve of Battle; Notre Dame Faces Nebraska

BY WALTER ECKERSALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Attention of gridiron fans in the Middle West is focused on the struggle between Illinois and Wisconsin at Urbana Saturday which will bring together two undefeated western conference elevens.

Although the Cardinal was held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota, the team will show vast improvement on the week-end, despite the fact that Gerber, one of the best Badger linemen, has been declared ineligible. An incident of this kind, happening as it does almost on the eve of Wisconsin's most important struggle of the year, will tend to spur the players to greater effort. They will enter the contest with kindled spirit which may carry them along at a merry clip in their quest of a victory.

Illinois undoubtedly will rely upon the offensive and defensive system which has resulted in victories over Iowa, Northwestern and Chicago, not to mention Nebraska and Butler. The close and open attack will be mixed in its customary deceptive manner, with the result that Grange is expected to be slipped across the goal line on either a run or on the receiving end of a forward pass.

Notre Dame, conqueror this year of Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech, will take on Nebraska, last year winner of the Missouri Valley championship. Nebraska also vanquished Notre Dame last year. Coach Rockne is expected to start with his first-string team against the Cornhuskers.

JUNIOR LEAGUERS TO BOWL TONIGHT

The Junior League will play its sixth round matches tonight, the Shriners Lunch and Blue Diamond Plaster teams to clash on the Angelus Bowling Academy alleys.

Eddie Cleckner announces that open house play will be in session on Sunday and that on Monday, the Mercantile League will play its seventh round. All other leagues are to play seventh round matches next week.

Jefferson and Roman Midgets in Tie Battle

Jefferson and Los Angeles High School lightweight football teams battled to a 7-to-7 tie yesterday afternoon on the Presidents' Field, neither team having any appreciable edge.

The Pioneer midgets scored first in the second quarter when Alamada took the ball over. A recovered fumble in the second half gave the Jefferson team their touchdown.

Alamada and Tupper did especially well for the Romans, while Brunick and Cirino played good ball for Jefferson.

The line-ups:

Jefferson (7.)		L. A. High (7.)
Ruis	L.E.R.	Lyons
Johnson	L.T.R.	Robertson
Keiar	L.G.R.	Lowers
Garcia	C.	Cohen
McLean	R.G.L.	Philo
Moran	R.T.L.	Thompson
Falk	R.E.L.	Dollins
Cirino	Q.	Cushing
Dade	L.H.R.	Tupper
Brunick	R.H.L.	Alameda
Shuken	F.	Amestoy

In deciding next year's French military boxing championships qualifying rounds will be held in various cities where the troops are quartered. The bouts will take place February 1 to 10 and the finals in Paris February 27 to 29.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

There is no baseball in the major leagues, as he knew it when with the Chicago Cubs, according to Frank Chance.

He attributes this mainly to the "rabbit ball." Base stealing is largely a lost science, and the art of sacrificing is going the same way.

"Why, they don't even play the orthodox hit-and-run any more," said Husk. "When a man gets on first base he pays no attention to the batter, and the batter ignores him. The batsmen just goes up and takes a toehold, and if one comes along that looks fat he just lays on it regardless of whether the runner has started or not. We don't think any more of playing for one or two runs even early in the game.

"It's just a case of sloughing the ball. This suits the ball players. They always did like their base hits, and are even more fond of them now."

So it isn't all directly due to the "rabbit ball," this epidemic of .300 hitters, but partly to the style of game and changed spirit which it has produced. Any player in any period of the history of baseball should be a good hitter when allowed to hit how and when he pleases. There would have been more .300 men in the old days even with a less lively ball had they been permitted to follow this system.

Chance does not believe the player of today puts quite so much into the game, either of thought or physical effort. He attributes this to the shortage of high-class talent. With nobody on the bench capable of taking his place, a regular feels sure of his job.

Unquestionably, many of the smaller colleges in football are handicapped for the lack of a good trainer.

The value of such a man to the gridiron entourage of an eleven has been demonstrated at the University of Southern California. Jannes Anderson, late of Sweden, apparently is the goods. Mr. Anderson was installed this year as the official bone-rubber and muscle-soother.

Jannes just about earned his season's salary when he got Hawkins and Phythian in shape for the Stanford game. Few believed this could be accomplished, but the scientific Swede turned the trick. Without Phythian and Hawkins the record of the Trojan in their conference games might read two lost and none won instead of a .500 percentage.

Jannes wasn't taken to Seattle with the team. The players missed his ministrations. Also they may have interpreted his absence as an omen of the ill-luck which befell them. When the team left for Stanford there were loud calls for Jannes, and he accompanied the athletes. Now if he can rehabilitate Gordon Campbell his fame is established, and the athletes no doubt would be in favor of voting him a degree of some sort. Or they might vote him into one of the frats, it being perfectly proper to tack a few Greek letters onto a Scandanavian when his intellectual achievements merit it.

Reports regarding Johnny Mitchell's play last season, which will surprise most of the fans, are being brought by those returning from the big leagues.

According to these, Mitchell played the poorest game of his career. He was miles below his best form. On the Coast, Mitchell was not a flashy player. But he was steady, and hit well. And while past the age when most players graduate, it was felt that he would make the grade.

Then came the year of idleness on the New York bench before he was traded to Boston. But it was not that which did the real damage. Soon after joining the Red Sox a hard grounder hit him a terrific smash in the mouth, knocking out several teeth.

The housekeeper, butler, head coachman, master's valet, and mistress's maid are the nobility and gentry of the servants' hall in London; while footmen, grooms and maids are commoners.

STAR NAGS MAY MEET IN BIG TILT

Ferris Offers Great Purse for Special Zev, My Own, In Memoriam Race

BY ED O'MALLEY

Dick Ferris, manager of the Culver City racing organization, kept the wires busy yesterday endeavoring to get in touch with the owners of Zev, My Own and In Memoriam. Ferris telegraphed the different owners that if they could come to some kind of an agreement he would stage a special Christmas Day race at Culver City track, wherein the three crack thoroughbreds could meet at a distance decided upon by their respective owners.

Ferris added that he would put up a $50,000 guaranteed purse for this feature event. It is now up to the easterners to bring off what would probably be the greatest special race ever stage in America. Ferris expects to receive answers today from his various messages.

Work on the stables at Culver City was started yesterday and will be pushed along fast. The buildings will accommodated about 1000 horses. Several stables are already on the ground, but will have to seek temporary quarters near by until the regular buildings are erected. It is the intention of Ferris to have continuous work on the spacious grand stand. The night labor will be prosecuted under strong electric lights. By this means Ferris expects to have the grand stand finished in ample time for the scheduled opening.

Secretary W. W. Finn is a busy agent on the ground just now and is sending things along at a rapid gait in every line of the new plant.

BABBITT

(SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS.)
George F. Babbitt, a prosperous realtor of the fast-growing young city of Zenith, and Myra, his wife, together with their children, Verona, Ted and Tinka, reside in the Floral Heights section. Babbitt is at once practical and whimsical. He is a hustler and an exponent of "100 per cent efficiency ideas as applied to both his home and business. He is conveniently honest, a conscientious worker and a tireless booster for his city. His instincts are conventional. His closest friend, Paul Riesling, is unhappily married.

This advance in civilization could be carried too far, Babbitt perceived. Noel Ryland, sales manager of the Zeeco, was a frivolous graduate of Princeton, while Babbitt was a sound and standard ware from that great department store, the State University. Ryland wore spats, he wrote long letters about city planning and community singing, and though he was a Booster, he was known to carry in his pocket small volumes of poetry in a foreign language. All this was going too far. Henry Thompson was the extreme of insularity, and Noel Ryland the extreme of frothiness, while between them, supporting the state, defending the evangelical churches and domestic brightness and sound business, were Babbitt and his friends.

With this just estimate of himself—and with the promise of a discount on Thompson's car, he returned to his office in triumph.

But as he went through the corridor of the Reeves Building he sighed, "Poor old Paul! I got to— Oh, damn Noel Ryland! Damn Charley McKelvey! Just because they make more money than I do they think they're so superior. I wouldn't be found dead in their stuffy old Union Club! I—Somehow, today I don't feel like going to work. Oh, well—"

He answered telephone calls, he read the four o'clock mail, he signed his morning's letters, he talked to a tenant about repairs, he fought with Stanley Graff.

Young Graff, the outside salesman, was always hinting that he deserved an increase of commission, and today he complained, "I think I ought to get a bonus if I put through the Heiler sale. I'm chasing around and working on it every single evening, almost."

Babbitt frequently remarked to his wife that it was better to "con your office help along and keep 'em happy 'stead of jumping on 'em and poking 'em up—get more work out of 'em that way," but this unexampled lack of appreciation hurt him, and he turned on Graff:

"Look here, Stan; let's get this clear. You've got an idea somehow that it's you that do all the selling. Where d' you get that stuff? Where d' you think you'd be if it wasn't for our capital behind you, and our lists of properties, and all the prospects we find for you? All you got to do is follow up our tips and close the deal. The hall porter could sell Babbitt-Thompson listings! You say you're engaged to a girl, but have to put in your evenings chasing after buyers. Well, why the devil shouldn't you? What do you want to do? Sit around holding her hand? Let me tell you, Stan, if you're girl is worth her salt she'll be glad to know you're out hustling, making some money to furnish the home nest, instead of doing the lovey-dovey. The kind of fellow that kicks about working overtime, that wants to spend his evenings reading trashy novels or spooning and exchanging a lot of nonsense and foolishness with some girl, he ain't the kind of upstanding, energetic young man with a future—and with vision—that we want here. How about it? What's your ideal, anyway? Do you want to make money and be a responsible member of the community, or do you want to be a loafer with no inspiration or pep?"

Graff was not so amenable to vision and ideals as usual. "You bet I want to make money! That's why I want that bonus! Honest, Mr. Babbitt, I don't want to get fresh, but this Heiler house is a terror. Nobody'll fall for it. The flooring is rotten and the walls are full of cracks."

"That's exactly what I mean. To a salesman with a love for his profession, it's hard problems like that that inspire him to do his best. Besides, Stan— Matter o' fact, Thompson and I are against bonuses as a matter of principle. We like you and we want to help you so you can get married, but we can't be unfair to the others on the staff. If we start giving you bonuses, don't you see we're going to hurt the feeling and be unjust to Penniman and Laylock? Right's right, and discrimination is unfair, and there ain't going to be any of it in this office! Don't get the idea, Stan, that because during the war salesmen were hard to hire, now, when there's a lot of men out of work there aren't a slew of bright young fellows that would be glad to step in and enjoy your opportunities, and not act as if Thompson and I were his enemies, and not do any work except for bonuses. How about it, heh? How about it?"

"Ah—well—gee—of course—" sighed Graff, as he went out, crabwise.

Babbitt did not often squabble with his employees. He liked to like the people about him; he was dismayed when they did not like him. It was only when they attacked the sacred purse that he was frightened into fury, but then, being a man given to oratory and high principles, he enjoyed the sound of his own vocabulary and the warmth of his own virtue. Today he had so passionately indulged in self-approval that he wondered whether he had been entirely just.

"After all, Stan isn't a boy any more. Oughtn't to call him so hard. But, rats, got to haul folks over the coals now and then for their own good. Unpleasant duty, but— I wonder if Stan is sore? What's he saying to McGoun out there?"

So chill a wind of hatred blew from the outer office that the normal comfort of his evening homegoing was ruined. He was distressed by losing that approval of his employees to which an executive is always slave. Ordinarily he left the office with a thousand enjoyable fussy directions to the effect that there would undoubtedly be important tasks tomorrow, and Miss McGoun and Miss Bannigan would do well to be there early, and for heaven's sake remind him to call up Conrad Lyte soon's he came in. Tonight he departed with feigned and apologetic liveliness. He was as afraid of his still-faced clerks—of the eyes focused on him, Miss McGoun staring with head lifted from her typing, Miss Bannigan looking over her ledger, Mat Penniman craning around his desk in the dark alcove, Stanley Graff sullenly expressionless—as a parvenu before the bleak propriety of his butler. He hated to expose his back to their laughter, and in his effort to be casually merry he stammered and was raucously friendly and oozed wretchedly out of the door.

But he forgot his misery when he saw from Smith street the charms of Floral Heights; the roofs of red tile and green slate, the shining new sun parlors and the stainless walls.

III

He stopped to inform Howard Littlefield, his scholarly neighbor, that though the day had been springlike the evening might be cold. He went in to shout "Where are you?" at his wife, with no very definite desire to know where she was. He examined the lawn to see whether the furnace man had raked it properly. With some satisfaction and a good deal of discussion of the matter with Mrs. Babbitt, Ted and Howard Littlefield, he concluded that the furnace man had not raked it properly. He cut two tufts of wild grass with his wife's largest dressmaking scissors; he informed Ted that it was all nonsense having a furnace man—"big, husky fellow like you ought to do all the work around the house;" and privately he meditated that it was agreeable to have it known throughout the neighborhood that he was so prosperous that his son never worked around the house.

He stood on the sleeping-porch and did his day's exercise: Arms out sidewise for two minutes, up for two minutes, while he muttered, "Ought to take more exercise; keep in shape;" then went in to see whether his collar needed changing before dinner. As usual, it apparently did not.

The Lettish-Croat maid, a powerful woman, beat the dinner gong.

The roast of beef, roasted potatoes and string beans were excellent this evening, and after an adequate sketch of the day's progressive weather states, his four-hundred-and-fifty-dollar fee, his lunch with Paul Riesling, and the proven merits of the new cigar lighter, he was moved to a benign, "Sort of thinking about buying a new car. Don't believe we'll get one till next year, but still we might."

Verona, the older daughter, cried, "Oh Dad, if you do, why don't you get a sedan? That would be perfectly slick! A closed car is so much more comfy than an open one."

"Well, now, I don't know about that. I kind of like an open car. You get more fresh air that way."

"Oh, shoot! That's just because you never tried a sedan. Let's get one. It's got more class," said Ted.

"A closed car does keep the clothes nicer," from Mrs. Babbitt: "You don't get your hair blown all to pieces," from Verona; "It's a lot sportier," from Ted; and from Tinka, the youngest, "Oh, let's have a sedan! Mary Ellen's father has got one." Ted wound up, "Oh, everybody's got a closed car now, except us!"

Babbitt faced them: "I guess you got nothing very terrible to complain about! Anyway, I don't keep a car just to enable you children to look like millionaires. And I like an open car, so you can put the top down on summer evenings and go out for a drive and get some good fresh air. Besides—a closed car costs more money."

"Aw, gee whiz! If the Dopplebraus can afford a closed car, I guess we can!" prodded Ted.

"Humph! I make eight thousand a year to his seven! But I don't blow it all in and waste it and throw it around, the way he does! Don't believe in this business of going and spending a whole lot of money to show off, and—"

They went with ardor and some thoroughness into the matter of streamline bodies, hill-climbing power, wire wheels, chrome steel, ignition systems and body colors. It was much more than a study of transportation. It was an aspiration for knightly rank. In the city of Zenith, in the barbarous twentieth century, a family's motor indicated its social rank as precisely as the grades of the peerage determined the rank of an English family—indeed, more precisely, considering the opinion of old county families upon newly created brewery barons and woolen mill viscounts. The details of precedence were never officially determined. There was no court to decide whether the second son of a Pierce-Arrow limousine should go in to dinner before the first son of a Buick roadster, but of their respective social importance there was no doubt; and where Babbitt as a boy had aspired to the Presidency, his son Ted aspired to a Packard twin-six and an established position in the motored gentry.

ARGENTINA HOLDS UP MINIMUM PRICE LAW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 8.—The Argentine government has suspended for six months the minimum price law thus terminating the three weeks' deadlock between American and British packers here and live stock raisers. The packers had suspended their export operations because they found it impossible to operate wihtout violating the law.

It is pretty well conceded that the law will not be put into effect again, because never in Argentine history has there been such widespread clamor for the repeal of any measure as from the persons it was designed to protect.

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

FLOWER SHOW AWARDS MADE

Redlands Exhibit Declared Larger Than Ever

D. M. Kirkpatrick in Race With Mrs. A. E. Grow

Chrysanthemum Entries Are Main Attraction

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Nov. 8.—The great arcade of the Santa Fe Station and Chamber of Commerce Building here was a mass of flowers this afternoon when the annual fall flower show opened. King Chrysanthemum reigns at the show this year, as usual at the fall show.

There are also many beautiful exhibits of zinnias, dahlias, roses, begonias and other flowers.

The race for the grand prizes this year was between Mrs. A. E. Grow and D. M. Kirkpatrick. Each fall they are close contestants and the race is always watched with interest. Honors were fairly well divided this year, although Mrs. Grow has a shade the best, for she took two cups and one trophy, while Mr. Kirkpatrick took the two big trophies.

GRAND AWARDS

The grand awards were: city of Redlands, amateur cup, won by Mrs. A. E. Grow; Chamber of Commerce open cup, won by Mrs. A. E. Grow; society's trophy for perfect exhibit, won by D. M. Kirkpatrick; trophy for best amateur exhibit, won by D. M. Kirkpatrick; trophy for best professional exhibit, won by Mrs. A. E. Grow; gardeners' trophy, won by Peter Wierenga Guerth; trophy for basket of mixed flowers, Mrs. W. G. Craig; Mrs. E. M. Lyon trophy for school exhibits, won by Kingsbury school.

The school exhibit was exceptionally good. Every school in the city was represented, the blossoms being from plants which were distributed last spring by the Redlands Horticultural and Improvement Society, which conducts the show. This work was done by C. G. White, Raymond Hornby and T. H. Doan. The same plan will be followed next year and also the children will be urged to plant roses, especially climbing roses.

TO ENLARGE SPACE

The exhibit is much larger this year than ever before. The exhibits of schools were so large that next year it is planned to have a special place for them.

The judges for the show this year were Paul St. John and Robert McFarland of Pasadena. The most perfect exhibit in the show was the vase of single pink chrysanthemums entered by D. M. Kirkpatrick, which attracted so much attention.

Overcome by Gas, Woman Likely to Die

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Gertrude Miller, 65 years of age, is in a critical condition at her home, 117 Plymouth avenue, Virginia City, as a result of being overcome late this afternoon by monoxide poisoning, the result of an overheated gas stove in her home.

Overcome by the lack of oxygen in the room, Mrs. Miller fell to the floor as she endeavored to rush out for air and, as a result of the fall, paralysis developed, according to the report made to the police by Police Surgeon Frank D. Sweet and Dr. R. A. Terry, who were called. Mrs. Miller may die, the doctors said. So intense were the fumes in the room that a pet dog belonging to Mrs. Miller was overcome and died.

It will supplant the touring bureau which the association has maintained here for several years and will be the twentieth branch of the association in Central and Northern California. DRIVER'S BOND IS RAISED

Crash Victim's Condition Steadily Growing Worse According to Hospital Reports

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Nov. 8.—With the condition of F. C. Smith of Whittier, who was seriously injured in an auto accident west of Pomona Tuesday night, growing steadily worse, John T. Coleman, whose machine struck him, is at liberty today after raising the necessary $10,000 bond, the amount set by Judge White.

The original bond of $5000 was raised last night following word from the Pomona Valley Hospital that Smith was not expected to live. L. K. Rosser, business partner of Coleman in the real estate business in Los Angeles, with the assistance of an attorney raised the necessary sum.

Coleman is charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and if Smith dies he will face prosecution on a charge of manslaughter, it is believed. Mrs. Coleman, wife of the accused man, visited her husband in the jail yesterday. She is said to be prominent in society and club circles.

It was stated at the hospital today that Smith received two fractures of the skull and other injuries in the crash and that he is steadily growing weaker.

Coleman was traveling east at the time of the accident and Smith was driving west. Coleman is said by witnesses to have been traveling at a terrific rate of speed and to have been driving on the wrong side of the road. Mrs. Robert Lawler, who, with her husband, was driving directly behind the Coleman machine, is said to have seen Coleman throw a bottle out of his sedan which was picked up by Mrs. Cecil George, wife of a rancher at the west city limits. Police assert that it contained whisky.

Coleman will not discuss the accident but it is said that he has expressed considerable anxiety concerning the injured man's condition.

CLUBMAN IS ORDERED TO FLEE STATE

Kemp Fritz Fined $200 and Given Suspended Sentence at Pomona

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Nov. 8.—Slipping quietly into the courtroom of Judge Bowen at 2 o'clock this afternoon, accompanied only by his attorneys, Kemp Fritz, well-known local club, lodge and business man, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. He was given a six months' suspended sentence, fined $200 and ordered to leave the State. Fritz was arrested on complaint of Daniel Ziegler, son of John Ziegler, local realty dealer, and county probation officers are said to have the testimony of about twenty Pomona High School boys that Fritz was accused of immoral acts.

Fritz was prominent in Boy Scout work here, and the acts are asserted to have taken place at mountain cabins while on weekend trips with boys, and at a room which Fritz is said to have maintained in Los Angeles.

NO SMOKING ALLOWED IN OIL STATION

Bakersfield Councilmen Provide Fine and Jail in New Ordinance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 8.—Cigar, pipe and cigarette-smoking motorists had best watch their smokes thirty days hence and thereafter, in approaching oil and gasoline filling stations. To be found guilty of smoking near gasoline and other internal combustiles at public service stations after that date will make the smoker liable to a maximum fine of $300 or ninety days in jail or both, according to the Service Station Ordinance, passed by the City Council.

The ordinance was originally designed to protect motorists against false labelling and substitution of gasoline and engine oils and while they were at it Councilmen Baer, Griffith and Carlock decided to tack on a measure which would "also protect the motorist, the service man and property from dangerous fires." They so informed Councilman Stoner, who declared that the antismoking clause was a surprise to him. A vast majority of service station operators favored the antismoking clause, Councilmen Baer and Griffith said.

FOUR CARS TURN OVER ON SLIPPERY HIGHWAY

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 8.—[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH] Wet pavement, caused four cars to turn over north of Santa Barbara. Philip J. Clay, bond salesman of 724 South Spring street, Los Angeles, was seriously injured today when his car turned over fifteen miles north of here and landed on his neck. Baron Long, lessee of U. S. Grant Hotel in San Diego, removed him to Santa Barbara where he is under medical care. His condition is not believed to be critical. Three large touring cars turned over on Nojoqui Road owing to the slippery pavement at noon today. They were within 200 yards of each other. None of the occupants was seriously injured.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 8.—Word that the Navy contemplates establishing an electrical trades school here, with possible enrollment of 200 bluejackets, was received today by Rear-Admiral Robertson, commander of the Eleventh Naval District. EXPLAINS SEAL BEACH ROW

Progress and Not "Dry" Question Point of Issue, Former Town Official Asserts

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 8.—The political fire which burst into flames Tuesday night when three members of the Board of Trustees ousted City Attorney Swanner and named a plumber as City Recorder is not based on an issue between "wet" and "dry" factions, it was declared today by John May, former Recorder of the town.

The issue, he said, is rather one of progressiveism versus decadence. Plans for ousting Mayer Richards and the election of William Templeman, as Mayor of Seal Beach, are now well under way, May said, and when the change is effected Seal Beach will be put in its rightful place among Southern California cities that are growing and enjoying prosperity, he declared.

Coincident with May's declaration came word today from Santa Ana, county seat, that a writ of mandamus has been filed there to compel Mrs. Ollie R. Patrick, City Clerk of Seal Beach, to certify to the sufficiency of a recall petition aimed at Mayor Richards. A copy of the petition attached to the writ, attacks Mayor Richards and declares him to be incompetent and an obstructionist, it was said.

May was emphatic today in his declaration that the so-called liquor element does not enter into the present political controversy. The opposition faction of which Mayor Richards is the leader declared the action of three of the Board of Trustees Tuesday night in ousting City Attorney Swanner was illegal because notice of the meeting had not been sent to all five of the members of the board. This is denied by May, who declared that sufficient notice of the meeting was given every city official concerned.

Sanatorium for Residence Zone Starts Tempest

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

SIERRA MADRE, Nov. 8.—When is a sanatorium not a sanatorium? This was the question set before the Sierra Madre City Trustees at a recent meeting.

The dispute arose when Dr. Caldwell, N.D.D.C., asked for a building permit to erect a Sierra Madre Health Home. Stating that it would in no way be a sanatorium, a permit was granted the doctor.

Then came a flock of residents living near the proposed institution vigorously protesting to the board. H. J. Fenell, P. Carter, members of the Civic Association, and others voiced their views and convictions. Mayor Robert Mitchell then said that until a sanatorium had been erected the board could do nothing as no law had been broken. He suggested a watch-and-wait policy.

Carter advanced the theory that perhaps Dr. Caldwell would be killed in an automobile accident some time and that his successors would turn the place into a tubercular sanatorium. His theory was declared rather premature by the board.

Finally it was brought out that the spot where the building was to be erected was in Zone A, or residential district, and the building permit was rescinded.

DEATH IS SUDDEN

Alhambra Resident Dies on Eve of Birthday Celebration

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 8.—John W. Roland, who would have celebrated his seventy-third birthday today, was found dead in bed this morning at his home, 106 East Commonwealth avenue, by his daughter, Mrs. Garnet Farrell, with whom he had made his home. Mr. Roland's wife died November 5, 1922, and her funeral was conducted a year ago today.

Mr. Roland walked downtown from his home last night, but complained of feeling ill, although it was not thought his condition was serious. He retired at 8 o'clock. Heart disease is thought to have been the cause of his demise. He was a native of Iowa and had lived in Alhambra twelve years. For many years he was in the furniture and undertaking business in Sterling, Colo. Funeral services will be Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral chapel of Turner, Stevens & Turner.

RANCHER HAS HIS CAR BACK MINUS FIXTURES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Nov. 8.—Joseph Kemna, rancher of West Ninth street, today retrieved the touring car which was stolen last night from the garage in the rear of his home. The car was found abandoned in the La Verne district, but before deserting it, the thieves had stripped it of equipment. Their plunder included four new tires, one new storage battery, all the seat cushions and one hub cap. In departing, however, they left behind a set of decrepit cushions from another car and it is presumed that the thieves had in their possession a machine of like make which they wished to re-equip.

DOCTOR SURPRISES BURGLAR AT WORK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 8.—Returning to his home on Champion Place last night, Dr. L. J. Butka surprised a burglar engaged in packing a large quantity of clothing and other articles. As the doctor stepped in the front door the marauder left through the rear exit. Dr. Butka snatched a revolver and fired several shots at the man.

"WHITTIER DAY" TO BE LAUNCHED

City in County to Honor Its Poet Namesake

Banquet for College Will be Given at Biltmore

Backers Plan to Make Event Annual Observance

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Nov. 8.—The town of Whittier this year will establish what it plans to make an annual custom in the observance on December 17 of the birthday of the New England poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, for whom the town was named.

On December 17 there will be held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles a John Greenleaf Whittier $100,000 banquet in the interest of Whittier College. One thousand plates are being sold for this affair at $100 a plate to create a cash fund of $100,000 to assist in creating a building fund and in enlarging the endowment of the institution, founded around the ideals of the Quaker poet. This event is being backed by the Chamber of Commerce of Whittier and all civic and business organizations of the town and will be attended by people from all over Southern California. Speakers of national reputation will be on the program.

Plans of a civic nature have been made to better acquaint the citizens of Whittier with the life and works of the great American poet. Monday, December 17, will be Whitter Day in the public schools of the district. Whittier programs will be given to which the public will be invited.

Sunday, December 16, will be "Whittier Sunday" in all the churches of Whittier and the pastors of the town will speak from some theme in the life or works of Whittier.

During the week of December 10 to 17, the business houses of Whittier are planning to co-operate in a "Whittier Week" with window decorations and displays commemorating Whittier. It is expected that lithograph pictures of Whittier will form the center of most of these displays.

The Whittier Public Library is already experiencing a keen demand for books about Whittier, his life, and volumes of his poems. A special "Whittier shelf" has been set aside.

December 4 to 10 will be "Reservation Week" in Whittier, during which time the sale of plates for the $100,000 banquet will be completed.

Motive Back of Recluse Suicide Still Mystery

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 8.—Mystery still surrounds the motive which prompted William B. Griffith, 52 years of age, recluse, to end his life by taking gas Tuesday morning at his home, 1838 Eighth street. Efforts to reach relatives have failed, according to authorities conducting an investigation.

More than $10,000 in gold coin, checks and postal money orders were found in the room in which the body was discovered. Little is known of the man, although he is thought to have resided here two years.

Papers found in Griffith's trunk showed that he had stopped communications with persons in Pennsylvania, Montana and Idaho, where he is believed to have been a miner. The last letter bears the date of 1915.

FAVORS SCHOOL BONDS

Board of Education Decides Issue Is Pressing Requirement

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 8.—A bond issue of $600,000 to provide for additions to elementary and high school buildings and for the purchase of a site for a new high school, was decided on by the Board of Education at its meeting last night, and announcement of the school enlargement plans was made by Superintendent of Schools C. E. Barber.

The proposed bond issue will probably be placed before the voters at a special election on December 18. Of the amount to be voted on, $250,000 will be needed for additions to the present high school plant and for a new site. Approximately $100,000 of the amount is to be used for the purchase of a site. For additions to the elementary schools, $350,000 of the total $600,000 will be required.

Addition of Thirty-two Square Miles Planned by Booster Club

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—Annexation of territory adjacent to Long Beach having an area of approximately thirty-two square miles, a population of about 10,000 persons and including the famous Signal Hill oil district, is being discussed here. A campaign designed to bring about an annexation election is to be launched at once by the Greater Long Beach Club, it was announced today. A canvass of residents of the territory has revealed, it is claimed, that a large majority are in favor of annexation to Long Beach.

City Manager Windham and other city officials have declared that the city will be glad to take in the territory and a large sum of money will be expended in improvements in the area if it is annexed. The territory under consideration extends from the Orange county line on the east to the present city line line of Long Beach to Wardlow Road.

Santa Paula Has Deferred Civic Halloween Rally

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA PAULA, Nov. 8.—Three thousand Santa Paula residents participated in the community rally here last night in the high school stadium. The affair was originally planned as a Halloween celebration but was postponed because of rain.

The event represents the effort of the city to substitute a good time for the whole city in the place of the usual Halloween disturbances and destruction. Plans were under the direction of a committee headed by George Caldwell, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Expenses were met by unsolicited contributions of $1. The community Halloween celebration will be made an annual affair.

BURGLAR PUT TO ROUT BY HAMMER WIELDER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Nov. 8.—A burglar who, a revolver in one hand and an electric flashlight in the other, stole into a garage in the rear of a dwelling at 508 East D street at 2 a. m., is believed to be carrying about a lame left shoulder. Awakened by the burglar's entrance, John Williamson, who was sleeping on a cot in the garage, picked up a heavy hammer and swung a heavy blow at the intruder. With a sharp cry of pain, the burglar staggered from the building and disappeared. Williamson, being unarmed, did not follow, but was able to furnish the police with a good description.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—A class of approximately thirty-five candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of the Elks ritual here Monday evening. A program of entertainment and a buffet lunch to be served in the club restaurant are to be features of the meeting. Exalted Ruler Newton M. Todd and other officers will exemplify the new ritual for the first time. The Christmas charity committee, the most important committee of the Elks organization, will be named at Monday night's meeting.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Nov. 8.—Edward Arps, an automobile tourist who arrived in Ontario yesterday from Colorado, awoke this morning in an East A street auto camp park, where he and his family are staying temporarily, to find that his trousers which he had rolled up under his head for a pillow had been removed while he slumbered and with them had gone $120 in cash and a twenty-one-jewel gold watch, which was in the pockets. The trousers were found later in the street.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8. — The largest still and moonshine whisky outfit ever rounded up by the Long Beach police was hauled to the police headquarters late last night by the newly organized liquor squad. Two prisoners, alleged to be operators of the still, were booked on charges of violating the Wright Act. They are J. B. King and Joseph Stepp of 436 Cerritos avenue. A total of 180 gallons of corn mash and seven gallons of corn whisky were seized in the raid.

STORK FULFILLS OLD PROPRECY

Boy Babies Take Lead in Anaheim Birth Records for October

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Nov. 8.—Whoever said that "for seven years after a war there shall be born a preponderanee of boy babies" must have held the blue and pink ribbons that guided the stork as it flew over Anaheim during the last month. For, according to report made today by City Clerk Merritt, nineteen of the twenty-seven babies born during October are due to disappoint their mothers by putting on long pants some day. Robert and William ranked as the most popular names for the new citizens with three each. Parents of two others selected the name of Charles.

PRIZES FOR ROSE FETE INCREASED

Pasadena to Award More Trophies at New Year Floral Pageant

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

PASADENA, Nov. 8.—Sweepstakes trophies will be awarded to the two most beautiful floats in the annual New Year's Tournament of Roses parade, Malcolm Fraser, secretary of the pageant, announced today. These two awards will be given regardless of size or class, but for the most outstanding entries. The first prize will be a grand tournament trophy and a blue banner, while the second prize will be a trophy and red banner.

These two grand awards are being made in addition to the regular list of prizes awarded for each class. Competition among the surrounding towns of Pasadena is expected to be heated this year, Mr. Fraser declares, due to the extra awards.

Extensive Plans for Armistice in Bay City District

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

VENICE, Nov. 8.—Decoration of buildings in bay cities and elaborate plans for the celebration of Armistice Day will put this year's entertainment in a class by itself, according to members of the Venice Amusement Men's Association and American Legion Post, No. 177, under whose auspices arrangements are being made.

William Rossman, World War veteran, said to be the only man to walk the wings of an airplane while blindfolded, will give an exhibition. Frank Tommick will pilot the plane. Rossman recently came to the bay district from Texas.

Included in the celebration will be a dinner-dance at the Ship Cafe. Two bands have been engaged for the occasion, according to the committees in charge.

In the evening a spectacular fireworks display will be given on the beach between the Venice and Ocean Park piers.

EXPOSITION IS SUCCESS

More Than Thousand at El Monte Industrial Exhibit

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL MONTE, Nov. 8.—With a Tuesday night crowd equaling that of the opening night, and a better show each evening, the first annual Merchants' Industrial Exposition here is already a big success, according to officials of the Chamber of Commerce. Last night's attendance was over the thousand mark.

Automobiles, furniture, radio outfits and merchandise of all kinds are being given away to those who register their names at the exposition. The style show, in which attractive young women act as mannikins, is causing a great deal of comment.

Plans are being made for celebration of Armistice Day at the big tent. The local post of the American Legion will have charge.

TWO NEW BANKS FOR LONG BEACH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—The organization of two new financial institutions in Long Beach loomed as possibilities here today, following the announcement that Frank F. Merriam, Speaker of the Assembly, and L. W. Klinker are preparing preliminary plans for one bank, of which, it is reported, Speaker Merriam is to be president. Mr. Klinker is president and manager of the Guarantee Title Company of Long Beach.

The other proposed institution, it is rumored, will be a branch of the Central Labor Bank, of Los Angeles. Ways and means of establishing the latter institution here will be discussed at a meeting of labor-union men tonight.

TWO HURT IN CAR MISHAP AT BAD TURN

Tulare Countys Death Trap Causes Vehicle to Overturn on Road

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Nov. 8.—Tulare's "death curve" again brought disaster when the brakes of A. L. Sanders's car failed to work as he attempted the sharp turn and the machine rolled over on the highway several times. Sanders, who lives in San Diego, and W. H. Thrope, rancher of Southern Tulare county, whom he had picked up en route to Tulare, were both seriously injured, although they are expected to recover. They were taken to a local hospital by passersby.

Tulare Supervisors recently petitioned the State Highway Commission to change the curve. Many lives have been lost at this point and the Southern Pacific right of way, lying directly beyond adds to danger for the motorist.

CHURCH RANSACKED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 8.—The Christian Science Church of Santa Monica was entered last night by means of a pass key and every drawer in desks and cabinets ransacked, according to a report filed at Santa Monica Police Station this morning. Authorities believe that the thief was after some definite article and it is thought the search proved unsuccessful. Investigation revealed that matches were used in lieu of a flashlight.

BECKWITH SERVICES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

Alleged Auto Bandits Held in Vancouver

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—Two men under arrest at Vancouver, B. C., in connection with an alleged hold-up there were found to be in possession of a Hudson automobile stolen from James McIntyre of 429 Linden avenue, this city, on October 23, according to word received here today by Detective Sergeants L. P. Gott and E. F. Dilts, in charge of the auto theft bureau of the Long Beach police department.

The automobile was stolen from in front of Mr. McIntyre's home before daylight on the date mentioned and bulletins were sent out to various police departments describing the car. Although Vancouver police say they have a good case of highway robbery against the pair who give the names of Stanley Jones and Harry McDermott, the Long Beach police were asked to advise whether or not they cared to extradite and prosecute the pair on automobile theft charges.

Action of the local police will depend, it is said, on the wishes of the insurance company which underwrote the McIntyre automobile.

EAGLES MARCH IN PARADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 8.—Several hundred Eagles of the upper San Joaquin Valley joined the local aerie in a spectacular outdoor parade and indoor jollification. Initiation and ritualistic work occupied several hours, but a midnight banquet and entertainment specialties gave lighter vein to the occasion.

HUGE CROP OF CORN IS GROWN

Three Billion Bushels Are Grown This Year

High Yield in Potatoes and Tobacco

Department of Agriculture Makes Report

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Large crops of corn, potatoes, apples and tobacco have been grown this year, preliminary estimates of production issued today by the Department of Agriculture showing each to be better than their five-year average.

Corn is a three-billion-bushel crop for the fifth time and at November 1 farm prices its value exceeds $2,500,000,000. Production is placed at 3,029,192,000 bushels, or about 140,000,000 bushels more than last year's crop. A considerable amount of it is soft and chaffy, however, and the quantity merchantable is estimated by the crop reporting board as 79.4 per cent as compared with 85 per cent last year.

Potatoes showed much improvement, resulting in an increase of 15,298,000 bushels over the forecast in October. Production is estimated at 416,722,000 bushels, which is about 35,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop. The increase for the month was found in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan. The quality of the crop is good in the large producing States, except in Michigan, where many are hollow, causing severe grading.

The apple crop is 193,855,000 bushels, or about 8,000,000 bushels less than last year. The commercial crop is placed at 33,522,000 barrels, with Washington and Oregon producing large crops. The size and quality are reported generally good.

Tobacco production showed a decrease from the crop forecast a month ago, with a total of 1,436,738,000 pounds, or 112,000,000 pounds more than produced last year. It is the fourth largest crop ever grown.

DEATH REVEALS PART IN BAY GOLD ROBBERY

COALINGA MAN STOLE $200,000 IN REFINERY BULLION TWENTY YEARS AGO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COALINGA, Nov. 8.—John Winters, an oil worker in this region since 1915, known as a silent and lonely man who made no friends, died here today as the result of a motorcycle accident last Sunday. It then became known that it was Winters who nearly twenty years ago robbed the Selby refinery at Port Costa, Cal., on San Francisco Bay, of about $200,000 in gold bars.

Winters, an employee of the refinery, tunneled under the company's storage vault. In a wheelbarrow he coolly carted load after load of the bars to the waterfront, where he dumped them in the bay, intending to salvage them later. Confronted with the evidence against him, Winters confessed and was sent to prison. The bars had sunk far in the oozy floor of the bay, but divers managed to recover virtually all of them.

Winters was paroled more than ten years ago.

As a result of reports, both military and fiscal guard commands in the border city slept on their arms last night.

Every hour has its fashion

Time is fleeting, hours are precious! Milady revels in the joy of selection, but how much greater her joy and after-satisfaction when accompanied by the knowledge that her choice is correct—that it bears every earmark of the aristocrat—that many flying hours may be saved by wisely shopping at Hamburger's.

At 7 a.m. Her eyes follow the ball—all others follow her! No ordinary golfing togs does she display this early in the day! A knicker suit, to be sure, but such a knicker suit! Tweed that would warm the heart of Britain's most critical sportswoman—that immediately ensconces itself in the good graces of the links devotee. A simplicity of line, a correctness of detail only the most knowing and expert atelier would attempt. Suit of 3 pieces—49.50.

At 9 a.m. Ready for town and a strenuous morning of shopping. Some insist that 'tis a wearisome task, but surely not madam in a featherweight navy charmeen. Its dignity leavened with white lace edged collar and cuffs—in the place where the waist ought to be, a half dozen tucks. And, lunching uptown, the most arrogant of tearooms will find only words of approval for her costume. $55.

At 3 p.m. a black satin-crepe, touched with the witchery of red fox and a softening frill of coffee-colored lace, finds itself ascending the steps that lead the way to a most formal call. Later, beside its tea-pouring hostess it is destined for the lion's share of attention and admiration. $145.

At 5 p.m. or thereabouts, swathed in the rich folds of a black gerona wrap, she drives at reckless speed to her own doorway. Why? Ah, there's a most important dinner-dance tonight! Before which, for beauty's sake she must catch a precious forty winks. So versatile the beauty of this black wrap of the afternoon that it may be worn this evening as well. The huge solitary tassel is so distinctive. $265.

At 9 p.m. Waiting for the music that will set in motion a hundred dancing feet! And such a frock! Apple green, skirt overhung with golden lace, butterfly bow at the back, an accentuating of the new wasp waist and fashioned of taffeta that hints of crinoline days which "They" tell us are returning. Its price a delightful surprise. $85.

At 2 a.m. The whispered exchange of confidences over—luxuriously weary, she slips from her shoulders the softest of silk padded robes. A clear turquoise blue, with wide sleeves and rows of lace that match the front lengths. $35. A peep at the nightie discloses the daintiest of lacy affairs. Not a vestige of sleeve appears, but a cunning lace shoulder tab gives a new and different arm line. Pleats add beauty and comforting fullness. Crepe. $22.50.

Cotton Ginning Report; Gossip of the "Street"

A syndicate composed of the National City Company of New York, Bankers' Trust Company of New York, William R. Compton & Co. of New York, Citizens' National Bank of Los Angeles, and Drake, Riley & Thomas of Los Angeles was the successful bidder yesterday for $5,000,000 Los Angeles Harbor improvement 4¾ per cent bonds, due $125,000 yearly from October 1, 1924, to 1953, paying a premium of $3950.

Dealers report that the bidding excited more interest than at any sale of Los Angeles bonds for some time, indicating the improvement in the municipal bond market and the strong credit standing of Los Angeles city obligations. Municipal issues from this city command a high rating in eastern financial markets and are legal investment for savings banks and trust funds in New York State.

Other bids were submitted by the following syndicates: Harris Trust and Savings Bank, First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, First National Company of Detroit, Northern Trust Company of Chicago, Wells Dicky Company of Chicago; Anglo-California Trust Company of San Francisco, California Securities Company of Los Angeles, and R. H. Moulton & Co. of Los Angeles, offering a premium of $4350 for 5 per cent bonds due 1924 to 1942, and 4¾ per cent bonds due 1943-1963.

Guaranty Company of New York, Ames Emerich & Co., Remick Hodges & Co., Estabrook & Co., Hannah, Ballin & Lee, Blyth, Witter & Co., W. A. Harriman & Co., and the Bank of Italy, offering a premium of $59,450 for 5 per cent bonds.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Los Angeles Banks and Their Relation to the Development of Overseas Business

BY F. H. CHAPMAN
(Manager Foreign Department Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank)

[This is the fourth of a series of articles written for The Times by experts in various departments of our foreign trade as it applies to Los Angeles City and Harbor. The next article will appear on Tuesday when Philip B. Kennedy, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank will discuss other factors affecting foreign trade here.]

Previous articles of this series by Mr. De Brabant and Mr. Matson have shown in an interesting and forceful manner the necessity and desirability of additional foreign trade, to and from this port. It will be the object of this article to describe the inconspicious, but nevertheless important part, that the banks play in this very essential phase of our commercial life.

The method of financing the importation of merchandise into Los Angeles is as follows: The buyer here makes his purchase from the seller abroad, and the terms being agreed upon, the buyer approaches his bankers in Los Angeles and requests them to establish with their foreign correspondent what is known as a commercial letter of credit, in favor of the seller. This letter of credit simply means that the Los Angeles bank will honor the draft drawn by the seller when accompanied by certain specified documents evidencing the shipment of the goods. This authority enables the seller to obtain his money through his own bank in the foreign country as soon as the merchandise is ready for shipment. The exportation of merchandise is usually handled in the same way except that the operation is reversed, the buyer's bank abroad establishing the credit with a Los Angeles bank for the benefit of the seller.

Shipments are sometimes made on open account, and at other times a draft is drawn on the buyer with shipping documents attached which are delivered to the latter by the bank upon payment of the draft. These two latter methods serve the purpose quite well when the buyer and seller are known to one another, or when the amount involved is too small to warrant the establishment of a letter of credit. However, for all other transactions the use of commercial letters of credit should be encouraged, whenever possible, for it is a tremendous advantage to both parties in the transaction. The seller will naturally sell his goods cheaper if he is going to get his money promptly, and the buyer is assured that shipment will be made in accordance with his instructions and he has the further assurance that he is dealing with a responsible party who is worthy of bank credit.

LETTER OF CREDIT

Applying to the bank for the establishment of a letter of credit is in many respects similar to a loan application, and credit naturally plays a very important part, unless the application is accompanied by proper security. It can readily be seen, therefore, that a banker can scarcely be expected to put forth much propaganda in connection with the development of Los Angeles foreign trade, but must of necessity keep his feet on the ground. However, the banks are doing an immense amount of missionary work such as obtaining credit information, getting their customers in touch with foreign markets, etc. Up to very recent years only one or two of the banks of the Pacific Southwest had foreign departments worthy of the name. Happily for our community, however, I am glad to say that practically all of our banks are now fully equipped to take care of any foreign transaction that may be presented to them.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been untiring in its efforts to develop our foreign trade and our harbor proportionately with the growth of this territory, and it might be appropriate to mention here that Mr. Matson, manager of their trade extension department, is the local representative of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, operating under the direct supervision of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover. The work of this bureau is invaluable and they receive cable reports daily from consular offices and United States trade commissioners all over the world, which are published in a weekly magazine called "Commerce Reports." This magazine contains trade opportunities everywhere, and brief but interesting articles classified under different commodities. These reports are available to all and can be inspected at the Chamber of Commerce, or at some of the more important banks.

While we usually think of foreign trade in terms of salesmanship, the importance of imports must not be overlooked, and here, it seems to the writer, is the field upon which our present activities should be centered until such time as our manufactories are producing on a large enough scale to warrant the sale of Los Angeles products abroad in a big way. All of our Pacific southwest manufacturers, even though they be only supplying a limited local market, require raw materials, many of which come from other parts of the world and it would seem that these could be imported, even in smaller quantities, to better advantage direct into Los Angeles harbor rather than through an eastern jobber.

RETURN CARGO PROBLEM

Strengthening this attitude is the question of balanced cargo which was touched upon in Mr. De Brabant's article. I am informed that of the foreign trade through our harbor 67 per cent is export and 33 per cent import. Consequently, if we wish to encourage the organization and operation of a Los Angeles owned mercantile marine, we must provide them with their full measure of return cargo. The intercommunity banking system now being developed in the Pacific southwest should help materially to bring merchandise into this territory through its logical port of entry, Los Angeles Harbor.

A great many people will skim over the headline of this article with the comment that foreign trade does not interest them, or have any part in their lives. Never was there a more gross misstatement than this, for every person in these United States is wearing or using something daily that contain materials from other countries. For example, take our own United States money which we would consider off-hand as being wholly and completely American. The materials used in manufacturing our currency are gathered from all parts of the world. Part of the paper fiber is linen rags from the Orient. The silk comes from Cuba or Italy. The blue ink is made from German or Canadian cobalt. The black ink is made from Niagara Falls acetylene gas smoke, and most of the green color mixed in white zinc sulphate is made in Germany. The red color in the seal is obtained from a pigment which is imported from Central America. A similar analysis can be applied to shoes, and many other articles of every-day use.

At the present time, talks are being given daily in the high schools and part-time schools of this city by bank men on banking subjects, under the auspices of the American Institute of Banking. Several of these talks touch upon our relations and the bank's relations with the rest of the world, foreign exchange, etc. Yes, the Los Angeles bankers are doing their part.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Story of the Chervonets Through Which Russia is Seeking Her Financial Balance

First-hand information regarding banking in Russia and how to remit funds to that country in an economical, reliable way, has just reached C. S. Reuter, manager of the foreign department of the Merchants' National Bank, in a letter from the State Bank of the R.S.F.S.R., the initials standing for Russian Socialist Federative Soviet Republic.

The State Bank was created following the adoption of the so-called "New Economic Policy" which authorized private trade and the accumuation of wealth in the form of gold and foreign currency.

The purpose of the bank was to assist in a revival of Russian trade and industry and to establish a stable currency. Men with previous long banking experience were placed in charge and the organization of the bank was effected rapidly and successfully, over 200 branches having been established within a period of twenty months. The State Bank now issues its own bank notes whose unit is the chervonets, nominally equal to 10 gold rubles or $5.15 United States money. Not less than 25 per cent of the value of the bank notes put into circulation must be covered by gold the stable foreign currencies like sterling dollars and Swedish kronor, the balance of the value of the notes is secured by short-term bills, securities.

The issues department is distinct from other departments of the bank and maintains on its council of five, three disinterested members delegated from the stock exchange, State control department and the commissariat for finance. It publishes a balance sheet twice a month, it hods in its own vaults gold and securities deposited as cover for the bank notes issued and receives all gold chervonets that may be minted. Its balance sheet is watched carefully in Russia and abroad as its value in relation to foreign currencies depends upon the amount of cover held against bank notes issued. The State Bank is extremely cautious in availing itself of its issue privileges.

The balance sheet of the note issuing department as of September 1, 1923, shows bank notes issued chervonets 19,400,000 or $94,700,000 of which fully 50 per cent is covered by gold, silver and foreign currencies (this is 25 per cent in excess of the legal requirements.) The balance is covered by securities covering advances on goods and other short-term paper.

FIXING A VALUE

The chervonets is quoted usually on the stock exchange about 3 per cent above the pound sterling. The State Bank accepts deposits in dollars, sterling, chervonets and such deposits can be withdrawn in the same currencies. It established a correspondent relation with a number of first-class banks in Europe and other countries and thus far has executed all orders intrusted to it by other banks conscientiously and accurately. One Los Angeles bank alone executed in one year over 1000 remittances to Russia in actual United States currency, the amount aggregating about $100,000, with not a single complaint. There are at present three ways of making remittances to Russia: First, in actual dollars; second, in pounds sterling; third, in chervonets. In its latest circular letter the State Bank is trying to popularize the chervonets, pointing out the disadvantages of remitting in other currencies as follows:

(1) Advantage is being taken by money speculators of the ignorance of the foreign money holder with regard to latest stock exchange quotations, denomination of notes, etc.

(2.) Remittances in dollars are expensive, the cost being about 5 per cent while the cost of remitting in chervonets is only 1 per cent.

(3.) The chervonets is easily exchangeable, its value well known, is equally secure from depreciation and is legal tender the country over as well as for taxes payable in gold. The State Bank does not refuse to effect remittances in dollars but Russian payees of American bank notes are handed a circular informing them of the advantages of the new Russian currency and are requested to write to their friends in America that American banks shall execute the orders in chervonets.

During the year that the chervonets has been in existence it has shown a firmness almost equal to that of the American dollar, moving parallel with the pound sterling. It remains to be seen whether the same cautious and conservative banking policy will continue to govern the managers of the bank. The whole structure depends upon the good faith of the present Russian rulers in whom the world has as yet little confidence.

Chervonets is a new word in English, but an old word in Russian. It is the old name of a gold ducat, and comes from an adjective applied to the color, red, to the redness of gold, and to the suit of hearts in the card deck. The first syllable has exactly the sound of chair; the accent is on the second syllable.

Closing View of Stock and Cotton Market

BY A. A. HOUSMAN & CO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Clevenberg's cotton letter says that reactionary sentiment both here and in Liverpool caused a reaction of 70 points and a further downturn was generally predicted. The contracts sold, however, on this theory, and to take profits were absorbed by trade interests and by bulls confident that the market won't get much reaction. Prices rallied 30 points and hung around 3360 for December until the early afternoon, when professional buying of considerable volume came in, forcing December to 3380 and later on short covering sent the market into new high ground.

The trading today appeared to be more professional than of late, the volume of country business being much smaller. The ginning was very bullish, but discounted yesterday. Watkins's crop estimate, 9,782,000, was important and as low as any, but did not immediately influence prices. The market became very erratic in the last hour. Market sentiment remains about the same; higher prices are confidently predicted later, but conservative people hesitate to advise purchases except on more of a reaction than we have had.

A. A. Housman & Co.'s closing stock letter says that there was strength all through the industrial list, without, however, any outstanding news developments. Rails generally quiet with some evidence of good buying in Wabash A. Action of the industrials today further demonstrated that the market in its present condition needs activity and strength in stocks, like Studebaker, Baldwin, Corn Products and Steel. All these were strong today, making new highs for the recovery. Traders who study charts were impressed with the market's ability to go through the apparent resistance points established a few days ago.

At times the market looks a bit artificial, but this impression is not strong enough to invite heavy selling. Traders are still disposed to work along the line of least resistance and to follow the buying side, but seem to be quite willing to take moderate profits.

WIDE FLUCTUATIONS IN COTTON OPTIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Cotton prices fluctuated widely on today's local market, with early weakness giving place to closing strength and new high marks being reached by all positions since 1920.

Traders interpreted as temporarily bearish the census ginning report. Upon a late rally came the issuance of a bullish private crop estimate and price firmed up to a 20 and 40 net higher, and 100 to 110 points over the day's low level. After the new highs had been reached the market sold down toward the close, which was steady, 6 to 10 points net higher.

Spot cotton, steady, 5 points advance; 34 55 for middling upland.

Southern markets: Galveston, 33.30, unchanged; New Orleans, 33.50, 25 points advance; Savannah, 32.75, unchanged; Norfolk, 33, unchanged; Memphis, 33.25, 25 points advance; Houston, 33.40, unchanged; Little Rock, 33.50, 25 points advance.

METAL MARKETS

Daily Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Pig-iron quotations have been reduced by Canadian furnaces by $2 per ton and by Cleveland and Chicago sellers by $1 per ton to a base of $23 at furnace, but sales were limited. Some of the smaller Connellsville coke works have reduced wages which workmen accept rather than remain idle, but the cut is not general. Important brass and copper rolling mills in the East have advanced quotations by ½ cent per pound. Copper is higher at New York at 12⅞ cents. Zinc is firm at 6.35 to 40 cents as also is lead at 6.45 to 50 cents, St. Louis. Tin is quieter and lower at 43 cents."

METAL QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Copper steady, electrolytic spot and futures 12⅞. Tin easier; spot and nearby 43.25. Iron steady, prices unchanged. Lead steady; spot 6.75. Zinc quiet, East St. Louis spot and nearby 6.35@6.37. Antimony spot 9.25.

Consider the Earnings

THE safety of a building bond depends directly on adequate and dependable earnings. It is out of these earnings that must come all charges and operating expenses, interest requirements, and funds to meet the serial maturities of principal.

The ratio of earnings of the PICKWICK CORPORATION LOS ANGELES TERMINAL BUILDING is unusually favorable.

Applications now on file for lease of the entire building insure an income, after all charges and operating expenses, of more than THIRTEEN TIMES annual interest requirements on the first mortgage bonds and over FOUR TIMES the annual principal and interest requirements combined. These annual net earnings exceed 58% of the total first mortgage issue.

Priced at 100 and interest, to yield 7%, exempt from California Personal Property Tax, these bonds offer an unusually sound investment with a profitable interest yield.

We recommend them for your investment.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Interest in Parts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—There was some falling off today in the volume of trading in the bond division of the New York Stock Exchange, due probably to the unusually large amount of new offerings out this week. The tone, however, generally held firm.

The more notable trading was in the high-grade investment railroad issues. Traders indicated much of the buying of that class of security, was of foreign origin while bargain hunters in this country continued to bid for the secondary railroad mortgages.

Market Street Railway bonds were quite lively at moderately higher prices in sympathy with the better tone of the stock. Local tractions also were in fair demand.

Some of the industrial liens were inclined to give ground on sizable offerings at concessions but price movements generally were irregular. Buying orders for public utilities continued to exceed offerings but numerous bonds in this group moved lower.

The market for active United States government bonds slowed down somewhat and net changes were relatively unimportant. There was a better demand for foreign issues, several of the recently heavy South American bonds, pointing upward.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Following are the closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, 636 South Spring street.

NEW YORK CURB

Advance Continues

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Stock prices continued to move forward in today's relatively less active curb market. Closing prices generally were above yesterday's final quotations, but in many instances were below the high of the day.

Prairie Oil and Gas was pushed up to 196 during the forenoon, but dropped back later to 193, where it closed up 3 points on the day. Other advances in the oil group included Cities Service and Imperial Oil of Canada, up 3 each; Ohio Oil up 2, and the Standard Oil group up fractionally; Illinois Pipe sold 1¼ lower.

The demand for industrials and specialties subsided, with the exception of the motors, which were fairly strong. Stutz gained a point and Durant advanced fractionally. The coal stocks moved within a narrow area, Glen Alden losing fractionally, while Reading Rights was up slightly. Gold Dust, when issued, advanced a point.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 636 South Spring street.

These funds to be applied to retirement of bonds through purchase at not exceeding par and accrued interest or through call by lot at par and accrued interest.

Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Fiscal Agent of the Loan.

Part of an amount authorized by the law of the kingdom of the Netherlands, dated June 2, 1923, approved by the crown, of which, in addition to the present issue, 65,000,000 guilders have been issued in the Netherlands and in the Dutch East Indies and £6,000,000 have been issued in London, in June, 1923.

The following is summarized from information supplied by the Dutch Ministry of Colonies. All conversions of guilders to dollars have been computed at par of exchange. (Guilder—$0.402). For more complete information we refer to circular, copies of which will be furnished upon request.

These bonds are to be direct external obligations of the Government of the Dutch East Indies.

RESOURCES AND COMMERCE

The Dutch East Indies, with an area of more than 735,000 square miles—about one-fourth the area of Ccontinental United States—have an estimated population of over 50,000,000. They are one of the richest of all colonial possessions.

The Dutch East Indies stand first in the production of quinine, copra and spices; third in the production of tin, rubber, coffee and cane sugar, and second in the exportation of the latter commodity. They rank fourth in the production of petroleum and are also important producers of tobacco, tea, rice, rattan, hemp and coal.

For the eight years, 1914-21, The Dutch East Indies had a larger favorable balance of trade than any country in the world excepting the United States. For this period this favorable trade balance was $1,587,000,000 as compared with $471,000,000 for the eight years, 1906-13.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

For 116 years from the establishment of the Colonial government in 1798 to the outbreak of the war in 1914, the aggregate ordinary revenue exceeded the expenditures, both ordinary and extraordinary. From 1906 to 1916 the ordinary budget, exclusive of expenditures on capital account, showed a surplus aggregating for that period over $44,130,000.

In more recent budgets, owing to an extension in government activities and to the large increase in salaries and wages, there have been deficits in the ordinary budget but the Netherlands Parliament has been informed that as a result of a policy of retrenchment now instituted, the ordinary budget will balance by the end of 1925. In this connection it is significant that in the proposed budget for 1924, expenditures, both ordinary and extraordinary, are less than in any of the preceding four years, and that the proposed ordinary budget for 1924 indicates a deficit of only $9,409.000 as against a deficit of $33,000,000 for 1923.

NATIONAL DEBT

The proceeds of this issue are to be used to reduce the unfunded debt. The total debt, funded and unfunded including the present issue, on October 20, 1923, was about $509,000,000 or slightly over $10 per capita. Including the present issue, about three-fifths of the debt is payable in Dutch Currency.

Out of the surpluses of ordinary revenue and out of the proceeds of loans a sum of $475,600,000 had been expended up to December 31, 1922 on capital assets, including railways, tramways, telephone and telegraph systems, tin mines, coal mines, harbor and irrigation works.

For the five years 1918-1922, the net income from government owned properties and monopolies averaged nearly $93,000,000. The estimated net income for 1923 from the same sources is $52,386,000 and for 1924 is $50,837,000.

The total amount required for interest and amortization on the entire debt (including the present issue) for 1924 amounts to $34,630,000. These figures indicate net income for 1923 from Government properties and monopolies equal to about one and one-half times the debt service for 1924.

CURRENCY

The Dutch East Indies legal tender money is identical with the Dutch Guilder, The Bank of Java, the sole bank note issuing power, had on September 8, 1923, a metallic reserve of 53% against bank notes and other demand liabilities. LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

With the exception of United States Royalties, which declined from the failure of the directors to resume dividends, the oil shares on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday exhibited a buoyant tone that carried prices somewhat higher. The most substantial advance of the day was recorded in Globe Grain and Milling common, which arose 3 points. Bonds were strong on a good buying movement.

On a final price of 14 5-8, Shell Union marked up a gain of 1-2 point. General Petroleum climbed 1-4 to 31 3-4, and Standard Oil of California moved forward 3-8 of a point to 54 3-8. Union Oil Associates gathered 1-8 at 45 1-8. On the opposite side of the market United States Royalties fell from an opening of 32½ cents to 30½ at the close, a loss of 2 1-2 cents, while Republic Petroleum was quoted at $4 per 1000 shares.

Activity in public utilities featured the bond list. Southern California Edison 5s of 1939 selling at 96, off 1-4, and the 5s of 1944 rising 1-4 to 88 3-4. Pacific Gas and Electric 5s of 1942 were taken at 90, and Southern California Telephone 5s of 1947 sold at 91.

In the mining group, Black Range was taken at 2 cents, and Gold Dust ended the day with a gain of 1-2 cent at 13. Virginia Louise sold off 1-2 cent at 4.

NEW AMENDMENTS ARE PASSED BY EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Three changes in the by-laws of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange, recommended for the better protection of investors, were approved today by the exchange's board of governors.

One amendment was adopted which would require members to file with the exchange a copy of all circulars relative to securities or containing any statements as to terms of, facilities for, or methods of dealing in securities other than market letters, before being issued to the public.

Another authorized the chairman of the exchange to execute on behalf of the exchange guarantee of the genuineness of the indorsement of any securities dealt in on the exchange and stating that such guarantee should be an indemnity against loss to any person accepting them.

The third change empowered the finance committee to prepare a budget for each fiscal year.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE TO EVERY BANK AND BANKER IN CALIFORNIA

Naturally you'll be interested in this new million-dollar national Bank and the policies of its management. Hence these few words to you.

Pacific National has no new wares to display upon the financial mart. It has no new-fangled ideas of banking. It is just a plain, old-fashioned, commercial bank transacting its business according to time-tested principles.

Pacific National has nothing novel or unusual to offer the prospective depositor. He'll get no more here than elsewhere, but the service will be always equal to the best.

Pacific National believes a customer should demand certain requirements of his banker.

Pacific National believes also that the banker should demand certain requirements of the customer, and among these that his business and account be profitable.

Pacific National believes the only premium a bank should pay for a new account is service; and that public institutions like individuals grow and prosper commensurately with their ability to serve.

Pacific National believes that commercial banking is a business of mutual confidence. The depositor must have confidence in the bank and the bank in the depositor.

Pacific National believes that the three great essentials of commercial credit are character, capacity and capital, and that the first one is the most important of all.

Pacific National believes that Los Angeles will soon be the third largest city in the United States and California the fifth largest State, and that it is bounded on the North by Oregon and not the Techachapi Mountains.

Pacific National believes that the West is still a pioneer country and that there is a tremendous amount of work ahead for us all that will require united effort; that every Californian should do his utmost to help develop the resources of this State, its industries, commerce, and agriculture, thus providing means of livelihood for the millions of people who are following the "Course of the Empire."

Pacific National believes that our business structure should rest on a foundation economically sound; that our progress and development should be carried on with level-headedness and conservatism; and that our prosperity to endure "must be based on solidity and truth and not upon hollowness and shams no matter how comely or fair-seeming they may be."

Pacific National is here to do its part, and cordially invites the accounts of individuals, firms, corporations, banks and bankers.

DEFERS DIVIDEND

Directors of the United States Royalties Company yesterday decided to defer the payment of dividends for the remainder of the quarter. The last quarterly payment was deferred until this month in expectation that the oil industry would undergo improvement, but according to B. C. Morrison, president of the company, existing low prices for oil and drilling campaigns compelled the postponement of dividends until the first of the year.

Fraudulent bankruptcy costs wholesalers and manufacturers of this country about $400,000,000 a year in losses.

L&B

Is a Gift Taxable?

The law does not purpose to tax gifts of property made between living persons, where the gifts are out-and-out gifts and where the mind of the giver at the time of making the gift is not actuated by a fear of impending death or where the mind of the giver is not influenced by the thought or desires held by one at the time of making a will.

The Inheritance Tax Attorney, however, looks upon the transfer of property by gift, with suspicion, and unless the circumstances surrounding the making of the gift are in complete accordance with the rules governing this form of taxation, the receiver of the gift will be subjected to a tax.

A Life Insurance Contract is the best means of protecting your estate from the sudden demands of the Inheritance Tax, and for providing gifts to your Beneficiaries.

Consult our Legal Department in this regard. We render this service without obligation.

If every person would see as I have seen what this company has done in its Date Gardens at Indio, every person would be just as enthusiastic as I am!

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The upward movement on the stock exchange, which reached substantial proportions in the second half of last week and was interrupted by the holidays, was resumed today with some vigor. In the end the lists of net advance running above 1 point were numerous, some stocks gaining more than that, and the more important shares participating in the movement as they had not done the day before. How much of this movement was repurchases by recent speculators for the decline and how much from distinctive speculative operations for the rise, it was not easy to determine, but there has been abundant evidence this week that operations for the rise were being conducted with more activity than on previous occasions of the sort this autumn. The day's total transactions nearly reached 1,250,000 shares; except for Wednesday and Thursday of last week, it was the largest business done since June.

Nothing in the day's news contributed to the rise in stocks, unless the carloading statement for the final week of October were to be considered. This statement was at least noteworthy in that it showed an increase, not a decrease, from the preceding week and established the nineteenth "million-car week" since the middle of May. The revised weekly estimates for a year ago have so far altered the original statements as to credit 1922 with no million-car weekly loadings, which would leave the five weeks of that magnitude in 1920 the only instances of the kind in our railway history before the present year. The evidence of prospective easy money in the weekly Federal reserve return pointed, no doubt, to another part of the situation which has influenced Wall street sentiment. The reserve ratio increased again and is higher than a year ago. Rediscounts decreased $66,000,000 during the week and reserves held for member banks were allowed to fall $30,300,000. These changes infallibly point out a comfortable market during the rest of the winter season.

Sterling touched $4.43, lower than any rate of the present year and near the figure at which the London exchange stood idle during the four months after the vigorous June recovery of 1922. The day's steadiness in other European exchange strongly suggested that special influences of a commercial character are at work on sterling. The German mark doubled in value as compared with Wednesday, an entirely meaningless fluctuation.

Prices Climb Upward

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. — Stock prices, which have been climbing upward for more than a week, have made another brisk advance in today's active market. Leading industrials rose 8 to 11 points above their lows of last week to new high levels. The day's net gains in active issues ranged from 1 to 8 points.

Another series of favorable domestic developments furnished the impetus for the rise, but much of the buying was reported as coming from trapped short interests, who had stubbornly contested the advance. Commission houses reported an increased public interest, although the buying of small investors is still a relatively negligible factor.

Higher prices for copper metal, brass and rubber, increased pig iron production, decreased oil production and imports, and optimistic survey of the packing industry by J. Ogden Armour, and another series of excellent earnings statements, particularly by some of the automotive companies, furnished ammunition for the campaign of speculators for the advance.

There were a few unfavorable developments, such as another cut in Midcontinent crude oil prices, and the further weakness of sterling exchange, but these were largely ignored.

United States Steel closed 1⅝ points higher at 94⅝, after having sold slightly above that figure. Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can, all of which reached new highs on the current movement, closed 1½ to nearly 3¼ points higher on the day.

Net gains of 3 to nearly 7 points were registered by Chandler Motors, Stewart-Warner, Hayes Wheel, Famous Players, American Tobacco B, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, General Baking, General Cigar, International Paper, Market-street Railway issues, United Railways Investment preferred, Tidewater Oil, Woolworth and a few others.

The rails showed a tendency to lag in the early dealings, but they developed strength toward the close, with good buying making its appearance in New York Central, Wabash preferred A, and Union Pacific. Northern Pacific and Illinois Central were heavy, the latter touching a new low for the year.

Call money again held at 5 per cent all day. The time money and commercial paper markets were quiet, with no change in rates.

Demand sterling dropped to another new low for the year in reflection of the large volume of bills again thrown on the market. Other exchanges were mixed, French francs developing moderate strength, while Norwegian and Danish kroner dropped sharply to new lows for the year.

Total stock sales were 1,043,500 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 90.70; net gain, 1.22; high, 1923, 105.38; low, 85.76.

"A Little Knowledge Is A Dangerous Thing"

BEFORE you accept an investment offering of any kind, no matter by whom recommended, it is highly important to know what is back of the recommendation.

Many an offering looks very attractive upon superficial examination, and it may be endorsed in perfectly good faith, but "a litttle knowledge is a dangerous thing."

Every recommendation made by W. H. Daum & Staff is based upon (a) an exhaustive investigation and analysis by qualified experts, and (b) upon the experience gained through a fifth of a century of successful industrial development service.

At the present time we are recommending several offerings of sound, successful dividend-paying enterprises (absolutely free from promotion stock), which are real factors in the industrial life of Los Angeles—enterprises which offer genuine opportunities for safe and profitable investment.

We shall be glad to make a specific recommendation backed by our "Seal of Approval," for your individual requirements if you will simply fill out and mail to us the coupon below.

"Courage, Determination and Love"

"George Washington" organized the "first great American Corporation" that history makes any mention of. It was in the year 1776, and the enterprise was known as the "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA INDEPENDENCE COMPANY."

The capitalization of this Corporation was indeed "MIGHTY," for it consisted of

"Courage, Determination and Love of Freedom"

"THOMAS JEFFERSON" drew up the Articles of Incorporation, and while the King of England refused to grant a Charter, the Company went right ahead doing business, and to make a long story short, they "put it over big" at Yorktown, some few years later.

By the way, "PAUL REVERE," a young gentleman with plenty of "HORSE SENSE," is favorably mentioned as one of the original stockholders.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

A total of nineteen Signal Hill wells are drilling or finishing below the 4500-foot mark, a survey of the local field shows. More than half of the nineteen are below the 5000-foot mark and local operators say that November will be one of the most important months in the history of the field, from a development standpoint.

Six wells are being prepared for immediate production. The list includes Acme No. 3, Keck Syndicate No. 3, Hub Rissman No. 2, Hall Harriman Jones No. 1, Connett No. 1, Marine No. 1. The first three are now swabbing for production.

The Hackworth and Brunwin Drilling Company started bailing for production at Acme No. 3 Tuesday. It was drilled to 4505 feet.

Two United Oil Company wells are nearing completion. Haas No. 4 has completed hole 5058 feet and is ready for swabbing. Bixby No. 1 is still making hole at 4675 feet with an oil sand formation at bottom.

Shell Bixby No. 3 has run tubing to the 4554-foot level and Cherry Hill is cleaning out to the -foot mark and ranks as a candidate for early completion.

General Petroleum Corporation has carried Jasper No. 1 to 5657 feet and is reaming the hole to the bottom.

The Ed R. Herwick interests are for a water test at the -foot level in Herwick No. 11, located at Frankfort street and Pasadena avenue, opposite the famous Herwick 7, pioneer well of the section.

Sand Showing

With 116 feet of oil-bearing formation showing in its Paramount No. 1 outpost well in Long Beach, the Paramount Oil Syndicate is preparing to set the oil string at the 5111-foot level, it is said. The well is located south of the Kimball Motor Truck plant west of the Pacific Electric right of way, in an area still unproven.

Paramount No. 1 has attracted considerable attention by virtue of the oil sand said to have been discovered there. Operators declare that in view of the abandonment of the Miley Mills No. 5 and the lack of showings in Miley Mills No. 4, the theory that the general trend of the Signal Hill structure is to the southwest ,is being upheld.

Dry Sand

Work at the Porterville Oil and Company well, one mile south of Poplar, is progressing steadily. When work was started recently the well was standing cemented at feet. A dry sand which has been difficult to overcome, was encountered on drilling deeper. A has been made of over tons of mud which have been pumped into the sand. This prevents the sand from running into the hole and allows the drillers to make steady progress. Officials state that they expect to run the ten-inch casing, now on the ground, into the hole soon.

Look Bad

Cores taken yesterday in the Oil Company's Weston No. 1 well in the southeast corner of the Torrance field give no indications of oil, according to drilling reports of the company. The Weston well is down 5063 feet with eight and one-fourth-inch casing being used. The last core was taken at 5055 feet.

Bailing

Drillers of the Fackler well in the Signal Hill field, belonging to the Henderson Petroleum Syndicate, were bailing yesterday in an effort to test the water shutoff. An attempt was made to complete the well several weeks ago, but the was faulty, and it was necessary to recement.

The Barry and Hoover wells, also being drilled by the Henderson syndicate, are reported down and 3400 feet, respectively.

Machinery

Completion of the rig for the well of the Joseph Dabney in the Terrance field, was yesterday. Machinery and equipment are being moved in, preparatory to beginning actual drilling operations as soon as possible.

Drilling

The Artesia Oil Company's wildcat well at Artesia, which failed to get a water shutoff at 4260 feet last week, has resumed drilling, and is down 4758 feet, drillers reported yesterday. Preparations were being made last night to take a core this morning, and if showings are good enough, another attempt will be made to complete the well. Cores taken since drilling was resumed, look favorable, it is said.

New Well

Possibility of drilling another well in the Santa Fe Springs field is being considered by the J. E. Elliott interests. The Elliott Petroleum Company already has one well producing 1500 barrels, and the Elliott Extension Oil Company also has a well producing. Both are in the Santa Fe Springs field.

on Water

Water trouble encountered in the along the south slope the west side of Signal Hill is spreading so rapidly, according to reports gathered in the field today, that operators are planning conferences with a view to adopting plans for curbing inroads of the field's greatest foe.

No. 1 and Bush and Barnes No. 1 stopped producing this week after showing water for some time. Maltby No. 1, and brought in with an initial flow of 1400 barrels, has rapidly and is making only with the gas pressure fifty pounds and rapidly. The Maltby is expected to stop flowing soon if the pressure drops much lower, operators said.

No. 1 on Atlantic avenue, opposite the Maltby, is idle attempts to bring it in proved Water trouble is said to be the cause for the failure. Special Delivery No. 3-A, Cooper Duncan, Cooper-Briggs, Hub Paulos Lekas and Hub Janish have failed in their fights against water, reports from the various field offices show.

Deeper drilling is being attempted by some operators in that section of the field in an effort to overcome the water trouble encountered at the upper levels.

Corn Climbs to New High Level; Gains in Wheat

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Continued liquidation by shorts in December corn lifted that delivery to 79¾, a new high for the season, and 4c above the finish on Tuesday with the close at a net gain of 1½c for the day. Deferred deliveries met with considerable realizing and gained only ¼ to ⅜c, with May 2⅝c under the nearby delivery. Longs in wheat sold early breaking December to 1.04⅝, a decline of 1c with a rally of 1½c from the inside figure on short covering induced by the strength in corn. Net gains were ⅛@⅛c. Oats and rye were up ⅛@⅜c.

Closing of spreads between wheat and corn, the former grain being bought, had considerable to do with the closing rally as there was sufficient buying to absorb the scattered liquidating sales and the surplus was finally taken out of the pit. Early selling of wheat was on prospects of the British putting an import duty on wheat which the trade figured would count heavily against the United States as normally the United Kingdom takes around 225,000,000 bushels foreign wheat yearly.

Cash corn has been leading the advance of late and has been largely responsible for the upturn in futures, although the buying of December and selling of May by spreaders who were taking losses has helped to put the December up. Early in the week the spread was ⅝c. Selling of May corn against purchases of wheat was a factor in checking the upturn for a while, but when stop loss orders were uncovered the market advanced quickly. A bullish crop report was expected by a majority of the trade. Cash corn gained 1@4c for new here with receipts seventy-one cars.

Two cargoes of Duluth rye, or about 500,000 bushels have been chartered for shipment to Chicago but the market met with commission house buying on all the breaks and the weakness in which the early had little influence. There was some buying of May and selling of December at 4¼c difference.

Oats showed a little more activity with commission house buying on the strength of oats, feeling that the latter grain had not advanced in proportion to corn. Cereal interests sold on the upturn. No. 2 white on track sold mainly at ⅛c better as compared with December. Receipts fifty-four cars.

100 to 1

A published statement now being made by one of our friends and competitors—another Oil and Refining Company—right here in Los Angeles—shows that $500 "ORIGINALLY INVESTED" with them is today worth $50,000.

A profit to the "ORIGINAL" investor of $100 for $1.

We Believe

This statement to be true. This is an old line conservative, well established concern. We admit that there are tremenduous profits in the Refining of Crude Oil.

We do not sell our securities by comparison—we have published this information merely as persuasive proof that WHITE STAR might equal or even excel these profits.

We honestly believe that we can—

Every man, woman and child would want ORIGINAL stock in White Star if they believed we might even equal the record of the Company mentioned.

The attached coupon mailed in today will, without obligation give you an opportunity to decide.

Every $300 invested purchases four shares of ORIGINAL stock—3 of 8% Convertible Preferred and one of Common.

SIMMONS FLAYS WIZARD OF KLAN

Astonishment Expressed at Evans's Absence

Internal Strife Visible in Day's Events

Telephone Calls Threaten Officials' Lives

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Nov. 8.—Col. William J. Simmons, Emperor of the Ku Klux Klan, returned today from Birmingham and issued a statement declaring he is "astonished" that Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans "remains in hiding at a critical time like this," and that newspapermen and Klansmen are "unable to find any responsible head at Palace headquarters willing to meet those entitled to information."

"I don't believe Klansmen of the nation are going to put up much longer with an administration that meets crucial situations like this in such cowardly manner," the statement said.

Dr. Fred B. Johnston, chief of staff to Emperor Simmons, who returned from Birmingham with his superior, also issued a statement in which he said he had gone to Birmingham to guard the Emperor because of a "reliable tip" that Simmons was to be removed "via the murder route."

WARRANTS DISMISSED

He said numerous telephone calls had threatened the lives of Simmons, E. Y. Clarke, Imperial Giant, and himself.

Peace warrants against three of Evans's aides, dismissed here yesterday when Johnston failed to appear in court, will be reissued if the necessity arises, Johnston said. The warrant against Wizard Evans still stands.

Developments today following the killing of Capt. W. C. Coburn, Klan attorney, which brought up the new situation within the Klan, were meager so far as they affected Philip E. Fox, Klan publication editor and publicity man, in Fulton Tower under indictment for the murder of Coburn. His case apparently was at a standstill today, with the State continuing its efforts toward an early trial and Mrs. Fox shaping the defense. No counsel has been announced yet for Fox.

PROSECUTION QUESTIONABLE

Col. Simmons said today that he could not yet say whether he would aid in the prosecution of Fox.

The Emperor and Mr. Clarke exchanged affectionate greetings when they met at the Colonel's home. With them were Dr. Johnston and John A. Coyle.

Clarke, known as one of the prime movers in organization of the Klan, told newspapermen that hereafter he would have no part in Klan activities except as adviser to the Emperor.

WEATHER CONDITIONS. — Light rains fell yesterday in Central California, due to a low pressure area that appeared to be central off the Northern California coast. Light rains fell also in the extreme northeastern portion of the country. Fair weather prevailed generally in the interior valleys, under the influence of an extensive high area central over the Plains States. Moderate temperature continued throughout the country, only a few stations in the extreme northern sections reporting freezing weather. In Southern California fair, moderately warm weather prevailed Wednesday and Wednesday night, the only rain reported being a light shower at Corona. It was partly cloudy at most stations yesterday morning. Fair weather with moderate temperature may be expected in this vicinity Friday.

INDETERMINATE FRANCHISE CONTROVERSY REOPENED

Long Fight Before Freeholders Is Forecast as Question Is Sent Back to Committee

A prolonged fight over the question of indeterminate franchises loomed last night when the Board of Freeholders, on motion of Nathan Newby, voted to reopen the question and referred the matter back to the public utilities committee for further consideration. The board previously had considered the question closed and preparations were going forward for the drafting of an amendment to the city charter for fixed franchises.

Mr. Newby declared himself unalterably opposed to the fixed franchise, stating that the City Council of each administration should be given power to make the best terms with the public utilities that could be obtained at the time.

A warning of the few remaining days in which the board must draft the completed charter was sounded by William Mead, who moved that committee reports be turned in not later than the 22nd inst. The motion was adopted and President R. [illegible] Clarke urged that all possible speed be made in arriving at definite recommendations to be presented to the board. At midnight, November 16, the board will cease to have power and the proposed charter, as then drafted, will be submitted to the voters.

[illegible] SUBWAY PLAN

Rejection of the city's plan for subway or elevated railway system was urged in an amendment to the original report of the public utilities committee by the City Attorney. This amendment relating to franchises, would give the City Council the right to demand a railway company to remove its tracks on a year's written notice, provided such tracks would interfere with a subway or elevated railway plan.

This suggestion, with various recommendations made from time to time by the committee on franchises, also was referred back to the committee for consideration, as was a communication from the Central Labor Council, requesting that the board in granting franchises to a transportation company, set an eight-hour day for platform workers on street cars or motor busses.

Protection of the present system of police and fire department pensions will be made in the drafting of the new charter, it was decided on motion of Mr. Mead. The board, however, referred the majority report of the committee on pensions back to the committee for further consideration.

The majority report, made by [illegible] and Franklin D. Howell,

M'WATTERS STAYS WITH RED CROSS

Reconsiders Resignation Despite $7 for Seven Years' Pay is Unpaid

Asserting that the American Red Cross owes him seven years back pay, D. C. MacWatters, chairman of the Los Angeles chapter, again tried to resign at the annual meeting of the chapter, yesterday. Again he failed to make it stick, for the board of directors unanimously declined even to consider it.

"What about my $7 for seven years' service?" Mr. MacWatters demanded when told he could not quit. One of the members pointed out that so long as he wasn't paid any income, he wouldn't have to pay any tax on it, and Mr. MacWatters finally accepted the decision with good grace.

With his re-election to the chairmanship of the Los Angeles chapter, a warm tribute was paid to

Power Bureau Asked to Give Council Data

Proposed Reorganization Arouses Members

Workman Would Put Gregory Off Committees

The failure of the Municipal Power Bureau to obey the charter requirements and submit to the Council its annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, was officially called to the attention of the City Council yesterday by Councilman Mushet who also demanded that the Board of Public Service Commissioners explain why it had not kept its promise to submit monthly special reports showing for what purpose it is spending the $500,000 it borrowed from tax funds in the city treasury on August 27.

Councilman Criswell asked that Councilman Mushet's resolution containing the demands for information from the Board of Public Service Commissioners be sent to the Public Service Committee, but this was opposed by Councilmen Allan, Gregory and Mushet.

Councilman Allan said: "These inquiries of Councilman Mushet's seem to be most proper ones. I was told that when the $500,000 was borrowed for the Power Bureau we would have monthly reports showing dollar by dollar, item by item, how the Power Bureau was spending this money. I have seen no reports, and the audit of the Power Bureau is long overdue. This resolution should go direct to the Public Service Commission and it should answer these questions.

DEMANDS REPORT

Councilman Mushet's resolution was as follows:

Whereas, Section 192 of Art. 18 of the City Charter requires the Board of Public Service Commissioners to present to the Council at its meeting in the first week

WILL HUNT QUAKE VICTIMS

[illegible] Faces Drawn as They Start Trip to Search for Loved Ones Thought Lost in Japan

"The saddest ship ever to start across the Pacific Ocean," was what shipping men termed the Panama Maru, in the around-the-world service of the Osaka Soshen Kaisha Line, as she left the [illegible]-McPherson-Lapham dock yesterday bound for Japan via San Francisco with 206 Japanese who are taking the trip to search for loved ones who are thought to have been victims of the earthquake disaster.

The passenger list includes men, women and children. Among the passengers traveling first cabin is beautiful Mrs. M. Kino, once a moving-picture star and widow of [illegible] Kino, who also was a screen star. Mrs. Kino, who has [illegible] property holdings in Japan, not only has not heard a word from relatives since the disaster, but also has received information that much of her property there was destroyed.

They stood long on the deck waiting with oriental passivity for the time they should be permitted to go aboard. For the most part they were middle-aged and young couples burdened with black-eyed children who stared openly at the performance of loading trunks and many grass-matting "telescope" suit cases which formed most of the luggage.

FROM SOUTHERN JAPAN

Although, for the most part the Japanese in Southern California are from the southern part of Japan, and so escaped the effects of the disaster, according to T. M. Yedayoshi, Los Angeles representative of the Osaka Soshen Kaisha Line, the greater part of the 205 passengers aboard the Panama Maru were from the earthquake district.

Besides the passengers the Panama Maru is taking from this port 1700 tons of cargo, including 1000 bales of cotton and ten automobile trucks to be used in relief work. Virtually all trucks in Japan at the time of the catastrophe were requisitioned by the government to aid in reconstruction work, according to Mr. Yedayoshi.

IDENTIFIED IN DEATH LEAP

Herta Feller's Suicide Said by Husband Due to Illness Following Birth of Child Recently

Identification of a young, pretty woman who shortly before noon yesterday leaped to death from the twelfth story of the Story Building at Sixth street and Broadway before hundreds of horrified passersby, as Mrs. Herta Feller, 28 years of age, mother of a 3-weeks-old baby, revealed a pathetics story by her husband, A. M. Feller, young architect, of how he fought against her desire to kill herself since the birth of her child.

The husband discovered the tragic end of his young wife when he, alarmed by her absence from home, called at the Receiving Hospital. He described his wife and was told by attendants such a person had been brought there.

SURVEILLANCE FAILS

Hospital attendants, hardened by countless scenes of sorrow, turned their backs when the young husband gazed on the lifeless form of his wife.

"My God," he said. "I was afraid it would happen."

Feller told how his wife had been seized with fits of melancholia since the birth of a baby. Only last Friday she attempted to end her life by slashing her wrists with a knife but was saved by

NEW SKYSCRAPER TO RISE

Building Trades to Occupy $1,500,000 Structure at Corner of Tenth and Broadway

Probably what can be considered the largest and most completely equipped structure of its kind in the West will be erected soon on the southwest corner of Tenth street and Broadway at a cost of $1,500,000, it was learned yesterday from authoritative sources. According to plans revealed late yesterday, the final signing of papers will take place today when representatives in the transaction will meet and discuss preliminary arrangements for the construction of the building.

Present plans show the structure will be at least twelve stories in height, class A, fireproof and of reinforced concrete construction featuring pressed brick and terra cotta for exterior facings and ornamentations, and marble for lobby finish and wainscoting. Initial sketches for the proposed building have been prepared by the architectural firm of Morgan, Walls and Morgan, who have been commissioned to draft the final drawings.

Property on the corner has a frontage of 130 feet on Broadway, sixty-seven feet on Tenth street, and has been owned by J. B. Van Nuys for many years. It is understood the structure will be built under the supervision of Mr. Van Nuys, leased under the direction of Ned B. Johnson of the W. A. Heitman Company, and occupied by the Builders' Exchange and other allied organizations in Southern California.

STOCK FRAUD CHARGED TO GRANT M'CARTNEY

Indicted With Associate for Alleged Swindle in Promotion of Panama Jungle Land

An indictment charging Grant McCartney, prominent real estate dealer, broker and promoter, with gross frauds in connection with sale of securities of the American-Panama Development Company was returned yesterday by the grand jury in Judge Avery's court. Bail was fixed at $10,000. McCartney sent word to the District Attorney he would appear and surrender today, it was stated.

There are ten counts in the indictment, each of which charges obtaining money and property by false pretenses, and seven different complainants are named in the grand jury's presentment. The total amount involved is more than $120,000.

It is declared that McCartney and an associate, who is not under indictment, used about 4000 acres of asserted worthless jungle land in Panama as the basis for their promotion scheme, that they capitalized it far beyond its worth, and that they misrepresented it grossly to those to whom they sold securities. Among their asserted victims is a bank teller. Another is a woman music teacher. The promotion blew up, it was declared, when McCartney took several of his stockholders on a personally conducted tour of the properties, and they discovered that the virtues of the locality had been exaggerated greatly.

The case was presented before Dist.-Atty. Keyes, who directed Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson to lay it before the grand jury.

As a basis for their operations, it is asserted in the indictment, McCartney and his associate bought 3960 acres of jungle in the Province of Chiriqui, Panama Republic, for which they paid about $15,000. Then they incor-

LLOYD BUYS GROUND FOR NEW STUDIO

Forty-Acre Site May Also be Used by Other Concerns Besides Comedian's

The purchase by Harold Lloyd of a forty-acre site in Westwood on which the comedian eventually will erect a $1,500,000 studio, was announced yesterday by William R. Fraser, general manager of Lloyd productions.

Construction work on the new plant probably will be deferred until the fall or 1924, Mr. Fraser stated, due to the fact that Lloyd's contract with the Hollywood studio does not expire until that time.

It is planned for the new studio to include enough space to house several companies besides Lloyd's, and several producers have already indicated their desire to obtain space from the Lloyd corporation, according to Mr. Fraser.

The new studio will front on Santa Monica Boulevard and the site extends as far back as Wilshire. Architects have already completed plans for the stages and administration buildings, although these may be subject to changes during the year, it was said.

RECITAL BY STUDENTS

A recital will be given by students of the school of speech, University of Southern California, this afternoon in the recital hall on the campus. The program will be given by Miss Genieve Mulligan, who will read "The Doll's House"; Miss Bertha Lloyd in monologues and Miss Rachel Hicks, who will read "Beau Brummel."

SHERIFF'S MEN INDICTED

Larimer and Blasdel Accused of Embezzlement; Former Also Faces Forgery Charge

David S. Larimer, superintendent of county constables and in charge of transportation for the Sheriff's office, one of the best-known deputies in the office, in two indictments yesterday was accused on eight counts of embezzlement by a public officer and one count of forgery. At the same time Gilbert C. Blasdel was indicted on six counts of embezzlement by a public officer.

The indictments were returned by the county grand jury before Judge Avery, who fixed bail for Larimer at $20,000 and for Blasdel at $10,000. Later, when Larimer appeared in court, his bail was reduced to a total of $10,000 on the two indictments and Blasdel's to $5000 on one indictment.

The indictments grew out of an investigation participated in by Sheriff Traeger, Dist.-Atty. Keyes and the grand jury into the use of funds of the Sheriff's office in the transportation of prisoners to San Quentin and Folsom State Prisons and to other State institutions. It is charged that in eight instances, Larimer took prisoners to certain institutions and obtained refunds on the return portions of railroad tickets, for which there was no accounting to the County Treasurer. Six of such instances are charged to Blasdel.

FORGERY INDICTMENT

A second indictment against Larimer charges forgery of the name of Henry M. Denison, a transportation deputy Sheriff, to a claim for a refund for a ticket, in the amount of $34.08.

Shortly after the return of the indictments Larimer, accompanied by John L. Richardson, his attorney, appeared before Judge Avery, where a reduction of bail was asked. W. Joseph Ford, an attorney, who was in court informed the court that if the bond were reduced to $5000, he personally would furnish it. The bail of Larimer was reduced to $5000 on each indictment and that of Blasdel to $5000. Mr. Richardson stated that Blasdel, who resides in Long Beach, and is out of the city, will appear in court today and furnish bail. Larimer furnished bail, Alfred E. Cummerford of 5012 Los Feliz Road, and Richard W. Lem-

SEVEN SEIZED AS ROBBERS

Daring Ring of Gunmen Believed Broken With Arrests; Confessions Obtained; Auto Recovered

A bandit hunt conducted by the police of a dozen cities acting with Special Agent Lucien Wheeler of the Department of Justice ended yesterday with the arrest in El Paso of three asserted members of the band, the recovery of a stolen automobile, and the confession here of other prisoners said to have been implicated in a series of daring robberies.

During the chean-up, which is believed to have ended activities of a band of highwaymen, seven men were arrested. Four of them were taken into custody by local officers, three at Los Angeles Harbor and one in Pasadena. The other three fell into the hands of Department of Justice agents in El Paso on information obtained here by Agent Wheeler.

CONFECTIONERY HELD UP

The attention of the police were first attracted to the band following the robbery of the Elite Confectionery at 624 East Colorado street, Pasadena. During the robbery D. B. Evans, night manager, was struck on the head with an iron bar and seriously injured. Only $500 was obtained by the robbers, who overlooked a large amount of money in the safe.

Following the robbery in Pasadena a string of hold-ups and other robberies started the police of Pasadena and Los Angeles on the track of the highwaymen. It was then discovered that following the Pasadena hold-up the highwaymen had escaped in a high-priced automobile stolen from Mrs. M. B. Armstrong of Pasadena. The description of the automobile was sent out to eastern offices by Agent Wheeler with instructions to government agents to seize the machine and passengers wherever found.

Police detectives from Pasadena assisted by officers from the local department arrested R. J. Herron, 19 years of age, W. H. Wier, 19, and Arthur Stewart, 21, at Los Angeles Harbor a week after the Pasadena hold-up. The following day George Monsoor was taken into custody in Pasadena and yesterday Ralph Duffel, Max Vener and Lester Pullen were arrested and the stolen automobile seized in El Paso.

The first arrests at Los Angeles Harbor were by Detective Lieutenants Gentry and Farrell, of the Los Angeles police, and Detectives Becker and McNulty of the Pasadena police department.

CONFESSION OBTAINED

After the arrest of the three men in El Paso, Detective MvNulty of the Pasadena police announced that a full confession of the gang's activities was made by one of the four men under arrest here. He stated that Pullen and Monsoor had no part in the robbery of the Elite in Pasadena, but had taken part in other gang raids and also assisted in the theft of the automobile.

From the confession, police learned that the band had planned to hold up and rob a cafe in Long Beach, a bank at Los Angeles Harbor, cafe in Pasadena and a bank in Hueneme. After the series of hold-ups the members of the gang, according to the confession, were to leave the State in stolen automobiles and meet in an eastern city.

SUIT ATTACKS CITY ZONE LAW

Action Calls Restrictions Unconstitutional

Realtor Seeks Permit to Erect Building

Hollywood Boulevard is Point of Dispute

The city's zoning laws are attacked as contrary to both the State and Federal constitutions in an application for a writ of mandamus filed yesterday in the Second District Court of Appeals by A. C. Blumenthal, realtor.

The application is directed against Mayor Cryer, the City Council and the Board of Public Works. It requests the issuance of a writ by the court to compel the city officials to permit Blumenthal to erect a twelve-story structrue on Hollywood Boulevard near Sunset Boulevard. The site on which the proposed building would be erected is in a class A zone and, according to the law, only single dwelling houses can be built there. J. M. Schenck, film producer, is half owner of the property.

It is argued in the application, which was prepared by Attorney Milton Cohen, that the district is logically a business section and suited primarily to the erection of commercial structures.

In prohibiting the erection of such buildings in this district, the application continues, the city is unjustly depriving the plaintiff of the value of the property without due process of law. This, it is charged, is in direct violation of both the State and Federal constitutions.

The attack on the zoning law has been brought directly to the Appellate Court without being tried in the Superior Court in order to avoid delays and obtain a final decision as quickly as possible, the application sets forth.

A. M. MARSTON IS HELD AS FORGERY SUSPECT

A. M. Marston, 32 years of age, whose real name the police declare to be Norman Fowler and who is said to pose as a hotel man from Banff, was arrested yesterday at a downtown banking house and booked at Central Station on suspicion of forgery. In his possession at the time of arrest, according to Detective Peterson of the Burns Agency and Detective Lieutenants Carr and Noble, was a checkbook belonging to J. P. Wright of Ottawa, Can. Mr. Wright told the detectives, they say, he had missed the checkbook from his apartment after Marston called there. Marston was trying to cash a check for $250 at the time of his arrest, according to the detectives.

LARIMER ASKS LEAVE

Larimer immediately sent a letter to Sheriff Traeger stating that, in view of his long service in the office, and because of the position he holds, he desired to be granted a leave of absence pending the outcome of the charges against him. He stated that he believed his name would be cleared when the cases were taken to court. It was stated as probable that Larimer would be suspended pending the decision regarding a leave of absence. Blasdel is already under suspension for an affray on a train traveling between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The specific charges against Larimer relate to refunds on tickets as follows: On August 19, 1921, in the amount of $85.20; on September 19, 1921, $17.04; on September 24, 1921, $51.12; on November 7, 1921, $34.08; on November 1, 1921, $34.08; on November 1, 1922, $34.08; on March 22, 1922, $6.18; on March 23, 1922, $17.04.

The six counts against Blasdel are for refunds on tickets as follows: On April 16, 1921, $14.52; on July 5, 1921, $64.50; on October 5, 1921, $17.04; on March 17, 1922, $37.44; on June 13, 1922, $17.04; on July 16, 1923, $22.50.

The witnesses before the grand jury were County Auditor Payne, George Strait, manager of the traffic department of the auditor's office; H. M. Denison, a deputy sheriff; Adelbert W. Lawrence, an official of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco; Milton Carlson, a handwriting expert, and Larimer and Blasdel.

LARIMER'S LETTER

The letter addressed to the Sheriff by Larimer follows:

"Owing to the eight years I have been in the service of the county in the position I am now occupying I respectfully request that I be granted leave of absence pending the outcome of the indictment which I understand was returned against me today, and until the matters which are contained therein are cleared up in the proper channels.

"I regret exceedingly that a condition has arisen which necessitates this action on my part but I do this in order to protect you and in order that there will be no hitch in the work of the office."

INSTANTLY KILLED

Feller lives at 1645 North Normandie avenue and is employed as an architect by E. M. Frasier of 2401 West Sixth street.

Mrs. Feller was instantly killed when her body struck the pavement, hospital surgeons said. The fall occurred on the Broadway side of the building and caused great excitement among the throngs along the street. The body narrowly missel several pedestrians.

According to Martin Hanson of 1228 Spaulding street, who was painting on the roof of the Story building, the woman walked along the edge of the roof before she made the fatal leap. Hanson said he didn't pay particular attention until he saw the woman disappear.

The body is at Bramble funeral parlors.

of August in each year, a report for the year ending on the 30th day of June, next preceding, and

Whereas, no such report has been presented,

Resolved, that the Board of Public Service Commissioners be, and it is hereby most respectfully requested to at once file the report as required by said Charter,

And Whereas, on the 27th day of August, 1923, the City Council loaned to the Bureau of Power and Light the sum of $500,000 on the expressed condition that they make a special monthly report of the expenditure from this loan,

And Whereas, no such report has been filed with the Council, although over two (2) months have elapsed since the loan.

Resolved, that the Bureau of Power and Light be most respectfully requested to at once file the promised reports.

COUNCIL HEARS WARNING

The warning of the California Railroad Commission that the Power Bureau's inventory of the $17,000,000 electric properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation will cost not less than $50,000 was read to the City Council yesterday. President Criswell resented the commission's letter and declared that "some one had gone out of the way to throw a monkey wrench" into the proposed appraisal of the gas company's electric properties. The Council, with President Workman casting the deciding vote, authorized the spending of $25,000 for the appraisal, and the Railroad Commission's letter was notification to the Council that the work which is being done for the Power Bureau by the commission's experts will cost at least $50,000. Vice-President Vance of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation says the city will be in for an expense of $100,000 if the appraisal is carried through to a conclusion. The Power Bureau plans to use the appraisal valuation as the basis of an appeal to the voters for a bond issue to take over and operate the company's electric system.

President Workman at yesterday's session of the City Council attempted to put over a reorganization of the Council committees, but failed, as four Councilmen voted against suspending the rules, which was necessary to adopt the ordinance, and if these four stand against the ordinance when it is called up next Thursday, the reorganization plan will fail. Councilmen Mallard and Gregory in opposing the reorganization plan, declared that President Workman's proposed new public works committee showed plainly the hand of the "paving trust."

Councilman Gregory, who under the proposed reorganization, was removed from the Public Works Committee, said:

"I am being removed from the Public Works Committee, under the Workman plan, because I aroused the opposition of the 'Paving Trust' in fighting the battles of the property owners and insisting that the people who pay for the improvements shall have the kind of improvements they desire and not the kind the 'Paving Trust' is determined to sell them."

Those who voted against the reorganization plan yesterday were Councilmen Allan, Gregory, Mallard and Mushet (4,) and those who voted for it were President Workman and Councilmen Criswell, Sanborn and Wheeler (4.) Councilman Baker was absent on sick leave and will not return to his duties until November 19.

RESULT OF DISPUTE

Those who voted against the reorganization said that it was the direct result of the Councilmanic assistance given President Workman at the time the Councilmen were threatening to oust Workmen as president following charges by Councilman Mallard that the president had been monopolizing the use of the Council limousine and was using the machine nights and Sundays for personal social calls. The vote was not taken on declaring the office of president vacant. Some of the Councilmen predicted that as a result of "trading" and "logrolling" to prevent the ousting of Workman as president there would soon be an attempted reorganization of committees to placate the "Paving Trust," which was opposed to Councilman Gregory's being on the Public Works Committee and to satisfy the Power Bureau, which opposed Criswell's not being chairman of the Public Service Committee.

At the time Workman was elected president four months ago and after he had announced the membership of the committees, there has been this dissatisfaction from the "Paving Trust" and the Power Bureau, and the threatened ousting of Workman as president gave the "Paving Trust" and Power Bureau lobbyists an opportunity to secure the committee changes desired in return for preventing the vote being taken to elect Councilman Allan, who was high man at the June 5 city election and under all precedents of the Council was entitled to the presidency, as the presiding officer of the Council.

GREGORY REMOVED

The expected happened at yesterday's session of the Council when President Workman arose at the presiding officer's chair and announced that he proposed to make changes in the personnel of the committees. He then directed the clerk to read the new committeemen proposed. Under these changes, Councilman Criswell was given the place he coveted as chairman of the Public Service Committee and Councilman Gregory was removed from this committee and replaced by Councilman Wheeler, who is a stanch defender of the Power Bureau. Councilman Gregory was also removed from the Public Works Committee and President Workman dropped himself from this committee and their places were taken by Councilmen Criswell and Sanborn.

WORKMAN EXPLAINS

Under the proposed reorganization, the finance, safety and health committees remain unchanged, and the other shifting of members to different committees was not important.

After the clerk had concluded the reading of the proposed committee memberships, Councilman Allan said: "Isn't this unusual? What is the reason for it?" President Workman said that because of the municipal ownership battle it was thought best to have the committees changed.

The general prediction at the City Hall yesterday was that in attempting to change the committees President Workman had stirred up a hornet's nest of trouble and criticism for himself and that the proposed reorganization would fail to go through, if the four Councilmen who voted yesterday against suspension of the rules to approve of the changes will again oppose the changes when the vote is taken next Thursday.

NEW BROADWAY EDIFICE PLANNED

ed States devoted exclusively to the building trades and will be one of the finest office buildings in the West. It is proposed to allocate various portions of the building to building, contracting and other commercial enterprises as far as is possible and to have several large exhibits on display at all times showing articles of construction made by various manufacturers.

Definite information could not be secured concerning the space to be occupied by the Builders' Exchange but it is believed that the exchange will occupy the two upper floors where every convenience and facility will be installed to meet the requirements and growth of the organization. At present the exchange is located on the fifth floor of the Stimson Building on the northeast corner of Third and Spring streets where offices have been maintained for the last thirty years. D. C. Casselman is secretary and manager of the exchange and D. W. Simons is president.

BUILDING IS SOLD

One of the largest single transactions in the north-end of the city was consummated yesterday in the sale of the California Building on the southwest corner of Second and Broadway to Joseph M. Schenck for a reported approximate consideration of $500,000. Announcement of this fact was made by the realty firm of Metcalf and Ryan who closed the deal for California Fireproof Building Company, owners of the property.

The California Building is ten stories in height, class A and of reinforced concrete construction, and is considered by those in authority to be one of the best-constructed buildings in that section. The structure has a frontage of fifty feet on Broadway and 167 feet on Second street, and contains 235 offices on the upper floors and eight stores on the ground floor.

According to Metcalf and Ryan, the California Building was built twelve years ago, and was erected on the former site of the old American Bank Building which stood on the corner for many years. Mr. Schenck, who is a leading figure in motion picture industry and prominent in bank circles, acquired the corner as a substantial investment and intends to remodel the entire first floor to conform to the new street level of Second street, and to divide the floor into high-class specialty shops.

PLANS COMPLETED

Plans virtually have been completed by Architects John C. Austin and Frederic M. Ashley for the erection of an eight-story individually-owned apartment structure at the intersection of Rosewood and Rossmore avenues by Park W. Cowan, local capitalist, involving an aggregate investment of $1,000,000.

The edifice will be located directly across from the Wilshire Country Club and will be in the immediate vicinity of the Los Angeles Tennis Club.

Specifications provided by the architects show that the apartment house will contain eighty-nine three, four and five-room apartments all equipped with the latest conveniences. The apartments will be known as the Las Moradas Apartments, and will be built under the supervision of Birch O'Neal and associates. Actual work is expected to start within a few days, it is stated.

recommended that the new charter provide that the Board of Pension Commissioners to be established by the new charter for the administration of the police and fire department pensions be instructed to prepare a pension plan for all city employees not under police and fire pension system. Such a plan would be prepared within six months after the new charter takes effect and would be submitted to the Council in the form or an ordinance and the Council would be required to submit the ordinance without alteration at the next general special municipal election.

The minority report, prepared by John S. Horn, recommended that the charter include a pension system for all city employees not included in the police and fire pension systems, such pension system to follow provisions of the plan submitted to the Board of Freeholders recently by city employees.

DR. DICKIE SPEAKS

The board, at a recent meeting, went on record as favoring a pension for all city employees, although at that time no recommendations were made as to the operation of a pension system.

Dr. Walter M. Dickie, secretary of the State Board of Health, addressed the freeholders on the proposed amendments to the sections relating to public safety and the health department. He urged that proper measures be taken to safeguard health and that a number of minor changes in the wording of the proposed amendment be made to allow the health officers' full exercise of power. His suggestions were referred to the special committee on the subject.

A meeting of the public utilities committee will be conducted Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. President Clarke warned members of the board, before adjournment, that unless greater speed was shown by the committees a number of special sessions of the board would be necessary within the next two weeks. It is planned, he said, to have a sample draft of the new charter ready by December 1.

EMPLOYEES TO MEET

The Vacuette Distributing Company employees will have a get-together and sales meeting Monday at the Hotel Clark, which will be attended by the entire organization force in Southern California. George H. Scott, president of the company which manufactures the device will be one of the speakers with the topic, "Direct Salesmanship."

LAND BROKER IS INDICTED

porated the American-Panama Development Company, with a capital of $2,000,000, of which they issued $1,000,000 to themselves for promotion fee; and, armed with a permit issued by former Corporation Commissioner Bellows, sold stock amounting to $100,000.

For $85,000, it is asserted, they then bought from the Panama Sugar Company of Utah an old sugar mill near their land and 20,000 acres of additional land; but in addition to the $85,000, it is declared, bonds to the amount of $850,000 were issued against this property, of which $500,000 were given to the Panama Sugar Company and $350,000 to McCartney for putting the transaction through.

Miss Achelian A. Pixley, a music teacher, was one of those to whom stock and bonds were sold, it is asserted. Miss Pixley is said to have purchased 1960 shares of stock for $19,600 and bonds to the extent of $1700, on representations that the company had 2000 acres of sugar cane ready to harvest; that they had a considerable acreage of bananas and pineapples, and that there was valuable timber on the property, mainly mahogany. All of these representations are asserted to have been false, and it is declared there was no merchantable mahogany within 200 miles. They also told Miss Pixley, it is declared, the sugar mill was producing 1200 bags a day while in fact it was out of repair and unsafe to run.

Other assertions made to Miss Pixley were, it is declared, that the company had a 500-foot dock at which big ships could load. In fact, it is asserted, the pier was rotted and unsafe and big vessels could not get near it because of mud.

DEALS REVEALED

On similar representations, it is declared, McCartney obtained $47,500 from Joseph L. Kelley and Mrs. Edna M. Kelly on one occasion and additional sums bringing the total to $75,000 on other occasions. These transactions are said to have taken place in 1922.

In January, 1923, it is declared, McCartney obtained $5200 from John Mitchell and $5000 from Angelo Bessolo, on similar representations, and in March, 1923, $5000 from R. S. Lambert and $5100 from W. D. Stockdale.

It is declared that McCartney entered into a series of real estate transactions for Miss Pixley and the Kelleys, in which he sold property for them at a profit and then having gained their confidence, induced them to invest the proceeds with him.

Stockdale, Lambert, Bessolo and Mitchell were the stockholders, it was said, who were taken on the Panama trip.

M'WATTERS TO REMAIN ON JOB

the unselfish labors of Mr. MacWatters, who, since the early days of war, has devoted a greater part of his time to Red Cross work without recompense. He was a banker in Idaho when he first joined Herbert Hoover in the raising of the initial $100,000,000 budget in 1917. Not long afterward he retired from active business and at a heavy financial sacrifice, jumped wholeheartedly into Red Cross work. He came to Los Angeles in 1918, and at first was in charge of prisoners' relief work, later becoming secretary and treasurer of the Los Angeles branch of the Red Cross. In February, 1921, he was elected head of the chapter here, and has continued in that post since, conducting its affairs with marked success.

At present Mr. MacWatters is head-over-heels in the work of the annual membership roll call campaign, to be conducted throughout the county from November 11 to November 30.

All the men and women who have served during the past year with Mr. MacWatters as officers of the Los Angeles chapter, were reelected yesterday. Mrs. William A. Edwards retains the post of vice-chairman, Mrs. O. C. Welbourn is secretary and Mrs. Robert M. Weed was chosen assistant to the chairman. The following are members of the board of directors.

Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Mrs. C. C. Ashley, A. C. Balch, John P. Burke, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. Alexander Barret, Harford L. Billson, L. N. Cole, Mrs. Cecil De Mille, Mrs. William A. Edwards, Frank P. Flint, Frank Hudson, Mrs. James A. Gibson, Mrs. Benjamin Goldman, Miss Nancy Grace, Roy Jones, Miss Jane Humphreys, A. N. Kemp, Oscar Lawler, Walter R. Leeds, E. D. Lyman, Mrs. Irwin P. Werner, Mrs. A. M. Marsh, Dan Murphy, Gurney E. Newlin, Mrs. Eugene Overton, Charles E. Seaman, Mrs. Reo Smith, Mrs. Clinton Sterry, John Treanor, Mrs. J. J. A. VanKaathoven, Mrs. W. J. VanValkenburg, Mrs. Robert M. Week and Mrs. O. C. Welbourn.

Following the election there was a general discussion of the plans for the Red Cross roll call. It was announced that the general appeal in the churches would be made the week following Armistice Day, instead of on next Sunday, as at first arranged. Reports were made by Mr. MacWatters and his campaign aides which pointed to the success of the drive, which has for its goal the enlisting of at least 100,000 public-spirited men and women of the city in the ranks of the Red Cross.

ROAD ACCUSED OF VIOLATION

An action was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by United States Attorney Burke against the Atchison, Topeka and Sana Fe Railway to collect $500 penalty for violation of the live-stock shipping law. It is alleged that on July 23, last, the road carried 255 hogs from Hollis, Okla., to Los Angeles forty-two hours without water or feed of any kind.

Bigotry, Hypocrisy, Intolerance, have stood in the way of every important improvement of human conditions ever since the world began.

DR. PARKER

In the old days when father took Johnny out to the woodshed he always emphasized the fact that it was going to hurt him more than it hurt Johnny. But he knew that he was lying and so did Johnny. He knew in his heart that he was only covering up a savage instinct. And this sort of thing hasn't quite gone out of fashion yet.

When the Dental Trust got the habit a few years ago of putting the thumbscrews on every member of the profession who dared to apply common-sense business methods to the business of dentistry it avowed that it was actuated by only the holiest and purest of motives.

It tried to show that its methods of hounding were necessary to protect what is called the "dear" public. But when the so-called dear public began to find out that the obsolete customs of dentistry as advocated by the Trust meant "dear" in the sense of a shrinkage [illegible]

Tempongko, banjo flat; C. Carderal, banjo guitar; Bandalan, bass guitar, and D. nagabat, violin. They appeared through the courtesy of the New Oriental Cafe, on the evening program.

The telephones were kept with requests, many of which were granted. Then to demonstrate their versatility, the orchestra played "Barcarole," from the "Tales of Hoffman," and Schubert's "Serenade." The Mason-Dixon Four is composed of Charles Breedlove, first tenor; Anderson, second tenor; An- Spracklen, baritone, and Claude Spracklen, bass. They appeared through the courtesy of Clune's Broadway Theater, and last night marked their first radio appearance.

Gene Cloude's Broadway Syncopaters, arrived on the scene about p. m., direct from Dalton's Broadway Theater. They proceeded to put on a short but snappy program of syncopation. These certainly did make the modu-meter dance, and there is doubt that many a rug through Radioland was hastily rolled of the way.

Mary Dawn, dramatic blue con-, who also appeared through courtesy of Dalton's Broadway Theater, sang for the big audience. interpretation of "Dirty Hands, Dirty Face," was most appealing. The pathos and sympathy which Miss Dawn can put in her voice is sufficient to bring a tear, regardless of the that the singer is invisible.

The boy at the outer gate needs Eversharp and Wahl Pen. He can afford Eversharp at $1. He can buy the all-metal Wahl Pen as low as $4. Or in rubber at $2.50 up.

The bank president in his private office also needs America's favorite writing tools. He will probably buy a costlier set, matched in sterling or in solid gold.

The matinee program featured Marotta, pianiste and teacher. She was assisted by her pupil Casselman. Two lovely duet were given, "Grand Valse de Concert," by Moszkowski, and "Danse Espagnol from Carmencita," by Sartorio.

Dolly Casselman favored with a solo, "Valse in G Flat," by Chopin. Her interpretation and touch displayed an artistry unusual in a pupil who has studied but three years.

Sylvia Marotta studied in the Conservatory of Naples, and has been teaching in Los Angeles for the last ten years. Her solo work was splendid in its perfection of technique.

Arthur Reed, tenor, appeared on both the noon and matinee programs, singing many of the old appealing songs that are ever popular. Mr. Reed's voice is smooth and his articulation good, and his songs carried a charm that was pleasing. Carrie Preston Rittmeister played the accompaniment.

Dorothy Bell Robinson played her Hawaiian guitar at noon. "On the Beach at Waikiki," "Tomi Tomi," and other lively melodies of Hawaii were well played.

During the children's hour Mother Trevor opened another page of her picture book for the lads and lassies. Little Bruce Ingalls who is but 4½ years of age, gave two readings, "The Fairies," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. R. C. Wagner, soprano, sang for the children and a bedtime story finally put them to sleep.

Plan Reversal of City Dance Hall Decision

Following the refusal of the City Council yesterday to permit dancing in the public dance halls until 2 a.m. on New Year's Day, Fred Solomon, representing the Dance Hall Proprietors' and Managers' Association, said that an initiative petition would at once be circulated to bring about the extension of time desired.

The dance hall owners believe that if the petition bearing thousands of signatures is presented at the City Hall, the Council will then rescind its action of yesterday and grant the necessary permit.

Councilmen Mushet and Wheeler voted in favor of the dance hall owners' request being granted. Councilman Mushet said: "Surely, for one day in the year we can grant an extension of time to those who desire to dance the Old Year out and the New Year in. Common justice demands that the Council grant this request."

Hollywoodland Manager is Host to Forty Persons

Martin T. Hildinger, sales manager for Hollywoodland, was host Wednesday evening at a dinner at the Biltmore to about forty members of the Hollywoodland sales force, and a group of executives from the company, together with representatives of local newspapers.

The dinner was informal, and there was no set program, although L. J. Burrud, advertising manager, had prepared a number of stunts that entertained the diners, and the Hollywoodland Community Orchestra supplied music.

Henry S. Perren, salesman, was presented with a cup commemorating his feat in topping the sales list for October, and containing a purse of gold presented by the Hollywoodland company in appreciation of his record.

WISDOM OF MEN

The wise men of the East are said to be those who can tell how deep the snow is without using a shovel.

POSTAL BUSINESS

The alert Los Angeles postmaster is now ladling out postage stamps at the rate of $30,000 a day. A lot of people are writing instructions to the folks back East to sell out the stuff and come on. Those who are not doing that are sending souvenir cards telling how fine the water is at the beach.

AMONG THE SIRENS

The Council approves Chief Vollmer's suggestion that seventy sirens be provided to call the police. Isn't this a bit raw? First thing we know every cop will be wanting a pet siren of his own. They will be combing the beauty shops to find enough sirens to go 'round. Down at headquarters the cry will be: "Have you a little siren in your home?"

LIGHTING THE WORLD

It was thought that America was all lit up, but it is a matter of simple proof that only 36 per cent of the nation's homes are wired for the electric current. At that, we are the shiniest country in the world, for Europe will not average 10 per cent. The Japanese are the brightest people in the world, next to the Americans, for 30 per cent of the Japanese homes are illuminated by electricity. In Great Britain but 17 per cent of the residences are thus equipped. It looks as if there was still a lot of business on the globe for the electrician.

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

It is mentioned that one department of the government has been selling off stores and supplies at a sacrifice while another division has been taking on the same kind of stuff at stiff prices. For instance, it is told that fine sheets have been sold for 16 cents from one department while another is paying $1.08 cents for sheets of like size, but inferior quality. Fortunately we are getting more businesslike in our government and these frailties are gradually being corrected. For the first time in a generation serious efforts are being made to adjust the departments to one another on a rigid economy basis.

FORD BODIES

These organizations on behalf of the political fortunes of the Detroit motor magnate are called Ford bodies. It is significant that some of them are still started by cranks. It is also asserted that they will have to limp along under their own power. Henry won't even furnish a filling station. Those who are plugging for Ford in the expectation of deriving some fame or fortune for themselves would have a rough awakening in the event of his ever reaching the White House. Henry is famous for his discards. He would find positive joy in harpooning the amateur politicians who had exercised their blandishments in his behalf.

LOVE SICKNESS

Victorian literature is full of pensive maidens who pined away for love, but it was not believed that any such existed in the present sophisticated state of society. But, according to Dr. Tom A. Williams of Washington, D. C., a nationally known neurologist, both men and women are so stricken with grief over unrequited love that they are forced to call in the doctor.

But, alas for romance, when a modern American works up a psychosis or complex over a cold-hearted person of the other sex he doesn't acquire an interesting pallor and droop and die. Instead, he develops a series of severe stomachaches. Dr. Williams has examined hosts of lovesick swains and girls and each and every one was suffering from acute indigestion. Some of them were so far gone that they had developed a fine flock of other ailments, from dwelling too long on the false and flirtatious loved one.

How many fond hearts are broken and fair lives blithed as a result of Cupid's activities may be inferred from the doctor's statement that about 80 per cent of the cases requiring medical attention, especially those dealing with nervous ailments, have been brought to their sad state through a disappointment in love. He recommends sleuthing around in the patient's subconscious mind for an old love affair before cutting out his appendix. The chances are it is a cardiac disturbance from being left at the church or near it. One girl who was afflicted with palsy recovered when the cause of her ailment was outlined to her and perked up and laid plans for ensnaring a more desirable specimen the next time.

The divorcees do not develop any neuroses, the medico declares, despite the fact that their romances were so rudely shattered. An affair of the heart that never reaches the altar may wreck the victim's constitution, but those who file past the judge are blithesome and happy. If Dante had married Beatrice history would have been robbed of a charming love story and the poet would not have been a neurotic mooning around streets waiting for his idol to pass his way.

"OUR HANDS TO THE PLOW"

"We have put our hands to the plow and we are willing to run the furrow through."

This promise of Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador to France, made at the dedication of the monument to the American soldiers who fell in the Champagne district, finds an echo in the hearts of the American people.

The issue is plainly drawn to right-thinking people. It is obligation of honor and of common sense.

We could, if we wished, stand aside, in ostrich fashion, and pretend that this was not our war; that we are not one of the great powers of the world and that it is none of our business. But of course that would not, in any way, alter the fact that it was our war and that we are one of the great responsible powers and that it is very much our business.

Responsibilities are very seldom deliberately chosen. They come with the evolution of time and human destinies.

It is true that we did not deliberately choose to go into the war. But it is not probable that Europe hankered for it. They got into the war because of their "best interests backed by moral indignation;" and, as Ambassador Herrick points out, we went in for the same reason.

We did not rush in hastily. We waited until there was no longer any honorable way to stay out.

But once in, our responsibility does not cease until every force that we can bring to bear has been exerted toward the accomplishment of a real and lasting peace.

The war did not end with a real peace. The fighting came to an end because the contestants were out of breath—not because they were chastened or turned from the mood of hatred.

The fact is that Europe was left in a condition at the end of the fighting that called more poignantly for America's help than the condition of desperation of the Allies when the Yanks sailed for the battlefields of France.

There is a common but mistaken notion that peace is merely an absence of war; a negative condition of no conflict.

But in reality peace is a positive condition—gates that are securely locked and hatches that have been battened down upon the forces of discord; a forceful agreement by great military and moral powers against disruption and strife. Such an agreement that is ignored by the strongest war power in the world, which is the United States, is a childish absurdity. There can be no real peace and no safety from a renewal of the fires of another war until the last ember has been stamped out and the debris made safe.

Those who urge that America should stand clear of "this European mess" are like a fire department that would put out a fire on a roof and decline to stand by until the basement had been searched for hot coals.

The truth is, however, that the vast majority of the American people have no such absurd idea. Whatever else this nation may be, it is not plentifully supplied with quitters.

We found out, during the World War, that rapid transportation and rapid communication have wiped out the barriers between the Old World and the New.

No matter with what trick words we try to masquerade the fact, we know now that whatever is a matter of life or death to one great world power is vital to all the great powers of the earth. And we are one of the great powers.

The closing words of Ambassador Herrick's address may well stand as the answer of America to those who would urge us to pull down the blinds and pretend that we do not see the duty that lies before us:

> "The logic of events is stronger than any man's wishes and the vital concerns of a country take precedence over the personal preference of either its statesmen of its individual citizens.
> "Because of the things we fought for, because of the things we hoped for, because of the things our men died for—whether we like it or not, our lot is now cast in with the other nations to a very considerable extent. This whole question rises far and away above the clamor and strife of partisan politics, and whosoever seeks to use it for political advantage sullies the memory of the dead we come here to honor."

DEMOCRAT VICTORY FUND

Yes, the Democratic National Committee announces the collecting of a 1924 Victory fund. Just that simple fact and nothing more.

From whom does it expect to collect the sinews of victory? Or for what purpose? Or to boost what brand of candidate? Or how will it be allotted?

On these points the Democratic National Committee is discreetly silent.

For instance: Every time in the last eighteen months some third-party candidate has been successful Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee has come forward with the statement that such election was a great Democratic victory.

Must we infer, then, that the 1924 Victory fund will be employed for the electing of more "third-party" candidates? If so, what proportion?

How much of the Victory fund will go to Senators Reed and Walsh to help keep us out of European co-operation and how much to James Cox and Newton Baker and Holt and John H. Clark to put us into the League of Nations?

Does the "victory fund" mean the same thing to Gov. Al Smith of New York and Gov. Edwards of New Jersey as to William Jennings Bryan and the dry faction? And will the Anti-Saloon League and the "beer-and-light-wine" brigade be invited to subscribe in parallel columns?

If the "victory fund" is to be employed for the repeal of the protective tariff, as announced by the National Committee's publicity department, what becomes of Senators Kendrick of Wyoming, Broussard of Louisiana, Ashurst of Arizona and Jones of New Mexico, who voted for whatever schedule in the Fordney bill affected their particular communities?

Will the fund be administered in the interest of the views on railroad legislation held by William Gibbs McAdoo or in accordance with those of Senator Underwood and the Baltimore Sun?

Is Senator Shields's notion of a Democratic victory the same as that of former President Wilson, who only a few days ago branded the Senator from Tennessee as unworthy the trust of the Democratic party?

Those asked to subscribe to the Democratic Victory fund ought to be told in advance what to expect in return for their money. But, if they were, there might be no victory fund. It's a hard life for the Democratic National Committee.

FOR THE CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Our hats off to the Knights of Pythias who have placed the needs of the little ones above the comforts of their own members. For surely they build better who build for the care of crippled children rather than for the recreation of grown-up men and women.

According to a resolution by the Knights a home near Arrowhead Lake is being planned to take care of 50 small sufferers from the Children's Hospital where, in the pure mountain air and healthful surroundings of this natural beauty spot, they may gather fresh life and vigor before returning to their city homes.

The story of how the members of the Golden Spur Lodge were moved to this Christian deed is in itself a tribute to the ineradicable goodness in our common human nature.

Originally the motive of the Knights in investigating Arrowhead Lake was to choose a site there for the erection of a country clubhouse for the benefit of their own order. A visit to the Children's Hospital, the spectacle of suffering among the helpless inmates, an enthusiasm awakened by the love and tenderness animating its doctors and nurses changed the original plans of the Knights.

All thoughts of the comfortable clubhouse were obliterated by that visit. In its place was the vision of a restoration home for the little convalescents after the hospital had done for them all that medical attention could accomplish.

Hence the dedication of the Knights of Pythias to this work of the highest form of charity—to this carrying out of the behest of the Master. "Inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these my children, ye did it unto me."

TO BE OR NOT TO BE

BY EUGENE BROWN

It must be admitted that the politicians are in sad straits. Some of them do not know where their next embroilment will come from. When every man has a job and the ghosts are walking on double time it is mighty hard to start the voter foaming by making ribald remarks about the Monroe Doctrine. He will not rave if some millionaire plumber opens an argument for the removal of the national capital to Vincennes, Ind.

He will not even turn out for the primary election when he has a couple of uncles on the ticket.

That is why so many able-bodied or pot-bellied politicians are registering confusion at this moment. They are raking the brush for an issue. They must have some moot question to wrangle over—the mooter the better. Political parties thrive on controversy. If there is no quarrel afoot the treasury is apt to go empty. It would take a laboratory chemist nine days to analyze the difference between the average Democrat and Republican, but you can trust it to the party leaders to amplify the division until it is as wide as the Gulf Stream.

But the rank and file will neither fret nor fume over their politics. No wonder that the backers of Hiram Johnson are so desperately placed. They simply must have an issue upon which to float the frenzied bulk of their champion. No wonder they are offering fabulous rewards for the development of a question or the submission of a principle upon which the voters may divide. Even if the principle should be unprincipled it might still be welcomed. What is there that the voters have not already fought and wrangled over? Hiram has worn all the old issues into such frailty that they cannot even sit up to be photographed.

As Richard offered his kingdom for a horse, so would Hiram sacrifice his birthright for a hobby. When he solemnly warns his citizenry against the frightful hazards of Old World contacts the listeners yawn rather impolitely and wonder how the horseshoe pitching is down at the beach. When he lashes himself into a foam over the yellow peril part of the audience slips out and adds $40 to the subscription for the sufferers at Tokio. Nothing has helped him of late. There is a suspicion that he was rooting for the Giants and that he was even on the wrong side of the Dempsey-Firpo debate.

There is a chance, however, for Hiram to demonstrate that—like Othello—he can still be of some service to the state. While people are fussing about the repayment of the allied debt and other frivolous matters, why doesn't Senator Johnson do something to protect America from invasion by the pauper bees of Italy and Germany? We must protect our home-brewed bees—Presidential and otherwise. The tariff on foreign bees must be placed high enough so that we be not stung. It had been thought that there was a certain flexibility about the McCumber tariff, but, according to the ruling of an Arkansas justice, this does not extend to bees. The fussy bees of Bavaria, carrying a 17-per-cent sting, may be readily brought into this country in spite of our much-vaunted tariff and the Eighteenth Amendment.

How long will this outrage be permitted to exist?

Only the other day a wily immigrant from Naples arrived at Ellis Island with a trunk full of stalwart Italian bees. When the inspector opened the trunk the bees sifted out and reswarmed on the base of the Statue of Liberty. A cousin of the immigrant, who already lived in this country, put on a pair of mittens and a veil and rounded up the fussy insects. Before he could be pinched he had them safely landed in his cellar on Mott street and half of them were at work.

Everybody knows that the German bees are the most passionate and hot-tempered of the entire genus. They are even worse than the sluggish but petulant Italian bees. There is a well-defined suspicion that the German bees were in a large sense to blame for the big war. While we are still groping for peace it would be well for some master mind to halt the continued invasion of our shores on the part of the peppery bees of Central Europe. Some of the queens are slipped across the border every day by parcel post. How can Senator Johnson face the queens in Hollywood while rag, tag and bobtail queens from Munich and Milan are fluttering at our doors? It is enough to make an American queen flush. It is enough to give a red-blooded American the hives.

If Hiram actually wishes to be of some substantial service to his constituents and at the same time stem the waning current of his political fortunes he will forthwith indicate a purpose to protect the American bee from the impecunious insects of Saxony.

There is honey in it.

We have been stung badly enough by the Germans as it is.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE QUIET MAN

When men are elevated to places high and grand they're often so elated they talk to beat the band. Odsfishing and beshrewing, they chatter, blithe and gay; reporters, interviewing, are worked twelve hours a day. With every human topic they seem to be in touch and all these people yawpic are sure to say too much. They make some horrid blunder, they pull some boner rude, and all the voters wonder what loco weed they chewed. Then from the snowy summit they're laughed or hooted down; they find a dirge and hum it and sink, with their renown. My old friend Calvin's risen to heights supremely great; a silent course is his'n—he simply won't orate. He hears men's cry ascending, "Come bind us with a spell," but he, remote, unbending, responds not to their yell. In vain the people follow and beg him for a speech; "Oh, come to Pumpkin Hollow," "Oh, come to Bullfrog Beach!" Chautauqua tents are waiting, town halls are all aglow, but Calvin's not orating for marbles, chalk or dough. And so we have the feeling that he's a man of force, for we are tired of spieling, of windsmiths loud and hoarse.

THE DOUBTFUL BORDER LIN

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Crime waves and alarmist sermons to the contrary, I believe most of us want to be good.

So that this assault on that Methodist code of discipline, known as No. 280, which forbids all "indulgencies of sinful temper or words, dancing, playing games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, dancing parties or patronizing dancing schools" is an intimate one for all of us, no matter what our religious creed.

For, as Dean MacCormack said last Sunday, that code is part of the Methodist doctrine of consecration which has made them such a mighty factor in protestantism. And, although other Protestant churches have not actually incorporated this ban into their articles of faith, we know that these specified "indulgencies" are frowned upon in more or less degree by many varieties of Christians. Even the dean, who represents the peculiarly liberal Episcopalians, who leave such personal moral questions to the individual conscience, expressed himself as being on the side of abstinence.

But, on the other hand, we all want to enjoy ourselves and we who permit ourselves some of those indulgencies, can't bring ourselves to believe that they are necessarily sinful. Hence we avidly read Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, who is arguing for the lifting of the ban, and would greatly prefer to believe, as he says, that "The Protestant position has been that there is room for freedom in the doubtful borderlines of moral action and that we get character by the exercise of judgment. . . ." Jesus Himself, he reminds his brethren, dealt, save in the matter of divorce, with general principles.

I, for instance, born, baptized, confirmed, married and probably to be buried an Episcopalian and, therefore, to a certain extent enjoying "freedom of judgment" in such matters, was nevertheless inculcated with the fixed idea that certain forms of conduct were thoroughly wicked under any circumstances, while others, regarded as equally sinful by others, were inherently harmless. I remember full well when I first went to a theater on Sunday. I felt horribly sacrilegious, although it was a semireligious play. Week-day theaters, any brand, were quite all right—but theaters on the Sabbath . . . I waited for days for some awful Nemesis to overtake me.

It was the same with cards. Certain games were quite proper—whist, "old maid," "beat your neighbor" and "my bird sings," especially if one only played for marks or counters. But poker, trente-et-une, banco, even for mere counters, much less money, gave me an awful sensation of conspiring with the devil. But any sort of a game was much wickeder on Sundays than on week days. But one could read any sort of a book on Sundays, one could play outdoor games, go to the beach, swim, drive, visit and cook—oh, yes, it was almost wicked if some one did not devote half the Sabbath to extra cooking—while, on the other hand, I was honestly convinced that, if I darned my stockings or made a new waist on the Sabbath, I was headed straight for hell and eternal damnation.

I was a full-grown woman before some of these faint and subtle distinctions faded into liberal interpretation, before I exercised my judgment according to circumstances. And it is noteworthy that I now think it much more sinful to spend the Sabbath preparing gluttonous meals—either for myself or any hired maid—than to mend my stockings if they are in urgent need of darning. Whereas I know a stern old Presbyterian who thinks nothing of victimizing some member of the household that a worthy Sunday dinner may fill his carcass on his return from church, while, if they dared darn a stocking on the Sabbath, he would be furiously horror-stricken.

So I guess most of us do use such meager judgment as we have, anyway. And it is usually a bit contradictory.

Upon psyching myself I find I have a nicely established prejudice against gambling for money. True, I have this to confess among my "indulgencies"—but I was usually a trifle reluctant.

But there, again, it doesn't seem reasonable. After all, life is one long gamble from the day we get born to the day we die. Why it should be naughtier to risk a dollar or two on a game of chance than to, say, get married is beyond me. And what could be a greater gamble than having babies—such a tremendous speculation. Only the most confirmed optimist could call either matrimony or parenthood an investment.

My dear mamma-in-law regards gambling as quite dreadful—but she took awful chances when she married and had babies, one of them to grow up and marry me, and her only possible defense of this recklessness is that the gamble has turned out passing well. But is successful gambling more righteous than unsuccessful—morally speaking, of course? After all, being a good loser—like Job—must make for better character building than being even the most modestly smug winner.

And why do I think playing cards for money so much wickeder than investing in real estate? That mamma-in-law of mine feels the same as I about that. She would feel dreadful to take a chance at winning 30 cents at bridge, but perfectly righteous in taking a chance of making a nice profit on a real-estate deal. Both of us would pocket it without a qualm. Both of us would loose with a sigh and never believe we deserved to. And neither of us is a Methodist, but I fancy we are peculiarly like Methodists in this particular.

These are just a few of the intimate little "doubtful borderlines of moral action." So, actually, every-one of us must be

THOUSANDS ARE TO CELEBRATE

Armistice Day Observance Will be Huge Affair

Entertainment to be Given in Coliseum Sunday

Fifteen Bands Will Play in Gigantic Parade

More than 100,000 persons will take part in the Armistice Day celebration next Sunday in the Coliseum at Exposition Park, according to an estimate made yesterday by the Armistice Day committee.

Figures compiled in the office of the grand marshal, Le Roy Smith, indicated that there will be more than 20,000 persons in the parade and reports reaching the committee on invitations indicated that the Stadium, holding 80,000 people, will be filled to capacity.

It was necessary to compile these figures in order that the police might make provisions for the handling of the crowd. Assistant Chief Hill declared it would be necessary to detail 150 patrolmen to cover the line of mrach and look after the thousands in the Coliseum. The police believe the Armistice Day demonstration will be one of the largest patriotic celebrations ever held in Los Angeles.

SURVEY OF COLISEUM

A final survey of the Coliseum was made yesterday by Gen. C. E. Adams, chairman of the general committee, Col. Le Roy Smith, grand marshal, P. E. Roller, president of the Federated Patriotic Societies of Los Angeles, and several other officials.

This survey led to an arrangement being made for the placing of a giant voice amplifier on the speakers' platform so that addresses may be heard from all seats. Two commanders-in-chief of the American Legion and the Grand Army of the Republic will deliver messages and also will review the parade.

Judge Albert C. Alcorn, Commander-in-Chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, will be unable to attend the ceremonies, according to word received yesterday from the national headquarters of the veterans. Judge Alcorn, it was stated, is extremely busy at the present in mapping the legislative program to be introduced by the veterans at the next session of Congress, and for that reason was not able to make the trip from Cincinnati.

The parade will enter the arena from the western traffic tunel, circle the eastern end and then disband, the marchers immediately taking seats in the Stadium, where several sections have been reserved.

ORDERS ABOUT TRAFFIC

The police have issued orders to keep all traffic, except that of the parade itself, out of Exposition Park during the time the marchers are entering and the period of services. This will make it possible for the thousands in the Stadium to get to and from their seats without traffic interference.

A reviewing stand is being erected at the eastern end of the Stadium where the speakers and honor guests occupying the platform will face virtually each section of the arena.

Boy Scouts will act as guides and ushers as well as being stationed in the area used for the formation of the parade, which will start at 1:30 p. m. sharp, from Adams and Figueroa streets.

The police department is detailing 150 policemen to cover the line of march along Figueroa street.

FIFTEEN BANDS

At least fifteen bands will be in the six divisions of the parade. The band of the 160th Infantry will be the first in the parade, and also will play the Star Spangled Banner at the opening of the services beginning immediately after the grand review.

It was definitely decided yesterday that Gage Christopher will lead the community singing.

It was announced by the committee that Fire Chief Scott and the Fire Commissioner were unanimous in granting permission for the Fireman's Band to take part in the services and parade.

The recent arrival in Los Angeles Harbor of the French merchant marine cadet steamer Jacques Cartier, under the command of Capt. Renee Pugnet, is expected to lend color to the celebration.

Mr. Bruneche, representing the French colony, has been requested to extend an invitation to Capt. George's Paouillace, who is in command of the cadets, to participate with the cadets in the services and parade.

There will be a dance given by the French War Veterans for the cadets in Hollenbeck Hall tomorrow night and an appeal has been made for the attendance of women from the ages of 18 to 25.

Los Angeles Lad Long Missing Is Amnesia Victim

George Mauser, 18 years of age, son of George B. Mauser, wealthy Los Angeles business man, who had been mysteriously missing from Stanford University since last Saturday, was located yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., apparently a victim of amnesia, according to a telegram received last night by J. B. Irsfeld, an attorney and friend of Mr. Mauser, who had conducted the search.

Mauser disappeared shortly after a friendly boxing bout on the campus of the university, it was said. During the bout he received an injury to his head, but nothing was thought of it at the time. When friends failed to locate him after two days, search, the youth's parents were notified and authorities were asked to aid in the search. The youth was found in Atlanta by friends of the family. His parents reside at 1541 Ogden Drive.

ANGELOTTI RESIGNS

F. M. Angelotti, former Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court and a member of the Board of Bar Examiners, has resigned from the latter body, according to announcement yesterday. He will be succeeded by Arthur J. Tasheira.

Bondsman for Orsatti Held as Ineligible

The agreement reached between United States District Judges Bledsoe and James that no person under indictment in the Federal court shall be accepted as bondsman on any undertaking guaranteeing the appearance of another when wanted in a court proceeding yesterday prevented Gulio Nuccio from going on the bond of Morris Orsatti, who is seeking his release from the County Jail, pending the disposition of his appeal from a judgment rendered in Judge Bledsoe's court for bribing Harold H. Dolley, local prohibition agent, that resulted in Orsatti being sentenced to the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island for twenty years.

Nuccio is under indictment and at liberty on a bail bond of $10,000 for conspiring with George Cleveland to deprive the government of about $7000 alleged to be due on liquor withdrawn from the bonded warehouse.

Nuccio was willing to qualify, but Commissioner Long was informed by Asst. U. S. Atty. Herron of the position that had been taken in the matter by the two Federal judges, and he was refused.

A total of $50,000 has been secured for the Orsatti bond, but the liability under the law must be $100,000, in order to perfect a $50,000 bond. Just half of the required sum has been raised.

Meanwhile Orsatti is acting as nurse in the County Jail.

JUDGE SHELDON IS NOW PROUD FATHER

For the next few days attorneys who seek rulings from Police Judge Sheldon at University Station are likely to receive such an unexpected reply as, "It's a girl." Or perhaps the hardened bootlegger may wonder why the usually austere justice wears a broad smile. Most persons may wonder, but friends at the University Station will not. It is a nine-pound baby girl. Mrs. Sheldon and daughter are reported doing well at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Court was conducted in Judge Sheldon's absence yesterday by Police Judges Pope and McConnell.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

CALLING OUR SOULS OUR OWN

He is a lawyer in this town and also an earnest church worker. He approached me with almost paternal kindliness, said he had often wished to meet me, and, without further warning, asked, "My sister, have you given your soul to Jesus?"

I was frankly embarrassed and mumbled something like "I hope so." His expression became very serious, almost severe. It was not sufficient for me to "hope." That was one of the things I must "know" and firmly declare one way or the other. "Are you saved, sister? Have you accepted Jesus Christ as your Savior?"

And he gazed at me sternly, awaiting my declaration. He was terribly earnest and obviously considered this was one of the things he had a right to ask—and which I had no right to resent being asked. I realized all this, even sympathized with the urge that prompted him—and yet I felt peculiarly resenting. It seemed to me such a very intimate question, much more intimate than asking me how much money I earned or how old I was—neither of which questions he would have dared to ask me.

But I did not want to snub him. On the other hand I did not feel that he was the sort of person I could discuss my soul with for a moment. The circle of long-time intimates with whom I would discuss my soul is very limited—and then the occasion would have to be propitious, one of those cozy sentimental interludes, perhaps in the firelight when precious confidences are exchanged. But this man was an absolute stranger. I did not even know him by repute, we had not even mutual friends. It seemed utterly indecent to stand there chattering in that crowd to that man about my most sacred and private religious emotions. In fact, it just could not be done. So I smiled, but countered with a question about his work. He was not to be balked, however, he had annexed my soul as his personal responsibility.

It was very difficult. I tried to remember that if he was a man of refinement and sensibility, with sympathetic imagination, it must be just as awkward for him to put that question to strangers as for strangers to answer them. He doubtless considered this his heaven-imposed duty. I longed to impudently reciprocating with an impertinent "Have you?" I did just resist that temptation and smiled instead, saying, "I can't talk about it here, you know, can I?"

He wanted to know why I couldn't talk about it there, but if I couldn't, when could he see me when I would talk about it? And so, after dire provocation, I did murmur that I did not wish to talk about it at all with him. He looked shocked, wounded, painfully reproachful. And quite obviously regarded me as a lost and hardened sinner.

Well, that is an embarrassing experience I have met with on several occasions. But sometimes they were such kindly old dears, such likable Christians, that I had no occasion to make direct protest. A little smile and a friendly squeeze of the hand sufficed. But somehow I could not permit that lawyer to assume those rights about my soul. Devoutly I wanted to call my soul my own—and was so very willing to let him call his soul his own.

How do nice, polite people answer such a direct personal question? Is the average person ready to discuss these intimacies with any and every stranger that chooses to approach one on the subject? We can all imagine our emotions if even the most earnest and worthy friends and acquaintances asked us about our bank accounts, much less strangers. Yet surely our souls should be much more sacred than our bank accounts. Yet I have heard pastors call for volunteers from their pulpits to make dates with busy business men and for just that—to ask them the most intimate and personal questions about their souls. And volunteers arose all over the church.

I am tremendously curious to know how these volunteers fared—whether the busy business men reacted to it as I did. After listening to a "report" meeting of these "fishers of men," it is very obvious that earnest strangers are busily accosting strangers with this same intimate question, everywhere, every day. They expect to be snubbed by hardened sinners, but they expect to be welcomed by everyone else who has not actually decided upon eternal damnation. They speak regretfully about the difficulty of "converting" good, respectable people and opine that these are the hardest to save "because of their self-righteousness." But perhaps after all, the "respectable" people are merely sensitive about calling their souls their own, merely selective about those with whom they could possibly discuss their most sacred hopes, fears, faiths and religious devotions.

It might be sufficient if one could answer fearlessly and unblushingly, "Yes, I am saved; yes, I am a Christian." But we may have higher ideals of Christian conduct than we have been able to live up to, we may want to say a little prayer and commune privately with our souls before making such a sweeping declaration; we may want the solace of prayerful indorsement in all humility, before flamboyantly making any such public claim.

On the other hand, we cannot, no matter how much we object to the personality of the inquirer, coldly repudiate our faith. Besides, that might so easily encourage that particular self-chosen missionary to pay us more ardent attention. Had I been a heretic, I cannot imagine that lawyer, for instance, winning me to grace. Or even enduring to let him try. If, indeed, we must give our souls into the keeping and unto the guidance of someone else, one would wish to choose so sacred a "guide, philosopher and friend" with infinite discrimination. Just as we choose our bankers, our teachers, our authors.

Yet if one resists the intimate volunteered instruction of any Christian that offers it, one is immediately suspected of being a scion of the devil. They do not say, "If you are not for Jesus you are against Him"—which is reasonable—but they say "if you are not for me you are against Jesus" (that is practically what the lawyer said to me,) and that seems to me infinitely sacrilegious.

But I may be wrong—this may be just my own unworthy reaction. I should like to know how other people who hold their religion as a very intimate personal thing, feel about this form of missionary work.

Am I alone in wanting to call my soul my own?

NEW MODEL CARS READY FOR DISPLAY

Decorators Transforming Interior of Tents at Prager Park

Tomorrow afternoon the 1923 Automobile Show at Praeger Park will open. More than $1,000,000 worth of automotive finery is on display. Fifty-five different makes of cars are represented.

Decorators were busy late yesterday afternoon on the art work which is to camouflage the tents under which the cars are to be exhibited. The supporting poles are concealed by huge Corinthian columns, the ceilings draped and the canvas walls covered with hangings.

According to Burt Roberts, manager of the show this year, the attendance promises to break all former records. His office has been flooded with out-of-town correspondence inquiring about the show. He feels that this is an indication of a heavy attendance from neighboring motor car enthusiasts.

Not only are automobiles to be displayed, but accessories will be exhibited. In fact, everything to do with automobiles has been included in the numerous exhibits.

Many new mechanical developments have been embodied in this year's models. These features will play an important part in the displays.

The show doors will be thrown open at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon and will be kept open until 10:30 in the evening. Entrance may be made either on Grand avenue or Hill street, box offices and entry ways having been provided at both ends of the tents.

Grand Jurors Indict Nine on Theft Charges

Indictments against nine men were returned by the county grand jury yesterday in Judge Avery's department of the Superior Court. The men named are Walter Strider, Harold Fisher, Johnny Green, Willard Caruthers, Nathan Price, Carl Hall, Monroe Atkinson, Henry Edwards and Leroy Decatur.

The first four named are charged with burglary of a store owned by Harry Wolf at Watts and with grand larceny of a number of automobiles, while the last five are charged with grand larceny only. Bail in the case of the first four was set at $10,000 and in the case of the last five at $5000.

The accused are said to be members of a band of automobile thieves which made away with many cars here in the past month.

Attorney Wage Scale Subject of Examination

A committee to interview the Board of Supervisors and the County Civil Service Commission regarding reasons why salaries paid deputy district attorneys are not in proportion to those paid men in like positions in the county was appointed yesterday by the grand jury.

At present the salaries of deputies range from $150 to $325 a month. The scale, it is asserted, is so low that it is impossible to retain the deputies. But three deputies received the maximum salary. Those in the Superior Court receive $225 a month while one or two others are paid $300 a month.

LESSNER HOME FROM TRIP TO ALASKA

Deputy United States Marshal Henry Lessner returned yesterday from a 4000-mile trip to Juneau, Alaska, where he took William G. Cheney, an old Alaska miner, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Cheney organized an oil company in Alaska, and after he had sold his interest in the concern for $300, it is charged he spent the money having certificates of stock printed, which he sold and cleaned up about $15,000. Cheney had been president of the company, and officials allege he signed his name as the head of the corporation, after he had sold his holdings and retired.

BEQUEST FORFEITURE AFFIRMED BY COURT

Forfeiture of a bequest of $2000 willed by Josephine G. Kitchen to Lulu Ruble Kitchen, a niece, which was ordered in Superior Court, has been affirmed by the State Supreme Court. The item of $2000 was one of a number of similar bequests by the deceased, the bulk of the estate, amounting to $128,000, being left to a sister, Mary A. Ballard. The niece contested the will and entered an additional claim for $25,000 on the ground that the deceased had orally promise her that amount in consideration of living with her, and being of service during the remainder of her life. The will provided for forfeiture by any legatee who contested its provisions, but the niece set against this another provision that all just debts should be paid out of the estate. This contention was lost because the only evidence of such a debt was her own testimony, which was ruled to be inadmissible.

FRENCH TOAST

Beat three eggs slightly and add to them half a teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Toast nine slices of stale bread, remove the crusts and lay in the egg and milk mixture for three minutes. Heat four tablespoons of butter in a frying pan, lay in the bread slices and brown on one side, pour over the balance of the milk and egg mixture, turn and brown on the other side. Serve on a hot plate, dust with powdered sugar and pass a tart jelly with the toast.

SALMON SALAD MABELLE

Rub a cold bowl with a clove of garlic, remove the clove of garlic and mix in the bowl one cup of diced, cold, boiled lobster, one and one-half cups of flaked cooked salmon, two tablespoons of chopped pimientos, one cup of diced cucumbers, one-half a cup of diced white celery, one tablespoon of chopped green peppers, two tablespoons of chopped capers, and half a cup of French dressing. Mix well, drain and mound on six lettuce-covered plates; cover the salad with mayonnaise dressing, sprinkle over finely chopped capers and garnish with slices of hard boiled eggs and ripe olives.

CREAM PIE

Line a deep pie tin with a good pastry, fill with dry beans and bake a nice brown in a moderate oven. Remove the beans and set to cool. Beat the yolks of four eggs with six tablespoons of sugar and stir into them two cups of boiling milk; mix well, place in a double boiler, add one tablespoon of corn-starch mixed to a smooth paste with a little cold milk, and stir over the fire until thick and smooth. Remove from the fire, cool slightly and add one teaspoon of vanilla extract and half a teaspoon of lemon extract. Pour the custard into the baked pie shell and set in the oven for one minute. Beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth and beat into them half a cup of sifted sugar, a little at a time. Mound the meringue on the pie and set in a very slow oven for twenty minutes.

BOILED HAM

Wash an eight or ten-pound ham with cold water, trim off all rough parts, place in a large pan, cover with cold water, add two bay leaves, one onion stuck with four whole cloves, one cup of vinegar, and two stalks of celery. Let stand over night. Drain, place in a kettle, cover with cold water, bring to a boil and drain off the water. Replace on the stove, cover with warm water, add one bay leaf, one blade of mace, three scraped carrots, three outside stalks of celery and half a dozen whole pepper corns. Bring slowly to a boil and simmer at an even heat for two and a half or three hours, or until the skin can be pulled off. If baked ham is liked place the skinned ham in a baking pan, cover the fat with one cup of bread crumbs mixed with two cups of brown sugar, press whole cloves around the edge of the fat, pour one cup of cider in the pan and brown in a medium oven, basting often.

PUDDING IMPERATRICE

Dissolve half a cup of grated sweet chocolate in two cups of hot, strong, black coffee; add, when cold, four tablespoons sugar, one cup of blanched and chopped almonds, and two cups of stiffly whipped cream. Pack in a wet mold, cover tight and cover with two parts fine ice and one part rock salt and let stand four hours. When serving garnish with whipped cream and chopped cherries.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

My Wardrobe

Being a man, the question of clothes does not interest me much. All I ask is comfort. I want no ridgey seams or buttons, or heavy tape knots to press into my tender skin. I want my clothes loose enough so that they will not limit me when I want to wriggle. I want them of such a weight that they will keep me warm but not too warm. I want the garments next to my skin to be of material that will not tickle or scratch me, and of course, I like them dry. I want no pins to stick into any part of me.

I have no desire for dressy effects—no frills or furbelows for me. Any kind of lace or embroidery around my neck, I am sure, would irritate me. I like my outer garments made so that they can be put on over my feet instead of over my head. I am quite sure that pulling them over my head would be unpleasant, and I would probably protest in no uncertain terms.

I like my sleeves the kimono or raglan type because they are so much easier to put on me than the set-in sleeves. And, of course those garments are easier for my mamma to make. (I will tell you more about how my clothes are made in a later article.)

Before I came, my mamma had a lot of fun making the most of my wardrobe. She did not spend a lot of time embroidering and sewing on lace and putting a lot of other unnecessary work on my clothes, for she knew that the simpler and plainer my garments were, the better it would be for me.

I have quite an extensive wardrobe because I had a great number of things presented me. However, many of them I never wear. I will give you a list that doctor says every mamma should have ready for her baby when it comes. She says this list will do for all purposes during the first year.

With this list, the washing would not have to be done oftener than twice a week, excepting in the case of diapers; they should be washed every day.

BABY'S FIRST OUTFIT

Four abdominal bands of soft flannel for the first month; four knitted abdominal bands with shoulder straps and tabs, for after the first month; four cotton and wool shirts; five dozen diapers, in two sizes; four pairs of long, light weight merino stockings; four nightgows; six Gertrude petticoats, four flannel, two nainsook; six cotton over dresses; two wrappers, cashmere and flannel; one coat, one cap; two sacks—knitted, flannel or cashmere; one yard square, knitted shawl or blanket.

Next week I'll let doctor tell you more about my wardrobe. Until then, au revoir,

A. SOCKUMS.

Copper for the Evening

While capes are no longer good for the street, they find all the favor in the world both in the country, where they are likely to be made in plaid, and in the evening when they employ velvet or—as in this instance—a new lame that looks like metal crepe.

The frock silhouette in Paris continues to be more slender than slenderness itself, but there is often an added touch to take away from the stark realism of the pillar. In the gown sketched, this effect is accomplished by means of bead fringe. The whole costume —frock, fringe, cape, fur—runs an interesting gamut of copper tones, which is only one more proof of the popularity of brown in all its manifestations.

Gwynn Wilson, general manager of the University of Southern California, announced yesterday that there were still plenty of good seats for the California-U.S.C. football game at the Coliseum Saturday at the local sporting goods houses. There are a number of seats left on the west end, which is on the shady side of the field. Every seat in the Coliseum is a good vantage point to witness a football game so it is expected that there will be a sell-out for the Bear-Trojan contest. B. H. Dyas, A. G. Spalding's Tufts-Lyon Arms Company, Desmonds and Cline-Cline are the sporting goods stores selling tickets for the big game.

SEES FILM ONLY HALF OF SHOW

R. M. Yost Testifies at Trade Commission Hearing

Tells Why Producers Buy Theater Interests

Sid Grauman Discusses the Lasky Transactions

Only 50 per cent of the entertainment the film fan deserves from the motion pictures is due to the pictures themselves, according to testimony given at the Federal Trade Commission's hearing of charges of unfair competition against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in the Federal Building yesterday.

The picture is only half the show, according to R. M. Yost, president of the Film Board of Trade, who testified for the government. The rest of your evening's entertainment at the movies is derived from the "setting." That is, the grand way in which the house itself is decorated and furnished, the fancy colored lights, the sheiks and sheikesses in costume as ushers, the orchestra of artists, the swell prologue and all that—those are the things that make up the other 50 per cent of the show.

PRODUCERS' INTEREST

The point was brought out when the government sought to determine why some of the motion-picture producers, notably the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, bought interests in theaters all over the country in which to exhibit their pictures.

"The producer is anxious to have his picture presented to the public in the most advantageous manner," Mr. Yost testified. "That is why, in some instances, a producer will pay the theater owner a portion of the cost of putting on a given picture with an elaborate prologue and expensive exploitation stunts. The setting in which a picture is shown is half the show. The theater owner is selling the public entertainment, regardless of whether it is in the form of the picture itself or the setting."

GRAUMAN TESTIFIES

Sid Grauman, local motion-picture theater man, was subpoenaed by the government, being ordered to bring with him contracts between himself and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and the West Coast Theaters Corporation. It developed from Mr. Grauman's testimony that he owns only a half interest in the Hollywood Egyptian Theater, having sold one-half to the West Coast Theaters Corporation in November, 1922, after he had offered the half interest to the Lasky Corporation and they rejected it. It developed also that Famous Players-Lasky has owned a 50 per cent interest in Grauman's three downtown theaters, the Million Dollar, the Metropolitan and the Rialto. A deal is shortly to be consummated, Mr. Grauman testified, by which the Lasky Corporation will exercise an option they have been holding to purchase the entire interests in his three downtown theaters.

The hearing, which has been going on for months in all parts of the United States, is being conducted in Los Angeles by John S. Biggs, examiner for the Federal Trade Commission. The government's case is being handled by W. H. Fuller, chief counsel for the commission, assisted by H. A. Cox. The Lasky Corporation is being represented by Robert T. Swain, Ralph Cohen and Bruce Bromley. The hearing will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

ASKS HEART BALM OF MAN DECLARED WED

Marie Schrader filed suit yesterday against Clifton R. Hill for $50,000 for asserted breach of promise to marry. It is asserted in the complaint that Hill proposed, was accepted, and that the date for the wedding was set for September 24, 1923, or thereabouts. Miss Schrader charges Hill failed to keep his promise and on September 25, last, told her she was "not a fit person for him to marry." The complaint accuses Hill of winning the hand of Miss Schrader when he was already married without telling her of his wife.

OPINION AIDS CITIZENSHIP

Aliens Who Evaded Draft Now Can be Naturalized Five Years After Filing Application

An important opinion, in which U. S. District Judge James joined, relating to naturalization, was handed down yesterday by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe. It established the status of aliens who escaped service during the late World War on account of their noncitizenship, and their right to file future declarations of intention to become American citizens. Hundreds of aliens have been denied American citizenship in Federal courts, for the reason that in their questionnaire they set out the fact that they were aliens and offered that as an excuse in draft exemption pleas.

The case in question was that John F. Linder, subject of Germany, who came to the United States in 1914, and filed his declaration of intention to become an American citizen on March 10, 1919.

His application for citizenship was denied, and later on he filed a request that he be allowed to file a new application. It was an answer to such petition that the opinion was handed down.

The opinion sets forth that if a declaration of intention is filed after the armistice, November 11, 1918, at the expiration of five years after such filing they may apply for citizenship. In a word, that their eligibility to citizenship shall begin to run after the declaration of peace, and continue during the statutory period of five years.

In his opinion, Judge Bledsoe said "that to permit such civic delinquents to remain in our midst and yet to deny them the proud privilege of American citizenship, is to foster a menace. It could not be otherwise than that, as the years progressed living with us and yet not of us, they would become morose and probably hostile and capable of working infinite danger to us and to our beloved institutions."

There has been considerable ill-feeling caused by rulings denying aliens citizenship, but the action here has been followed all over the country.

This has been especially true of German subjects. Until now, just what course to pursue on the part of those who have been rejected has been undetermined. Now the course is clear.

Previous refilings have been on the supposition that something would be done looking to the admission of this class of applicants. The first case under the new rule will be before the court next week, a declaration of intention having been filed immediately following the armistice.

CADET SHIP PROLONGS VISIT HERE

Unloading One of Tractors at Los Angeles Harbor

In command of Capt. Renee Pugnet, the French steamship Jacques Cartier with eighty-five naval cadets, has arrived in Los Angeles Harbor, where she will remain ten days before proceeding to Tacoma, where she will load grain for the return trip to Havre. At the local harbor, the vessel discharged 151 Holt tractors that will be reconditioned and distributed throughout the Western States and in Northern Mexico.

The cadets aboard the Jacques Cartier were assigned to the vessel by the French government, the number being recruited from various naval institutes throughout France. They are taking the trip in order to obtain practical maritime experience before taking up active duties board sea-going vessels. The cadets are under command of Capt. Georges Uaouillac.

In addition to the shipment of tractors for Los Angeles, the Jacques Cartier is carrying 400 tons of sand to be used for glass making. This will be discharged at Tacoma.

WINDIATE DENIES CHARGE

Says He Told Mrs. Woodyard of Family and That He Never Promised to Marry Her

A burning conscience which told him that he had made a mistake, the appeal of his wife and baby, many miles away, and the great joy that came with hunting ducks were weighed in the balance in Judge Burnell's court yesterday where the $50,000 heart balm suit brought by Violet Woodyard against Burt W. Windiate, is on trial.

Windiate was on the stand practically all day yesterday. He gave another version of the hunting trip on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Woodyard and her mother. He didn't get along with them very well, and far, far away in Long Beach his wife and baby were reaching out into the northern wilds to grasp his heartstrings, he said. And the only reason he stayed as long as he did was because he wanted to shoot ducks, he added.

DENIES MARRIAGE PROMISE

The defendant testified he had never promised to marry the plaintiff; that she had often told him she would like to get married but that he had replied that that was impossible as he already had a family.

Mrs. Woodyard had previously testified that the defendant did not tell her he was married until November 2, 1922, four months after they became engaged.

Under cross-examination, Windiate denied he had ever purchased an engagement ring for Mrs. Woodyard, or that he had promised to build her a bungalow.

"I felt that I had made a mistake," he replied to a question put by R. T. Walters, attorney for Mrs. Woodyard.

"The fact that I had been out with these ladies I knew would not make a hit with my wife."

INFORMED HIS WIFE

Windiate said his wife was "very provoked" when he returned from the hunting party and informed her he had been accompanied by the plaintiff and her mother.

"She said she could hardly take me back under the circumstances," he continued.

The witness declared he had offered to make a financial settlement with his mate to get her to take him back at that time, but that she had refused. Later, however, she accepted a proposal that he give her all the proceeds of the sale of his property in Chicago. It was brought out that this property was sold for $50,000, $24,000 of which was turned over to the defendant's wife after a mortgage had been paid.

"I turned over every dollar I had to my wife to get her to take me back," he said. "She thought I was not competent to handle the funds."

He testified he had introduced his wife to the plaintiff very early in their acquaintance.

Mrs. Charles Risdon and Dorothy Meadows, 14 years of age, both of Long Beach, took the stand and told of seeing Mrs. Woodyard, the Windiates and their child in the same groups on the beach at Long Beach during the early months of 1922.

The case is expected to go to the jury late today or tomorrow morning.

Defendants in Cemetery Sale Case on Stand

Hearing was resumed yesterday before Deputy Labor Commissioner Barker in the claim of Fred G. Waterman against the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Finance Company for $62,000 declared to be commissions due and unpaid for sale of burial plots in Valhalla Memorial Park. The claim rests on an alleged oral agreement reported by Waterman and denied by the defendants.

Waterman claims a commission of 2 per cent on sales totaling $3,500,000. It is admitted by all concerned that he has been paid $8000 and has refused an additional $4000.

Osborne and Fitzpatrick took the stand yesterday and categorically denied all of Waterman's assertions concerning his claim. The next hearing was set for the 21st inst.

SAYS WOMAN CONFESSED

Landlady Tells of Mrs. Wall's Asserted Statement After Stabbing; Three Women on Jury

Grace Wall, alias Virginia Lavallie, dropped on her knees beside the body of Henry Willard Johnson and tried to stanch the blood coming from the wound she is asserted to have inflicted, Mrs. Maco M. Davis, Johnson's landlady, testified yesterday, at the trial of the young woman for Johnson's asserted murder.

The case is before Judge Hardy in Superior Court and a jury of nine men and three women was completed yesterday morning.

TELLS OF CONFESSION

Mrs. Davis said Mrs. Wall came running into her apartment the afternoon of August 24 and exclaimed, "My God, I've killed Johnson." She returned with Mrs. Wall to the apartment and found Johnson on the floor with a stab wound in his chest. Then, she said, Mrs. Wall tried to give him aid.

Another witness was Dr. F. R. Webb, who testified Johnson died from a knife wound in his heart. The case will continue today. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moroney appears for the prosecution.

Stanley Visell, attorney for Mrs. Wall, appeared to be making an effort to bar women from the jury, making the statement he would have no women jurors if he could avoid it. He also asked each talesman whether the fact of his client's addiction to liquor would prejudice him against her. It is understood the defense will be Mrs. Wall was intoxicated and thought she had killed Johnson when in fact he was stabbed by someone else.

Two women who are said to have visited the apartment-house shortly before the murder were present in court and are expected to be called as witnesses.

FUQUA BREAKDOWN

Nervous Disorders Causes Only Short Retirement

I. W. Fuqua, president of the Petroleum Midway Company, Ltd., the California Petroleum Corporation and the Chamber of Mines, who has been ill at his home, 707 North Mariposa street, for the past two weeks, is not "seriously ill," it was declared last night by Dr. Granville MacGowan, his physician. At home, Mrs. Fuqua said Mr. Fuqua had suffered a breakdown due to overwork and that he would be at his office again after a complete rest.

Dr. MacGowan said it would probably be two weeks yet before Mr. Fuqua would be able to again devote his attention to his many oil interests.

SUES TO REGAIN RING

The return of a diamond ring or $500 was asked in a suit brought by Cora Hannigan against Lewis Barton, filed yesterday. The plaintiff stated she turned over the ring to Barton to insure payment of a debt of $50. She declared Barton told her he had sold the ring to satisfy the claim when she offered to pay him the $50.

PLAN HUGE FRUIT EXHIBIT

California Atmosphere to be Carried to St. Louis for Show Next February

Completion of plans for the largest orange and semitropical fruit exhibition ever conducted outside the Golden State, was announced yesterday by officers of the California Orange Show and Fruit Exposition, which will be given at St. Louis, February 15 to 24, inclusive.

With midwinter conditions prevailing throughout the Middle West, the St. Louis Coliseum, the largest building of its kind in that section of the country, will be converted into a bit of California. Persons accustomed to attending the frequent events at the Coliseum will step from snow-covered streets into a veritable fairyland of fruits and flowers. In addition to the variety of brilliant feature displays, thousands of dollars will be expended on the decorative scheme, in order to give the interior of the building an "atmosphere" that will be Californian in every way, according to plans.

The fruit exposition, which was conceived for the purpose of popularizing California products in the Middle West and East and developing a closer relationship between producer and consumer, has been given concrete form by the union of growers and shippers in a nonprofit organization, with F. M. Renfro as general manager.

Mr. Renfro, who for several years was general manager of the National Orange Show at San Bernardino, declared that a number of exhibitors already have made application for space, the largest of these being the Mutual Orange Distributors, who will send an entire carload of fruit to the exposition. They also will send a complete packing plant, with a corps of pretty girl packers, to show how oranges are handled from the tree to customer.

The California Orange Show and Fruit Exposition will be Statewide in scope, it was announced, with citrus and deciduous fruits, raisins, figs, dates, olives, avocados, nuts and their many by-products represented in the displays. Chambers of Commerce, civic organizations, resorts, transportation companies, and hotels also are expected to participate, in view of the opportunity afforded by the exposition for direct contact with thousands of persons, the majority of whom are believed to be interested in California in one way or another.

The St. Louis Coliseum, which seats approximately 10,000, was chosen for the initial show after weeks of careful consideration. It is planned, according to Mr. Renfro, to make the California Orange Show and Fruit Exposition an annual event, taking it next season possibly to Kansas City and Chicago, in addition to St. Louis.

The new organization, which has the indorsement of the local Chamber of Commerce, has C. P. Early, general manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors, as president. Other officers include Frank Wiggins, honorary president; C. S. Whitcomb, vice-president; F. Q. Story, honorary vice-president; S. W. Cunningham, secretary, and A. S. Bradford, treasurer. Headquarters have been opened at 407 F. W. Braun Building, 1240 South Main street.

ONE KILLED, MAN DYING, AUTOS' TOLL

Woman Succumbs to Fractured Skull After Reaching Hospital

One woman was fatally injured and a man may die as a result of two traffic accidents yesterday, according to police reports.

Miss Nellie Smith, 25 years of age, of 920 West Eleventh street, died at the Receiving Hospital of a basal skull fracture received when she was struck at Twelfth and Main streets by an automobile said to have been driven by Morris Grasher of 2209½ Brooklyn avenue. Grasher reported the accident to police and was not held. It was thought the victim would recover when she was first taken to the hospital. The body is at McCormick's funeral parlor.

Lewis Asterberg, 54, a carpenter of 6604 South Hoover street, is at the Receiving Hospital with a basal skull fracture received, according to police report, when he was hit by a machine driven by T. L. Kelly, of 1438 West Seventy-ninth street. Police Surgeon Dodge entertains little hope for his recovery. Kelly was not held.

STUDIO WORLD TO GRACE BALL

Filmland Stars to be Guests of Military Affair

Long Beach Plans Elaborate Scenic Effects

Mammoth Massed Navy Band to Furnish Music

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 8.—Admirals of the Navy, prominent leaders of the Hollywood film colony, men prominent in civic affairs and leaders of the Long Beach social set will gather here Friday night at the grand military ball that is to mark the opening of the Carnival of States. The municipal auditorium will be the scene of the social function and elaborate decorative and electric-lighting schemes have been worked out by experts to make the auditorium a blazing spectacle of light and beauty.

Admiral C. W. Coontz, Rear-Admiral Robison and Rear-Admiral Chase of the Pacific Battle Fleet, together with Wanda Hawley, Herbert Rawlinson, Mae Murray, Priscilla Dean, Norma Talmade, Harold Lloyd, Charles Chaplin, Gloria Swanson and Mildred Davis, will be guests of honor, it was announced here today by George Ford, chairman of one of the committees. Miss Mary Pickford has been invited to preside at the big affair as queen of the ball. Provision has been made for more than 1000 couples and demand for the boxes has been brisk, it was said today. More than 5000 invitations have been sent out by the committee to leaders in every community from Santa Barbara to San Diego.

HUGE BAND TO PLAY

A feature of the big affair will be the mammoth massed navy band, composed of musicians from every ship's band in the Pacific Battle Fleet. Their appearance will be the first at any social function ashore. An elaborate lighting scheme, with startling new effects, is being worked out by Speed Hostetter of Los Angeles who is credited with the splendid lighting scheme carried out in the formal opening of the Hotel Biltmore in Los Angeles several weeks ago. Electrical equipment from Los Angeles studios and Long Beach theaters will be used and a staff of ten electricians will man the apparatus, it is said.

The entire scenic equipment of the Fairbanks-Pickford studio has been placed at the disposal of the local committee in carrying out the decorative effects at the auditorium, and two massive mechanical elephants, used by Douglas Fairbanks in the filming of his newest picture, "The Thief of Bagdad," have been loaned to the committee for the occasion, it was announced today.

BALL TO BE FORMAL

The ball will be formal and it has been decreed that full dress or Tuxedos will be the rule for the men. A special parking plan to care for the hundreds of automobiles from out of town has been worked out by the police department.

The affair, to be conducted under the auspices of the Federation of State Societies and the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will be the result of several weeks of planning by many of this city's leaders in civic affairs. E. J. Delporte is director-general of arrangements. Gen. Henry H. Whitney is chairman of the committee on decorations, George Ford, chairman on lighting; Clarence Mayfarth, chairman of the music and floor committee, and Charles A. Ford is head of the refreshments committee. Frank F. Merriam, Speaker of the Assembly, is general chairman.

MUSICAL

ALEXANDER GIVES ART SONG PROGRAM SOLUS

By Edwin Schallert

A song recitalist who dares to be different, and at the same time entirely engaging in the style of presentation, is Arthur Alexander, who was heard last night at Gamut Club Theater. A small but very enthusiastic audience listened to his concert, which could be likened rather to a fireside musicale than to a strict and conventional public program.

Even though it is some years since he was last heard here, Mr. Alexander is still remembered by those who heard him at that time as the singer who plays his own accompaniments. There are only a few in the larger recital world who do this, and still fewer, perhaps, accomplish it any more successfully than Alexander, for he is an exceptionally well-rounded musician. Not only does he sing and play, and incidentally teach, but for several years he was the director of the Rochester Symphony Orchestra, all of which might be reckoned a very broad experience.

The type of program which he chooses to present is decidedly artistic in character. I remember that on one occasion in the past he introduced any number of Wolf and Strauss songs for the first time, which is always an exacting undertaking.

The principal feature of his program last evening was the "Dictherliebe" (the poet's songs) of Schumann, which he sung in sequence to the number of sixteen. They, of course, make a splendid set, for they are full of rare romantic contrasts, and at times vivid musical tone-painting, which had an especial charm in the Alexander accompaniments.

I do not know that it is well to stay so faithfully by one composer for a popular affair, but for a select audience of the musical the effect could not be otherwise than delightful, as the intrepretations that Mr. Alexander gives are so fraught with meaning.

I enjoyed most personally some of the more flashing and picturesque songs, like "Ich rolle Nicht," for the singer has a remarkable vigor in his tempos. At the same time, the feeling and understanding that he gave to the more sentimental were impressing particularly say in "Ich habe im Traum geweinet," a highlight you might say, of the series.

Alexander is a man of rare artistic sensibility and discrimination. He does best, I believe, in foreign numbers, but then his selection of the American was not strikingly good. When he actually presented a big sturdy composition, like Carl Busch's "The Eagle," the effect was splendid.

The color of his renditions is entirely personal, and while I do not know that his playing of the piano as well as singing would be in all instances satisfactory, where the audience is not too large—that is where there is a certain intimacy—it must be admitted, especially with modern songs, that the unity is very fascinating. The only fault was perhaps that at times Mr. Alexander overdid the piano part. For his voice appeared just a trifle clouded, possibly by a cold, but the tenor quality that shone through was often exceedingly fine.

I must mention that several numbers in the French group appealed very much. I think that the "Chevaux de Bois" was one of the most attractive during the entire program, because of its kaleidoscopic tints and hues. "Le Manoir de Rosamonde" was also well done, as were one or two of the opening classic group.

CHARLIE DECIDES ON STARTING DATE

No time for dallying seems to be the slogan adopted by Charlie Chaplin, and the rapidity with which he is following up one picture with another is a striking contrast to his more lackadaisical schedule of two years ago, when his contracts and other affairs appeared to disturb him greatly.

Only yesterday he announced definitely the time for beginning his new film as November 12. He has returned within the past two weeks from New York, and has already set to work.

The picture will be a comedy and in it as previously announced he himself will appear. He will retain the "baggy britches, the kinky cane and the diligent derby," according to word from the studios.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the studios, has been assembling the staff, which will include among others Eddie Sutherland, who assisted Mr. Chaplin in making "A Woman of Paris," "Chuck" Reisner, who has played comedy roles in "The Kid" and "The Pilgrim," and Edward Biby, a former associate.

The comedy will be in feature length, and the outstanding interest at present centers about the choice of the featured leading woman.

And believe me, since the prominence that Edna Purviance has assumed for her portrayal in "A Woman of Paris," there are lots of girls who are holding fond hopes of being the one selected.

Two Interesting Bookings

Two more big features will soon flare on the screen. One of these is "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," booked to follow "A Woman of Paris" at the Criterion, and the other is Mary Pickford's elaborate costume film, "Rosita," directed by Ernst Lubitsch. This is announced for Grauman's Million Dollar after "Why Worry" has finished its engagement.

"My Man" Changed

"Shadows of Paris" has been decided on as the releasing title for "My Man," the Herbert Brenon production starring Pola Negri.

Masefield in Pasadena

Pasadena will offer an interesting premiere Monday evening, in "Melloney Holtspur," by John Masefield. It is announced as the first production in America, and will be given by the Pasadena Community Players. The play is said to recall in atmosphere Barrie's "Mary Rose" and "The Return of Peter Grimm," but to be entirely different in theme.

PLAYS DOLORES

EDITH ROBERTS IN "THY NAME IS WOMAN"

By Grace Kingsley

The fact that she has just returned to Los Angeles a bride is no reason, Edith Roberts feels, why she should give up her career. So she yesterday signed a new picture contract. During the past year she has been in New York filling an engagement with Distinctive Pictures, among other things, and about a week ago became Mrs. Kenneth Snokes.

It is Fred Niblo who has captured Miss Roberts for "Thy Name is Woman," the role being Dolores, a beautiful Spanish girl. The part calls for emotional work.

When considering applicants for the role of Dolores, Mr. Niblo always envisioned Miss Roberts. Negotiations to secure her for the part have been under way for some time. Therefore as soon as she finished work with Allan Dwan in a picture made in New York, the young actress at once hastened home.

Miss Roberts becomes a member of the notable cast, which includes Barbara LaMarr, Ramon Novarro, William V. Mong, Wallace MacDonald, Claire McDowell and Robert Edeson.

Bright and early tomorrow morning Miss Roberts will don the grease paint and commence work.

Following her wedding she and the bridegroom took only a short honeymoon trip. Later they expect to go to Europe.

Ivor Novello Weds

Speaking of weddings, the handsome Ivor Novello, cofeatured with Mae Marsh in "The White Rose," has just become a benedict, according to word from London friends, received by George K. Arthur, Universal star.

It seems that Novello, popularly supposed to be engaged to that popular English actress, Gladys Cooper, surprised all his friends by marrying his secretary, whose name, however, is not contained in the message. The wedding took place about a fortnight ago.

And all the English actors in Hollywood are discussing the wedding over their tea. I should say so! My word!

Conrad Nagel to Flit

Conrad Nagle has been lent by Goldwyn to Distinctive Pictures, to appear as a member of an all-star cast in a picture which will be made in New York and directed by Albert Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Nagle will leave for New York in time to have their Thanksgiving dinner in the metropolis.

Hope Hampton Marries

Confirming the reported engagement of Hope Hampton, film star, and J. E. Brulatour, film magnate, printed in this column last August, word now reaches us to the effect that Miss Hampton and Mr. Brulatour were married in Baltimore August 22 last.

The pair have been on a long honeymoon trip to Europe. They expect to come west about Christmas time, when Miss Hampton will star in a film version of "Irene."

Lillian Gish Sails

Following her sister Dorothy Gish and her mother, Lillian Gish sailed Wednesday from New York on the liner Conterosso for Italy, where she is to begin work at once on a film version of George Eliot's "Romola." She will join sister Dorothy in Rome, and will be absent from this country several months. She expects also to make "Jeanne d'Arc" while abroad, from the historical novel by Mark Twain.

Accompanying the actress abroad was Mrs. Mary Kratsch of Ohio, a lifelong friend, and who, Miss Gish declares, was the first person to recognize her ability.

Harry Carey Starts Work

After an absence of several months from the screen, Harry Carey will return to work Monday, appearing in the first of his Hunt Stromberg productions to be made at Universal City.

The story for this initial picture in a series of six is "High Dawn," from the magazine narrative by Carlyle Graham Raht, and dapted to the screen by Joseph Franklin Poland.

Stuart Paton, whose eyes were injured at a boxing bout in Hollywood, when money was being thrown into the ring by somebody in the crowd, has recovered his sight after four months. He will direct the picture.

The leading feminine role has not been cast as yet, as the first week's work will be devoted entirely to Carey. However, important supporting roles will be filled by Joseph Gerard, Fred Malatesta and Nick De Ruiz.

Beauty Chase Note

If you have a beautiful back which you consider an asset in your business, as have and do most of the picture stars, then don't drive a car! It spoils the lines of the human back to tug away at a wheel.

The Antiauto Driving Club of Movie Stars, sponsored and headed by Carmel Myers, who just completed a role in "Slave of Desire," has just started up.

"We are organizing every prominent screen actress to put a ban on driving automobiles, and many names are already on the dotted line," said Miss Myers. "Close-ups of motion-picture actresses tell the tale of too much auto driving, and we are developing muscles in our shoulders and backs befitting a prize fighter, but not conducive to feminine charm.

"The movie camera is telling the tale of too much driving. If we do not stop, the modern American woman as depicted on the screen by Hollywood film players will in time look like the rear view of Jack Dempsey. We expect to have every actress of note in this movement shortly."

Among the actresses already enlisted are Blanche Sweet, Helene Chadwick, Bessie Love, Marjorie Daw, Evelyn, Brent, Claire Windsor, Colleen Moore, Mae Busch and other leading cinema lights.

Mabel Normand Comes Home

Mabel Normand, who has been spending a few weeks' vacation at Catalina swimming and boating, has returned home, and will shortly start work on "Mary Ann" at the Sennett studio, under direction of Z. Richard Jones.

DOUG, JR., MAKES HIS BOW HERE TOMORROW

A new star appears on the screen tomorrow!

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., opens at Grauman's Metropolitan Theater in his first photoplay, "Stephen Steps Out." The picture is adapted from Richard Harding Davis's "The Grand Cross of the Crescent." Young Fairbanks is ably supported by an imposing cast of character talent including Theodore Roberts, Noah Beery, Harry Myers, Frank Currier and others. The picture is the story of an American boy who has some thrilling adventures in Turkey.

NEW HATTON COMEDY HITS POPUAR FANCY

Kind words from local critics have helped in swelling the business at the Egan Theater, where the new Hatton comedy, "The Waning Sex," got away to a whirlwind start Monday night.

"The Waning Sex," as its name would indicate, treats in an original manner of the modern woman who earns more money than her husband and is wont to cling to her maiden name after marriage.

The cast is headed by Edmund Lowe and Bertha Mann, both having a large local following. The balance includes Bessie Eyton, Frederick Truesdell, Lilyan Tashman, Hazel Lowry, Max Montesole, Hugh Huntley, Brady Kline and Elwyn Eaton.

Phone my office for appointment. Let me give you the address of an eight-unit bungalow court now under construction in Culver City for Mr. Fred B. Allen, estimated income $460 per month. I financed this court 100% and the lot cost Mr. Allen but $3750. Mr. Allen will pay me $371 per month for 48 months, which reduces the principal to the first mortgage, after which all monthly payments cease.

Call my office for an appointment any time, day or evening.

"ASK THE ENVELOPE"

AND KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT

HOWARD USED CARS.

Good merchandising really begins with correct buying. Don't lose this thought. No dealer can offer you better USED CARS than the kind he chooses to put on his sales floor. If he is unable to buy good ones, he is therefore unable to sell good ones. That's the whole idea in a nutshell. Suppose we were to buy or trade-in poor cars and then try to sell 'em under our "Ask the Envelope" Plan—by telling the truth about them. How far would we go? Poor cars are not desired and this Plan would ruin us. Therefore we buy in the kind of cars that will not suffer by telling the truth about them.

THIS MESSAGE
Is not for the man who is suspicious of the REAL ESTATE BROKERS. It is not for the man who believes that a broker is in business to rush him into any old sale in order to get a commission. It is for the keen-minded business man who realizes that a broker in order to be successful is one who must analyze the development of his city and offer to his client only that which will assuredly make him profits. To the latter man I offer the following: A business corner 108x150 with an income of $1380 annually, which is 7% on the total price of $20,000 which I am asking for this property. Some terms can be arranged and if you want to see a piece of property go to $500 a foot, bring along the check book. Only an earthquake can make me a liar in this.

TO THE HOMESEEKER.

WOULD YOU LIKE YOUR HOME WHERE YOU HAVE A MOST WONDERFUL VIEW OF THE MOUNTAINS; WHERE COLD FOGS ARE HARDLY KNOWN, WHERE YOU ARE FREE FROM FLOOD WATERS DURING THE WINTER.
WHERE THERE IS NO ADOBE SOIL, WHERE THE WATER IS PURE AND SOFT, WHERE THE SMALLEST LOT IS 80x108, LARGE ENOUGH SO YOU ARE NOT CROWDED BY YOUR NEIGHBOR—
WHERE YOU ARE PROTECTED BY BUILDING AND RACE RESTRICTIONS, —MODEST HOMES ARE PERMITTED—
WHERE THE STREET IMPROVEMENTS ARE ALL NEW AND INCLUDED IN THE PRICE OF THE LOT—
AND IN A DISTRICT WHERE 73 NEW HOMES HAVE RECENTLY BEEN BUILT, EACH LOT OWNER SO WELL SATISFIED THAT YOU SEE NO "FOR SALE" SIGNS IN FRONT OF HIS PLACE.
AND IN A DISTRICT WHERE YOUR CHILDREN WILL BE HEALTHY AND IN A PROPER ENVIRONMENT.
WHERE YOU BUY THE LARGE SITES ON TERMS OF $125 CASH, BALANCE PAYABLE $12 PER MONTH.

If the above description interests you why not see Sunny Slope Acres and East Alhambra, the place we have described.
There is a reason why we have sold over a million dollars of this property and why the purchasers will reap a handsome profit within the next few months when the Pacific Electric R. R. Company's new car line is finished—at a cost to them of $300,000—now being built through the center of our property.
We refer you to the Commercial National Bank of Los Angeles as to the reliability of the people issuing contracts. Further information will be given at 517 DOUGLAS BLDG., or at Tract Office which is reached by going through Alhambra due east on Main st. to San Gabriel Blvd.

STODDER & CLEMENTS.

EVERYTHING is sold east of us, south of us, north of us and west of us.
We have a new tract of 148 lots just staked off and close in on Venice Boulevard, Los Angeles' new shortest route to the sea. On account of Washington Boulevard being torn up, we may be a little hard to find, but it will be worth your while to come out Adams to Thurman Ave., then north one block to our office.
A small payment down will reserve a lot or two for you until the sale starts. Only 14 business lots, precious stuff, so get yours today. Mary Pickford won't be there, but your chance to make money will be waiting for you.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS NEW PLAN

Law Prevents Acceptance of Realtor's Offer

Proposed Land Exchange to Appease Educators

Insist Olive Street Shall Not Pierce School

With the Board of Education solidly opposing the present plan of extension of Olive street through the school property on Seventeenth street unless it is conclusively shown that no other line of continuation is as logical, proponents of the project yesterday suggested a new offer in an endeavor to secure the educators' co-operation. There was but one objection to the offer. It would have been illegal for the board to have accepted.

G. O. Davis, realtor, representing numerous of the property owners, whose land would be increased in value should the present line of extension be followed, suggested to the board that it exchange the school property involved together with the school property at Eighth street and Grand avenue for another tract of land. Mr. Davis pointed to the greater size of the property he was offering the board in exchange.

SAY PLAN ILLEGAL

The board, however, informed him that according to the law, the body was unable to enter into any such proposition. The law stipulates that the board has not the right to dispose of any property without first advertising for bids for a period of at least three weeks.

The board also told Mr. Davis that it has plans for another line of continuation of Olive street before the City Planning Commission. This plan was so drawn as to miss the Seventeenth-street school property on which there is already a $400,000 school building under construction. As individuals, members of the board expressed the opinion that their proposition would prove acceptable to proponents of the extension project.

DEPENDS ON PUBLIC

Superintendent Dorsey expressed the belief that should the citizens of Los Angeles be made aware of the true facts anent the endeavor to force the board to abandon the new Seventeenth-street school, public sentiment would come to the rescue of the educators and forestall the movement. She pointed to the imperative need of the new institution as a part-time school to serve the entire metropolis, while the plans of the extension of the thoroughfare might easily be chaned so as not to interfere with the school property.

Even should the board succeed in selling the Seventeenth-street property and the Grand-avenue school land for enough to buy the park offered by the proponents of the project, the park property would by no means prove as suitable for school purposes, Mr. Burns of the board cited.

And thus the matter has reached a deadlock until the opinion of the City Planning Commission is learned on the plan submitted by the Board of Education. The board also made clear its desire to co-operate in every way with the proponents of the extension of Olive street, provided fairness prevailed and an honest endeavor be made to follow a line of continuation which would miss the school property if possible.

PYRE FOR RADICAL PLANS

Evidence That Sent Scores to Penitentiaries for Communist Activity Destroyed

A mass of evidence valued at many thousands of dollars was destroyed at Central Police Station yesterday afternoon. And while destroying it Detective Lieutenant Luke Lane, chief of the radical squad, released a joyous chuckle for the evidence represented one of the most successful campaigns against radicalism in California. The doomed junk had sent several scores of persons to various penitentiaries.

Here were the printed plans of H. W. Haysen, who was plotting the construction of a seventy-seven-story building on a rubber foundation in the Mojave desert. He was given probation on the promise to discard his red necktie and shave his red whiskers.

FREE LOVER GONE

Here was all the evidence revealing Mme. Edith Maida Lessing's plot to abolish marriage and establish free love throughout the land; also all the letters she had written to prominent citizens, denouncing them and telling what she thought of them. She is serving sixteen years in Leavenworth prison.

Here was a pile of all the radical papers, magazines, Wobbly literature, Wobbly membership cards, anarchistic proclamations that the Wobblies flaunted in San Pedro—the red flags that were flown from Liberty Hill, placards, stickers and whatnot. Twenty-seven of them are serving terms for criminal syndicalism in Folsom and San Quentin penitentiaries. Seven of them were ex-convicts.

PYRE FLARES UP

Wobbly buttons, Wobbly preambles and song books, Communist publications, revolutionary posters, cartoons, forbidden newspapers in all languages—all had played a part in sending some one to prison for fostering plots against the United States government. All were placed upon the funeral pyre of a waning Wobbly dream and committed to ashes.

CONVICTED FOR EIGHT ROBBERIES

Collins to be Sentenced Monday; May Get Forty Years to Life

James J. Collins, street car supervisor by day and bandit by night, was found guilty of eight counts of robbery by a jury in Judge Reeve's department of the Superior Court yesterday afternoon after a few minutes' deliberation. Sentence will be imposed Monday. The offenses call for a possible term of from forty years to life.

The trial was completed in record-breaking time. It opened yesterday morning and the jury returned its verdict at 6 p.m. The jury took the case shortly after 5:30 p.m.

Early in the trial the prosecution offered to rest its case if the defendant agreed to plead guilty to two of the eight counts against him. Collins indignantly refused, thereby possibly adding at least thirty years to his sentence.

A little later, however, Collins arose and offered to plead guilty to one count of robbery. This time the prosecution refused, holding out for a plea of guilty to at least two counts. Unable to come to an agreement, the prosecution and defense argued the case on its merits.

Collins committed the hold-ups while employed as a supervisor for the Los Angeles Railway. At night he changed from a supervisor to a "lone wolf" bandit, robbing the conductors over whom he had supervision during working hours. He held up eight conductors obtaining considerable sums from each.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kline prosecuted the case and Attorney S. S. Hahn acted for the defense.

DeCoo Testifies as to His Firm's Issue of Stock

Police Commissioner C. A. DeCoo, who is also president of the Gazelle Lumber Company, appeared before Corporation Commissioner Daugherty yesterday with F. C. Gamble, fiscal agent of the company, to give testimony concerning an application for a permit to issue and sell stock.

Upon examination of the books of the company, it appeared to Auditor Moore of the Corporation Department that the company had exceeded its authority under an earlier permit by selling more stock than the permit authorized. Mr. Moore's finding was that 384 shares had been sold when the permit authorized only 300. Further complications were caused by putting inescorw 500 shares issued under a permit which was later canceled and then promising these shares as a bonus to purchasers of the new stock.

Mr. DeCoo and Mr. Gamble displayed almost complete unfamiliarity with limitations set by stock selling permits. Mr. Gamble was certain that Mr. Moore must have made a mistake in his examination of the company's books. Mr. DeCoo said that 315 shares of the stock might actually have been sold, the excess of fifteen shares having been due to an oversight. Mr. Daugherty took the new application under consideration.

WALTZ TILT IS DRAGGY AT FINISH

"Times" News, Financial and Sport Experts Tell of Dance Championship

A news reporter, a sport writer, a financial writer and a sob sister were sent down to cover the state waltzing championship last night. The following is a composite of the stories they sent in.

While a crowd of dance lovers packed the hall and cheered their respective favorites, Frances Lee and Irving Werblum of Los Angeles, and Ethel Rutherford and Thomas Ward of San Francisco, entrants for the California State dancing championship, went to a draw in a hot-footed contest at Solomon's Penny dance de luxe last night. They will meet again next Thursday night at Solomon's.

The appearance of the San Francisco team on the waxed gridiron was greeted with wild cheers from the Bay City bleachers. This was immediately followed by roars of applause when the Los Angeles team skipped out on the hardwood field.

San Francisco won the toss and chose to defend the four feet they stood on. Los Angeles kicked off with all toes, San Francisco returning the arm to the waistline. In the scrimmage that followed both teams were warned for not holding.

Los Angeles lead by a toe at the quarter, with the visiting jockey apparently holding for a spectacular spurt down the home stretch. Tango was flagged off the track at the four hundredth lap, having sat down on a lap when forced to change shoes.

One beautiful young woman contestant gazed steadfastly with her large dark eyes into the distant void and then turning said simply, "Honey, from the way the judges are looking at us, I'm afraid you are holding me too close." A large tear welled up in her eye, perched on the lid for a moment, seemed to change its mind, and returned whence it came.

Hair wax was a drug on the market, with plenty asked for Flapper Pf'd, but nothing bid Sheiks showed weakness, the saxaphones closing strong.

NATIVE SON REPROVED FOR CRIME

Judge Avery Puzzled by Bread Stealing Conduct of Californian

How anyone born beneath the sunny skies of California can become a criminal is apuzzle to Judge Avery of the Superior Court.

He admitted that yesterday in dismissing a charge of burglary against Jack S. Marsh. Mash, who is still in his twenties, was accused of entering a house on Twentieth street and stealing a loaf of bread. The District Attorney told the court the evidence was not sufficient to convict the prisoner.

At the time jurors hearing another case were seated in the jury box.

"You haven't a bad face," Judge Avery said in addressing Marsh. "Please face the jury."

The court then asked the jurors to study the youth's features. "Do you think I err in dismissing the charge," he queried. The jurors nodded in the negative.

In dismissing the case the court addressed the following remarks to Marsh:

"You were born in California. If you had come here from the East I might more easily understand how you turned to crime. But for the life of me I can't account for a native son becoming a criminal. He should uphold the honor of the State."

MANAGERS GATHER TUESDAY EVENING

The regular Monday night meeting of the Greater Southern California Managers' Association has been set for Tuesday evening, due to Monday next being a holiday. This is the announcement given out by Jimmy Cleary, secretary of the association. All games scheduled for Saturday in the Greater Industrial League have been postponed and will be played at the end of the season.

FRENCH ARTIST'S RECITAL

If one can have a beautiful appreciation of an exquisite art, without being able really to understand it in its deeper significance, then one has summed up the impression created by Georgette Le Blanc (Maeterlinck) in her lecture-recital of French verse at the Biltmore yesterday morning. For in the music of her voice, the fragrance of the nuances of her words, one was conscious of a great art and great personality.

The large room at the hotel was crowded by a fashionable audience. They enjoyed Mme. Le Blanc's art; there could be no doubt of it, from the applause, the waves of mirth that swept them occasionally, and their expressed realization that they were in the presence of a great woman.

Mme. Le Blanc did not at this appearance sing; however, at her Monday night Philharmonic recital she will also appear as the "lyric tragedienne," which Sarah Bernhardt first called her. She first read Chinese poems, and in her second group scenes from "Monna Vanna." Following this she read some of the songs of Maeterlinck, her own poems and miscellaneous French poems. In all of these she enriched the spoken word with rare artistic gesture, exquisite graduations which conveyed the inner meanings more really than the words themselves, giving that finesse and culture which is the product of that something essentially French.

In presenting the various numbers, Mme. Le Blanc preceded them with an explanation in English. Her accent flavors her use of the vernacular, and occasionally she resorts to French words and phrases.

CRAIG ON STAND IN VALLEY WATER CASE

TESTIFIES SERVICE BOARD MISUSES FLOW FROM THE AQUEDUCT

Volney Craig occupied the witness stand nearly all day yesterday in the hearing of his two suits against the Board of Public Service Commissioners to enjoin it from emptying into the Pacific Ocean water from the Los Angeles aqueduct during the months of February, March and April, and to force them to spread the surplus water from the Acqueduct in San Fernando Valley.

Mr. Craig charged the Board was wasting water on electric power while the farmers of San Fernando Valley were faced with disaster due to scarcity of water for irrigation purposes.

He testifies that an acre-foot water run through the San Francisquito plants produced electricity worth $7.50, while the same amount of water used for agricultural purposes in the valley would result in crops valued at $50.

The witness said that farmers in the valley had been forced to quit growing alfalfa and "cover crops" due to the high price of water. In this he was borne out by other witnesses. Testimony centered about the shortage of water during the past summer.

The case is on trial before Judge Paul Burks, who was forced to use the courtroom of Judge Crail because of the many witnesses. John Alvord appeared for Mr. Craig. Attorneys Leovy and Mathews represented the Board.

RUSSIA OPENS SWEDISH EYES

Soviet Flipflops Warning to Neighbor Radicals

Noted Visitor Says His Folk Not Excitable

Scandinavian Communists in Chastened Mood

The example furnished by the governmental gyrations of the Bolshevists in Russia is having a salutary effect on the radicals in Sweden, according to Carl Wahren, director of a large paper-manufacturing plant at Norrkoping, now in Los Angeles on a tour of this country in the interests of his corporation.

"Afskrekkende" was the term Mr. Wahren used in describing the influence of Russia upon the citizens of its Swedish neighbor, which may be translated as affrighting.

RADICALS SOBERED

"Russian conditions under Bolshevism have given our radicals pause," he said. "At first, some of the more aggressive spirits contemplated a migration of Swedish Socialists, syndicalists and anarchists to Russia in the fond belief that country under Bolshevism would prove a heaven for everybody discontented with other forms of government. A few of our workmen went over to see what it was like. But they all came back and what they have had to say since their return has put a quietus to the migration plans. The Scandinavians are a cautious lot and will not embark on any enterprise of whose outcome they are not reasonably certain."

The establishment represented by Mr. Wahren is one of the largest of its kind in Europe. It is devoted mainly to the production of print paper, of which commodity it ships large quantities to all parts of the world. It maintains an office in New York and supplies many American printing plants with their print paper.

LAND REPLANTED

"The timber areas from which we obtain our raw material are practically inexhaustible," said Mr. Wahren. "To prevent depletion of this resource our government enacted a law about thirty years ago which requires immedite reforestation of all areas from which timber is removed for pulp purposes. In this way our timber supply has been kept practically intact, though it has been drawn upon for centuries. At the present time there are probably no timber areas in Sweden that has not been cut over at least once, and in most cases more than that."

SOUTHAMPTON (Eng.) Nov. 9. avid Lloyd George was given a reception when he appeared his afternoon on the deck of the er Majestic which brought him me from his American visit.

Cheering crowds awaited his arval and the combined journalis forces of Southampton and ndon and the American corresondences in England stormed the er itself to get the former Prime inister's impressions of America. Lloyd George looked over the posing array of journalists and marked:

"It's like the other side."

ISSUES CHALLENGE

The reporters asked the ex-Preer his opinion on Prime Minis Baldwin's pronouncement at mouth regarding protection.

"Judging from the brief reports have seen, I think it is a most credible pronouncement, a piece incredible folly, an insult to the elligence of the nation to feed starving industries with the idewed straw of the last cenry with every grain of statesanship beaten out of it," replied Lloyd George.

The ex-Premier said he accepted Baldwin's challenge on free de or protection as a domestic

"Your platform will be a freede platform as before?" he was ked. "Certainly," he replied. he whole difficulty is an old diffity. You cannot have protection thout taxing food and I am abtely certain the people of this ntry will not consent to food es."

Mr. Lloyd George described his merican visit as "an amazing exrience."

FOR NONINTERFERENCE

"What about America taking a ger share in European affairs?" was asked.

"I think she has taken a very ble step in the last few eks," he responded. "I am sure merican public opinion is turning re toward co-operation. I saw great Middle West and I feel st distinctly."

Regarding prohibition, Mr. Lloyd orge said:

"I should not like to express y definite opinion, but if there re a plebiscite I believe Ameri would reaffirm the verdict. Men posed to prohibition told me

"I think America means to see e experiment to the finish, and merica should have a free hand thout interference from other tions in this social experiment. t their business and I'm very d America is going to have a ir chance to work out the exriment. If they do not succeed ey will not hesitate to alter it."
